Housing Act Changes Promised Soon by PM

Discloses Session Priorities

OTTAWA (CP) — Amendments to the National Housing Act will be introduced shortly in the Commons, Prime Minister Pearson announced today.

There has been speculation that the legislation will implement a long-standing Liberal promise to extend government mortgages to existing homes.

Mr. Pearson declined to give details of the amendments at a press conference, but said they will have high priority at the fall sittings of the Commons.

A government informant said the housing amendments will authorize the federal government to make loans for student residences and medicals schools, technical schools and other educational institutions that do not qualify now.

The prime minister also confirmed that a major federal-provincial conference on tax-sharing and federal aid to education will open in Ottawa Oct. 24 and last three days or more. Provincial premiers and finance ministers would attend the talks, meeting separately.

Mr. Pearson said a baby budget containing an undetermined tax increase will be brought down by Finance Minister Sharp late this month or early next month.

Mr. Sharp has said the tax increase will at least cover the cost of a $225,000,000 minimum income program for persons over 75 who have no independent income.

DISCUSSES MANY TOPICS

The prime minister covered a wide variety of topics in his 20-minute press conference.

His comments included the following:

1. The revision of the Bank Act, providing for a floating interest rate, and medical insurance will be the first two items to be debated in the House.

2. Other priority items will be the housing amendments, unification of the three armed forces, collective bargaining for the public service and a committee inquiry into the conduct of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court.

3. Government policy regarding the Nova Scotia coal mining industry will be announced this week or next. Liberals promised in the 1965 election to invest $25,000,000 to develop this industry.

4. A royal commission on national security, promised by Mr. Pearson at the height of the Gerda Munsinger furor last March, will be appointed shortly and will investigate this field for at least one year.

5. The report of the advisory committee on election expenses will be submitted to State Secretary Judy LaMarsh Thursday.

The Montepetit royal commission on working conditions in the post office is expected next week.

Mr. Pearson said only 22 or 23 days remain before the Christmas recess for the discussion of government bills in the Commons. The rest of the time would be devoted to the 1966 - 1967 spending estimates and supply debates that allow the opposition to move non-confidence motions.

Liberal MPs held a three-hour caucus Tuesday to thrash out a split over Finance Minister Sharp's announced intention to delay medicare a year to July 1, 1968

Informants indicated the meeting behind closed doors settled nothing, leaving a strong group of Liberals discontented with the delaying plan.

PARENTS of Steven Truscott, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Truscott, arrive for today's Supreme Court review in Ottawa of 1959 trial which sent their son, then 14, to life in prison for rape-murder of 12-year-old girl in Clinton, Ont. (CP Wirephoto).

DEMONSTRATION BY ANALYST

Blouse 'Strangling' Opens Truscott Case

OTTAWA (UPI)— A demonstration of how 12-year-old Lynne Harper could have been strangled with her own blouse and photographs of a shoemark near her body highlighted the first session today of a hearing into the seven-year-old Truscott case.

The nine Supreme Court of Canada judges watched as Elgin Brown, an analyst with the Ontario crime laboratory in Toronto, ripped a checkered pink and white sleeveless blouse worn by a pretty assistant and wrapped it around her neck.

The dramatic demonstration answered one question raised in the book "The Trial of Steven Truscott" — which sparked the Supreme Court hearing of the trial that found Truscott guilty of rape and murder in 1959.

Authoress Mrs. Isabel LeBourdais wrote that it was impossible for Lynne to have been strangled wih her own blouse. She bought and experimented with several blouses to see if the murder near Clinton, Ont., could have been accomplished that way.

Mrs. LeBourdais also wondered why a piece of the girl's blouse was missing and suggested that the sex killer had taken a piece of the girl's clothing as a memento.

Brown's demonstration appeared to show that the missing piece of blouse probably was lost after it had been cut away from her neck by examining authorities.

The photographs, presented by Det. Sgt. Dennis Alsop, showed that the impression of a shoe near the body was similar to a test impression made with the shoes Truscott was wearing on the day when Lynne was last seen.

Earlier, Dr. Noble Sharpe, medical director of the Ontario crime lab, said he estimated that Lynne Harper had died about an hour after eating a meal.

But he later admitted, under cross-examination by Truscott's lawyers, that no one could judge with any accuracy the time of death by the stage of digestion.

Mrs. LeBourdais, covering the Supreme Court review for the CTV television network shook her head a couple of times as the expert witnesses gave testimony.

Truscott's parents, the only people who had reserved seats in the chamber, watched the proceedings impassively.

Defence lawyer G. Arthur Martin told the court he did not want Truscott in the court when the witnesses are heard. Truscott would be in the court only when he gave evidence.

James Byrne, Liberal member of Parliament for Kootenay East, was present in the public seats. He told the Commons earlier that he would be willing to stake his Commons seat on Truscott's innocence.

CTV NEWSMAN QUITS OVER TRIAL COVERAGE

REILLY

TORONTO (CP) — Peter Reilly, executive producer of news and public affairs for the CTV television network for 13 weeks, resigned Tuesday. He said the resignation resulted from a clash with John Bassett who is a director of CTV, president of CFTO-TV and publisher of Toronto Telegram, and is "irrevocable."

CTV arranged for exclusive rights to reporting by author Isobel LeBourdais from the Supreme Court of Canada rehearing of the Steven Truscott murder case.

A dispute arose, Mr. Reilly said, when he refused Mr. Bassett's request that her reporting be shared with The Telegram.

Pedestrian Killed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pedestrian, believed in his 60s, was killed when hit by a car early today to become the city's 28th traffic fatality this year. Police withheld the man's name.

UNIONS STILL UNHAPPY

Wilson Wins Party Support On Pay Freeze

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—The Labor government today won backing for its wages-and-prices freeze at the annual Labor party conference here, despite slashing Labor union attacks on legal measures to make the freeze compulsory.

The freeze policy was endorsed by 3,836,000 votes to 1,515,000—a majority of 1,321,000.

But the party leadership was defeated by 152,000 votes on an emergency resolution, backed by Frank Cousins, leader of Britain's biggest union, expressing grave concern at the sharp growth of unemployment in Britain and urging work-sharing as an alternative to dismissal.

The vote on this resolution was 3,289,000 in favor and 3,137,000 against.

Immediately this result was announced, scores of delegates crowded around Cousins to congratulate him on his victory—won against the plan recommended by Labor Minister Ray Gunter.

MOTION LOST

Another resolution, backed by Clive Jenkins, left-wing trade union leader, and urging outright opposition to the wages and prices policy, was defeated by 4,283,000 votes to 2,085,000.

Earlier, cousins told the party conference that unionists would continue to oppose the government's pay freeze despite a cabinet decision to enforce it by law.

Cousins, former technology minister who quit the government earlier this year over plans for the pay standstill, said:

"We shall now be in conflict with the law, because if the law is unfair, trades unionists since time immemorial have opposed the law."

Although the government claimed that the wage freeze will be only temporary, there are indications it will be the first step toward destruction of the unions' traditional right to collective bargaining, Cousins declared

Chief of the 1,500,000-member Transport and General Workers Union, Cousins led the attack on Prime Minister Wilson's economic policy at the annual Labor conference in its third day at this seaside city.

NOT ENFORCEABLE?

Cousins said that in any case the pay-prices legislation may be unenforceable. Wilson and his cabinet decided at a meeting here Tuesday night to make mandatory the freeze which hitherto has been operated only on a voluntary basis.

James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, told the con-

U.S. Curbs Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has halted bombing in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between north and south Viet Nam, the White House said today.

The reason for the suspension is to allow the International Control Commission to investigate alleged violations of 1954 Geneva agreement, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said.

The United States halted the bombing six or seven days ago, it was reported.

The Communists have refused to permit the ICC patrols to enter portions of the demilitarized zone on grounds that U.S. air activity was going on there. The U.S. suspension was designed to remove this excuse.

Moyers revealed the suspension of bombing in response to a question.

He read from a statement: "No bombing is taking place in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone in an effort to permit the ICC to investigate alleged violations of the 1954 Geneva Treaty as it relates to the demilitarized zone."

Moyers refused to go beyond the brief statement.

He declined to describe the bombing halt as a move toward de-escalation of the war or to speculate further on whether it might be followed by further moves to demonstrate a U.S. desire to scale down the war tempo.

Viet Guns Able To Fire N-Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has two ground weapons with nuclear capability in South Viet Nam, but no atomic warheads have been sent to that country, military officials said Tuesday.

They ruled out the likelihood of any tactical nuclear weapons being used in the current military situation.They said the grave political implications would far outweigh military gains.

In the jungle war of Southeast Asia, they added, it is difficult to envisage targets suitable for nuclear hits.

BOARD SAYS:

No Blanket Ban On Overtime

The Board of Industrial Relations said today there is not "a blanket ban" on overtime in B.C.

The board, which is responsible among other things for administration of the Hours of Work Act and overtime permits, met in Vancouver Tuesday.

"The board has decided, in view of the premier's statements, to give every application (for overtime) a more thorough checking than was evident in the past," said G. A. Little, board vice-chairman.

"The board is not saying it is not possible to get permits."

Mr. Little said a case of genuine emergency would have to be met, although not if it could be overcome by additional staff.

NO MOVE MADE

The board has not made any move regarding existing overtime permits, which allow employers to work employees more than eight hours in one day and 44 hours in one week.

This was a matter of policy and would await the return shortly by William Sands, board chairman and deputy labor minister, who is out of the province.

One week ago, Premier Bennett called for the elimination of overtime in B.C.

He said then: "I have asked the minister of labor to stop issuing overtime permits and to check closely permits already issued."

However, it is the Board of Industrial Relations and not the labor minister which is responsible for overtime permits.

JACK RUBY
. . . two to five?

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR RUBY

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)— The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed the conviction of Jack Ruby on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, and ordered a new trial.

The court said Ruby should have been granted a change of venue in his March, 1964 trial for killing the assassin of President Kennedy. And it said that the Dallas night club owner's oral admission to police that the killing was premeditated should not have been used as evidence.

Defence attorneys indicated they would try to get Ruby off on a conviction of murder without malice, which carries a penalty of two to five years. Ruby has already spent nearly three years behind bars.

Record Crop

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today raised its 1966 wheat crop estimate to an unprecedented 840,449,000 bushels and said most of it already is in the bin.

The revised estimate by the federal agency is more than 40,000,000 bushels higher than its first forecast issued Sept. 2.

RESUMING his political campaign is Republican candidate Charles H. Percy. He held a press conference today, the first public meeting since he found his daughter Valerie, 21 murdered Sept. 18. He thanked his Democratic opponent for the senate seat for postponing the campaign during the time of mourning.

UNIDENTIFIED CRAFT HEADS TO SEA

Prowling Sub Fired on by Sweden

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Swedish marine helicopters today attacked a submerged unidentified foreign submarine which had violated Sweden's territorial waters, the Swedish marine command here reported.

The helicopters fired on and dropped a depth charge but the submarine refused to surface and headed out to sea, the command said.

The helicopters first fired explosive charges into the water to get the submarine to come to the surface. When that failed, they dropped a depth charge. But the submarine remained underwater although it changed course and headed out to the open sea, the command said.

The command said the helicopters did not fire directly at the submarine for fear it might be sunk. A depth charge was dropped about 500 yards away as a warning.

The submarine did not surface nor did it identify itself. It changed course and headed toward the open sea. A few hours later, the command received a new alarm of an unidentified submarine operating in the area around the Poelsans lighthouse near Vinga Island.

The submarine refused to identify itself and proceeded to leave Swedish territorial waters. It was not known if this was the same submarine or a second one.

It was the second such incident this week. On Sunday a foreign submarine was detected and was fired on after it refused to surface or identify itself. The submarine showed up while Swedish marine foreces were holding one of their biggest manoeuvres in years.

Goteborg is on the southwest coast near the conjunction of the Kattegat and Skagerrak which link the Baltic Sea and North Sea. Soviet vessels must pass through the Kattegat and Skagerrak to get to the Atlantic Ocean from Leningrad.

Powers Talk Disarmament While Pushing Arms Sales

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — The big powers talk of arms control and disarmament while pouring arms into the world's developing regions at an alarming rate, says a report issued Tuesday.

Big-power arms sales are estimated at more than $1,000,000,000 a year, says the report by the Institute for Strategic Studies, and the outlook is bright for expansion.

In early post-war years only Britain and the United States were in a position to grant and sell conventional arms to emerging countries. They were joined in the 1950s by the Soviet Union and France and now a dozen countries, including Canada, are eager to share in the competition.

"Although they had sold only a small share of the total major arms flow by 1965, Italy, Canada, Japan and Germany can supply a certain range of weapons and training in effective competition with the four major suppliers," says the report's authors, Geoffrey Kemp of Britain and Col. John L. Sutton of the United States.

"These nations show every sign of seeking a larger share of the arms market and often appeal to buyer-nations who prefer to stress non-alignment with the major powers."

The institute is a non-government international study centre headed by Alastair Buchan, third son fof the late Lord

PLOMODIERN, France—"Aw, rats," was the reaction of the town council today to its scheme to cut down on the number of rats in the community.

The council offered last month to give a free seat at the movies to any child who showed up with the tail of a rat he'd killed.

Swell idea, it seemed, until it became apparent the movies were jammed with kids every day and the rats had apparently multiplied.

The council discovered the children had been breeding rats to keep up the supply.

FLORHAM PARK, N.J. — William Hockenjos surrendered his driver's licence Tuesday with this comment: "I think it's about time I stopped driving."

Hockenjos, 96, has never received a summons or had an accident in 60 years behind the wheel.

PARIS—French servicemen will be able to smoke a pipe while in uniform and salute superior officers only once a day under new armed forces regulations announced Tuesday.

The new regulations, due to go into effect Jan. 1, are aimed at liberalizing and humanizing military life.

They stipulate that as a citizen a soldier's first duty is to disobey orders which he considers flout the "laws and customs of war."

They state that if a subordinate thinks he is being given such an order it is his duty to make his objections known to the authority which gave it and indicate what he thinks is illegal about it.

If he carries out an illegal act under orders he will carry full criminal responsibility for it.

If the superior persists in his order the subordinate must refer it to a higher authority, or, if none is available, disobey—but he faces disciplinary action if he is wrong.

DAYTON, Ohio—Paul Shawhan dated 97 women in three weeks and married one of them Saturday.

Now he and the new Mrs. Shawhan are headed for Hawaii and a honeymoon to climax the romantic venture which started when Shawhan, a 54-year-old realtor, ran a newspaper advertisement.

"I would like to date an attractive widow or divorcee," said the ad he ran in a suburban weekly here. "She should be between 35 and 55 years old.

"Please phone and I'll come over to your place and we can talk it over. I'm game . . . how about you?"

The ad cost Shawhan $75.18. He figured he spent $625 more wining and dining the 97 women who said they wanted to talk with him. He claims he got 411 telephone calls.

IPSWICH, Mass.—Ipswich officials appointed Miss Mariet Moffatt the town's official bell-ringer Tuesday, a job held by men for more than 300 years. The bell-ringer sounds 21 strokes on the bell in the Methodist Church tower each night at 9 p.m. The job pays $100 a year.

PRINCE GEORGE — A Prince George millionaire said Tuesday the economy would be far healthier if "10 to 20 per cent of the population were unemployed."

Ben Ginter, a contractor-industrialist, said in an interview it is easier for the employed to shoulder the burden of the unemployed.

Some people are "just not born to work," and they should not be forced to do so if they are found unsuitable, he said. They should not be placed in jobs that might result in danger to fellow workmen.

As an example, he said he would rather hire two heavy equipment operators and have one sit at home, than have an unqualified man endanger the lives of others and wreck the expensive machinery.

MELBOURNE, Australia — An Italian immigrant whose romances were ruined by bouts of coughing obtained undisclosed damages when his case was settled out of court here Tuesday.

Sebastian Paoletti, 29, who came to Australia in 1956, said his embarrassing cough started when he was overcome by fumes at a chemical works four years ago.

He told the supreme court here girls refused to go out with him, complaining his incessant coughing ruined their evening.

'Heil Hitler' Test Showed Mental State

FRANKFURT, West Germany (Reuters) — Nazi doctors condemned mental patients to death by gassing when they were unable to speak or say "Heil Hitler," a war crimes trial was told here Tuesday.

Dr. Aquilin Ullrich, one of three 52-year-old doctors charged with aiding in the mass murder of mental patients under Hitler's euthanasia program, told the court busloads of mental patients were stripped naked at Brandenburg mental home in 1940 before they were gassed.

Asked by the presiding judge how the doctors decided which patients were incurable, Dr. Ullrich answered: "They said absolutely nothing and didn't even indicate there was a spark of life in them by saying 'Heil Hitler'."

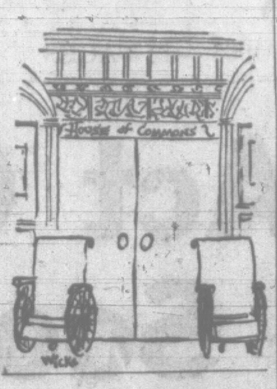
He said he felt he helped the patients by putting them to sleep. He is charged with aiding in the murder of 5,000.

"Looking back today I know, however, that I was made use of when I was a greenhorn," he added.

On trial with Dr. Ullrich are Dr. Heinrich Bunke, charged with aiding in the murder of 9,500 patients, and Dr. Klaus Endruweit, accused of helping to kill 5,000.

Officially called "mercy killings" by Hitler's chancellery, the euthanasia program was used to kill 200,000 mentally-ill persons.

FIRST CALL with Bonwicks



. . . FREEZE

ference before Cousins spoke that the hand of the government had been forced on the statutory freeze issue.

"Those who wanted to force the government to use compulsion have had their way," Callaghan said amid applause. "Perhaps they are proud of their victory but they have done no service to the ordinary men and women of this country nor to the trade union movement."

Callaghan was apparently hitting at, among others, Clive Jenkins, leader of a big Technicians' Union, who initiated a successful court action which the government says was partly responsible for making the freeze mandatory.

Jenkins said today:

"The trouble with Britain is not the laziness or thriftlessness of the British people—I reject that libel. The trouble is government spending overseas."

REFLECTS DEMAND

This reflected the left wing's demand that the government should cut defence spending to help the economy.

Cousins' speech was limited to 10 minutes as the mover of one of a series of anti-government resolutions on which the conference was scheduled to vote late today.

The only way the government was able to get enabling legislation for the pay freeze through Parliament was by promising that it was temporary, said Cousins. But he cited speeches by government leaders which he said made clear that "we are never going back to free collective bargaining."

He also noted indications the government will be unable to control all prices despite cabinet pledges that prices and wages will be treated equally under the Freeze Act.

While the workers were being compelled to observe wage restraint, companies were still allowed to add vast amounts to their incomes, said Cousins. He cited the recent £60,000,000 loan stock issue by Imperial Chemical Industries.

STRESSES EFFORTS

Callaghan stressed the government will maintain its efforts to restore economic health. He told the conference that even after the compulsory pay freeze lgislation expires next August, "the bargaining strength of two parties (management and workers) is not the only factor that will decide wages in the future."

"The public interest will remain involved in the arguments about the level of incomes," Callaghan said.

As Cousins launched the revolt, a group of cabinet ministers arrived in Scotland to get the Queen's approval of an order-in-council making the seze on wages and prices compulsory.

There was no prospect, however, that any action taken by the conference would force the government to relax its emergency measure.

200 EXPECTED

Tourist Convention Starts Here

They want to see Victoria first.

So 200 members of the Canadian Tourist Association and their wives will arrive here Saturday afternoon and explore the city before going on to Vancouver for a three-day convention at the Bayshore Inn.

The visitors, from every province of Canada, are due to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 1:30 p.m. After their sightseeing tour, they will be received by Mayor Alfred Toone at a reception in the Empress Hotel at 7 p.m.

There will be a dinner afterwards at which they will meet representatives of the B.C. government and Victoria Visitors' Bureau. Jerry Gosley's Smile Show will provide the entertainment.

Sunday morning the delegates and their wives will travel to Nanaimo by motor coach and cross to Vancouver by ferry.

The convention in the Bayshore Inn will be mainly concerned with Canada's 1967 centennial year. But there will also be a discussion on After 1967 What?

"We are delighted that members of the Canadian Tourist Association have chosen to visit Victoria first," Mike Heppell, commissioner of Victoria Visitors' Bureau, said today.

Gerda Report 'Wanton Injustice'

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Leslie Frost, former Progressive Conservative premier of Ontario, said today "heads will roll" and public lives will be terminated "before we hear the last of the Spence report on the Gerda Munsinger affair."

"What has happened is a cruel, wanton, senseless injustice," he said in an interview.

"There is such a thing as national conscience that cannot remain quiet under a dark blot."

In a letter published in the Toronto Telegram Tuesday, Mr. Frost said the report by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, after a royal commission inquiry into the connections between Gerda Munsinger and members of the Conservative cabinet of John Diefenbaker, had been unfair to Pierre Sevigny, former associate defence minister.

China 10 Years Behind?

KITAKYUSHU, Japan (Reuters) — A Communist Chinese economic and trade exhibit indicates a Chinese lag of about 10 years in technological development, Japanese technical experts said Tuesday.

China's best machinery and equipment is at least 10 years behind similar Japanese products, one expert said, but the exhibition also showed China's scientists and engineers were making tremendous efforts to catch up.

The Chinese, the experts said, have the advantage of being able to copy any imported machinery without regard to patent rights or development costs.

Takaaki Mitsui, president of the Mitsui Kosakusho machine makers, said the usual Chinese method appeared to be to import two similar machines and then dismantle one for faithful copying and reproduction.

Armed Men Rob Treasury Branch

EDMONTON (CP) — Three armed men today held up a Treasury Branch bank at 127 Avenue and 119 Street.

The men, wearing black stockings on their heads, entered the bank about 10:30 a.m. and forced the staff and six customers to lie face-down on the floor. They took the bank manager and a staff member into the vault and scooped up an undetermined amount of money.

The men then ran from the bank and escaped into a waiting car.

. . . ARMS

Tweedsmuir, Canada's Governor-General during 1935-40. The report presents details of the post-war international arms trade for the first time.

It says that since 1945 the industrial powers have sold or donated about 4,500 jet combat planes, 5,000 tanks, 244 warships and numerous guided missiles and small arms to the developing regions.

The producing countries often say these shipments merely are designed for local defence but Kemp and Sutton maintain the arms include highly sophisticated weaponry that can ignite local and regional wars.

This flow of armaments also can become a factor in deciding whether one country should compete with its arms-importing neighbor by moving into the nuclear production field.

Attempting to control the flow of arms is something which the United Nations has tried to tackle but even the UN is unable to prevent breaches of the arms embargo against South Africa. France and to some extent Italy had ignored the embargo.

Some of the report's conclusions:

1. British military jets dominated the developing region during 1945-55 and still constitute more than one-half the military jets in south Asia and sub-Saharan Africa.
2. Late-model military jets have entered the Middle East and North Africa in greater numbers than in any of the other developing areas.
3. India and Pakistan have relied almost entirely on the West for modernization of their air forces but India now is developing her own production, with Russian aid.
4. Only the Soviet Union has introduced long-range combat jet bombers in the developing world. American F-111A jets have been ordered by Australia.
5. The heaviest concentrations of tanks are in the Near East and the Indian subcontinent.
6. India, Pakistan, Australia and South American countries show a continuing demand for warships. Submarines are becoming a popular item.
7. Of the $1,000,000,000 in annual arms sales to these areas, the Soviet Union gets about $400,000,000 of the business; France $200,000,000; Britain $150,000,000, and the U.S. $150,000,000, with the U.S. also granting an additional $300,000,000.

Red Force 'Mauled'

SAIGON (AP) — American, South Korean and South Vietnamese forces kept up the pressure on a badly mauled Communist force near the coast of central South Viet Nam today and reported a mounting toll of 637 enemy troops killed or captured in four days of fighting.

The helicopter-borne American troops pushing down from the north claimed 43 more North Vietnamese or Viet Cong regulars killed in the last 24 hours of Operation Irving and 60 more captured.

$60,000 Grant To Adult School Turned Down

The Intermunicipal Committee Tuesday regretfully turned down a bid for funds by the school for adult studies on the Lansdowne campus.

Organizers of the school had asked the Greater Victoria municipalities for a mid-year grant of $60,000 to enable them to purchase urgently required equipment.

"I don't see how we can do it," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "We are already chipping into our contingency fund—which we kept low this year to hold the mill rate down."

Reeve Alan Cox, Oak Bay, agreed.

TOO LATE

"I am not criticizing the school board," he said. "But the necessity was brought on by making the move in the middle of the budgetary year.

"It seems that the poor old municipalities are the only ones expected to have money in the pot. We seem to be the only ones who, in the middle of a budgetary year, can be expected to find funds."

Reeve Hugh Curtis, Saanich, said he was sure all members of the committee had greatest sympathy with the adult education program.

"The concept is excellent and one which I'm sure will gain the full support of us all," he said.

But, like other civic leaders, he could provide no answer to the immediate monetary need.

MORAL SUPPORT

The committee finally resolved to support the program morally and to ask the provincial government to introduce legislation next year to enable the senior government to share the cost.

Other business saw the intermunicipal group formally approve the forecast move to bring the financing and construction of the new $202,000 family court complex under regional district control.

A resolution asking for a broadening of the letters patent governing the Regional District of the Capital of British Columbia will be sent to the provincial government.

If, as expected, it is approved the committee will then seek final approval from regional district members.

BUT WHERE?

Inez Refueling For New Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, still strong after 11 days of awesome destruction, churned today into the Gulf of Mexico, a great trap she cannot escape without once again returning to land.

After a day-long rampage from the heart of the Bahamas to the tip of the Florida Keys with winds up to 115 miles an hour, Inez was not an immediate threat to any point along the almost totally landlocked gulf.

Forecasters, baffled for days by the vicious storm's erratic twists, wouldn't guess at her future course beyond tonight. By then, she should be gathering strength 300 miles west of the Keys and ready to head for land.

Her last landfall stretched from Palm Beach to Key West, where four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that may total hundreds when bodies in the Caribbean are finally counted.

YOUTH DISAPPEARS

A 17-year-old Fort Lauderdale youth was knocked down by a huge wave while wading in the surf and disappeared.

In Miami Beach, three elderly persons died of heart attacks while rigging storm shutters, police said.

Three big ships were disabled by the mountainous waves, which towered 35 feet in the Gulf Stream. All eventually came out of their troubles safely with no injuries reported.

But an 82-foot U.S. Coast Guard cutter sent to the rescue of one of the ships just off Miami Beach's resort row was pushed aground by the surf, just 25 yards from the white sand beach.

A lifeguard carried a line to the wallowing ship and a group of bystanders plunged into the surf to help. The 50 to 75 men, women and children steadied the line while the nine coast guardsmen struggled to safety.

FORM HUMAN CHAIN

"It was the most dramatic thing I've ever seen," said one reporter. "Men, women and children going into this raging sea to form a human chain."

Every third person in southeast Florida's Gold Coast spent the night without lights. Today, many faced the prospects of hauling an uprooted palm tree from their yard.

In avocado and lime groves, tons of fruit were knocked from trees. Some of the winter tomato crop will have to be replanted. One farmer said the total loss to winter vegetables will run to $10,000,000. Other estimates were lower.

Most of the damage throughout the hurricane belt was nuisance damage. There were no reports of serious structural destruction. Flooding was not widespread.

U.S. 1, a usually-jammed four-lane highway, was barricaded at a half-dozen spots from Palm Beach south as foaming surf rolled in as high as three feet. But the tides quickly receded and the road was reopened.

TRAILERS TOPPLE

In th Florida Keys, where winds gusted at 100 m.p.h. and more for hours, at least four house trailers were overturned.

Although Inez was only a shadow of the 175-m.p.h. hurricane that battered Guadeloupe, the Dominican Republic, Haiti and Cuba, in the gulf she has a chance to refuel.

TRAVEL CURB

'Masses Hit Harder Than Brass'

LONDON (CP) — Jim Armstrong, Ontario agent-general in Britain, today fired an undiplomatic volley at Britain's sterling and tax policies. He described the £50 ($150) sterling tourist allowance as shortsighted, petty and miserable.

Pleading with the British government to remove this travel restriction before next January. Armstrong said there is little justification for the curb, which "hits the masses far harder than the top brass."

"Thousands of average people, many retired, have saved for years for a trip abroad to see relatives," he told the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Britain. "Many want to see Canada celebrate her centenary and visit the world's fair.

"They are denied the one big adventure of their lives after years of planning and saving—they are too proud to go on a shoestring.

Under the curb, Britain's travellers are restricted to £50 a year in travel to non-sterling countries. This is part of the government's policy to conserve its official holdings of dollars and gold and attempt to reduce a substantial deficit in its international payments.

50,000 HOMES WASHED AWAY

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — Refugees from the tidal wave and hurricane buffeted offshore islands of East Pakistan began arriving on the mianland today with horrifying tales of the storm which lashed their homelands last Saturday.

More than 5,000 persons are estimated to be dead or missing from the disaster which was caused by the region's fifth deadly hurricane in the past five years.

For eight hours high winds followed by a tidal wave lashed the off shore islands and coast of East Pakistan at the point where the Ganges river spills out through a vast delta into the Bay of Bengal.

North Korea Appeals For N. Viet Nam Aid

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Kim Il Sung, North Korea's strongman, appealed to all Communist countries to dispatch volunteers to Viet Nam as a move to oppose the United States and restore unity to the divided ranks of world communism.

He said North Korea's volunteers were ready to go, waiting only for a request from North Viet Nam to be on their way, but he indicated that he felt they should go with volunteers from other Communist states.

The plea was made in a major report to a Communist party conference that opened in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital today.

Most Communist governments have offered to send volunteers to Viet Nam whenever the North Vietnamese ask for them, but North Viet Nam has shown no inclination to make such a request. However, Kim did not just offer to send volunteers; he argued that they should be sent.

Kim painted a bleak picture of differences in the Communist world and admitted they could not be settled now.

Manila Meet Date Changed Second Time

MANILA (AP) — The tentative date for the Manila summit meeting on Viet Nam was changed again today, to Oct. 25-26.

It was the third date proposed. Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos in his original proposal for the meeting had suggested Oct. 18. Later he switched to Oct. 28-29.

Both Australia and New Zealand wanted an earlier meeting because they have general elections within a month. Th change was agreed on at a conference of Foreign Secretary Narcisco Ramos today with representatives of the six other nations whose heads of government will attend—the United States, South Viet Nam, South Korean, Australia, Thailand and New Zealand.

The spokesman said the foreign ministers of the seven nations would meet Oct. 23 to work out an agenda for the conference.

Bandits Murder Postman

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A mailman was shot to death Tuesday while on his knees pleading for mercy from two bandits who accosted him on his rounds. The postman apparently was held up for the welfare checks he carried.

"Don't shoot. Don't shoot," witnesses heard Eddie Lindsey cry as he knelt on the street. Then three shots rang out, and he fell over dead with two bullet wounds in the stomach and another in the back of his head.

The two gunmen then emptied Lindsey's pockets, stole part of his mail and fled in a car driven by a third man.

Overtime Regulations Claimed Ineffective

The president of the B.C. Federation of Labor said today the provincial labor department "lacks sufficient staff" to police its own laws.

E. T. Staley said the government should be prepared to see its no-overtime call carried through.

"There is no lack of law enforcement facilities for injunctions," he said.

Any employee could report infractions to his union or write to the Board of Industrial Relations, and this was how the laws were enforced.

"It seems to me that it should not be up to an employee to take a chance on abuse and risk being fired," he said.

The labor department should have enough manpower to conduct on-the-spot and unannounced checks of company records as the law allows.

The federation president, who is also a representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, praised Premier Bennett's interest in overtime.

But there was little overtime being worked in Victoria and Vancouver as far as construction work was concerned.

Where any ban would be felt was in remote areas which attract men by offering big money boosted by overtime.

Spokesmen for several local unions agreed with Mr. Staley that there is little overtime worked here, and there hasn't been any change since the government's announcement one week ago.

Jim Moffat, business agent for the carpenters' union, said it "wouldn't seem practical" for an employer to go to the labor department for an overtime permit when a decision was made at 4 p.m. to work an hour's overtime so concrete could be poured the next day.

"I think what will happen, even in isolated areas, is they are just not going to ask for permits," he said.

U.K. DEVELOPS PILL TO HELP AFTER A-BOMB

LONDON (Reuters)—A pill which could protect people from the after-effects of an atomic blast is under development in Britain, the Atomic Energy Authority reported today.

The pill, in its present state of development, will cut down the body's intake of radioactive strontium-90 produced by a nuclear explosion, the authority's annual report said.

Strontium-90 from nuclear fall out collects in human bones and can cause a breakdown of the bone cells.

The report also disclosed that doses of ordinary iodine could be used to reduce the intake of radioactive iodine-131 which is another harmful side-effect of a nuclear explosion.

A Chance to Legislate

TUESDAY'S LIBERAL CAUCUS gave Mr. Pearson and Finance Minister Sharp a foretaste of the angry opposition which may be expected in parliament to the decision to postpone the medical care plan for a year until July 1, 1968.

Many Members of Parliament view the postponement as a betrayal of pre-election promises to establish the medical insurance program this year. But two important factors have intervened which give the government good grounds for reconsideration of that commitment. One is the effect the medical care plan would have on the inflationary economic situation of the country. The other is the rather conclusive fact that the provinces so far have shown no intention of co-operating with the federal plan. Until the federal - provincial disagreements are resolved there is no point in trying to super-impose the Ottawa scheme, regardless of its merits.

Similarly concerned with inflation will be the interim budget for which Mr. Sharp will ask approval. It is primarily designed to provide tax revenue for the program of increased aid to persons over 75, but it should also be a vehicle for inflation control and could be effective in a way the currently urged voluntary cut - back on building programs, both government and private, has not yet achieved.

Typical of what the government may be up against is the opposition demand that the increased aid be made available to everyone because of the rising cost of living—a bootstrap operation which could only result in something giving way.

But by the criterion of hot debate, few issues are likely to fill Hansard more quickly than consideration of a revision of the Bank Act which would give banks a ceiling on loan interest rates of seven per cent rather than the present six per cent. The ramifications of this move provided heavy controversy at the last session and passage of the bill is likely to be a difficult one.

But Mr. Hellyer's legislation to unify the armed services will no doubt top the list of controversies, and the further testimony of military experts will add fuel to the fire. The railway legislation will rouse opposition in many localities where changes in service are called for.

This could be a very significant legislative session if politics were permitted to take a secondary place. But the government is still two seats short of a majority, and that means opportunity for opposition critics. It will be a particulary delicate time for both the Liberals and Conservative leaders, for both are under criticism of those who want to see them retire. Mr. Diefenbaker will be fighting a rear-guard action to re-establish his fitness to continue, while Mr. Pearson will have an opportunity to create a legislative record of achievement and decision. It is an opportunity not enhanced by the government's action, on the eve of resumption, in reversing its earlier policy on the Trans-Canada pipeline.

Both leaders, too, must break off their parliamentary duties to face party conventions during the next few weeks. It is a prospect that should have its particular influence on the course of the Commons debates.

How Poor Is a Young Driver?

BECAUSE STATISTICS REVEAL an unusually high accident rate for male drivers under 25 years, insurance companies of this country fix a special premium for clients in that age grouping. A favorable premium for a youth, as an owner-operator in Victoria, may be $77 more than is paid by a man over 25.

The reasoning behind the practice is obvious. The group is required to pay a higher proportion of insurance costs because its members make heavier financial demands on the insurance companies.

One enterprising American company, which does business throughout the United States, has qualified its procedure in this particular field. It has found, through investigation, that a relationship exists between good students and good drivers. In consequence it now offers a 20 per cent discount on car insurance to boys who achieve A and B grades in high school and college, convinced by the information it has received and studied that those who do well in school subjects as a class not only have fewer but also less serious accidents.

Here is recognition of a natural difference in driver compentency in any age category. Perhaps, however, this has some connection with another finding made by educators in a study conducted a few years ago. It disclosed that, as a general rule, a student's grades deteriorated in ratio to his use of a car: the non-driver tended to have higher grades, the boy with restricted access to the family car usually ranked above his classmate who was allowed uncontrolled use of the car or owned one of his own.

In other words, it is conceivable that the boy who did little driving and who consequently was less exposed to the accident potential of extensive driving, would have more time for studying and consequently score higher school marks. And while he was studying, he would not be risking a highway accident.

At all events, the insurance company's experiment should be worth watching—and no doubt will be of particular interest to under-25 drivers in this country.

End of the Line?

WHEN HIS INTENTION TO retire at the end of the year was announced the other day, the point was made that Mr. Donald Gordon has been in control of the Canadian National Railways during those recent years when it was able to report at least an operating profit. But he has been unsuccessful in his efforts to have the debt structure of the railway so modified that an over-all profit could be registered.

Certainly the man who has been called Canada's highest-paid employee gave vital leadership to the CNR, pushed its passenger business to a measure of success unexpected by most rail lines on this continent and weathered storms that customarily rage around the peak of such an organization.

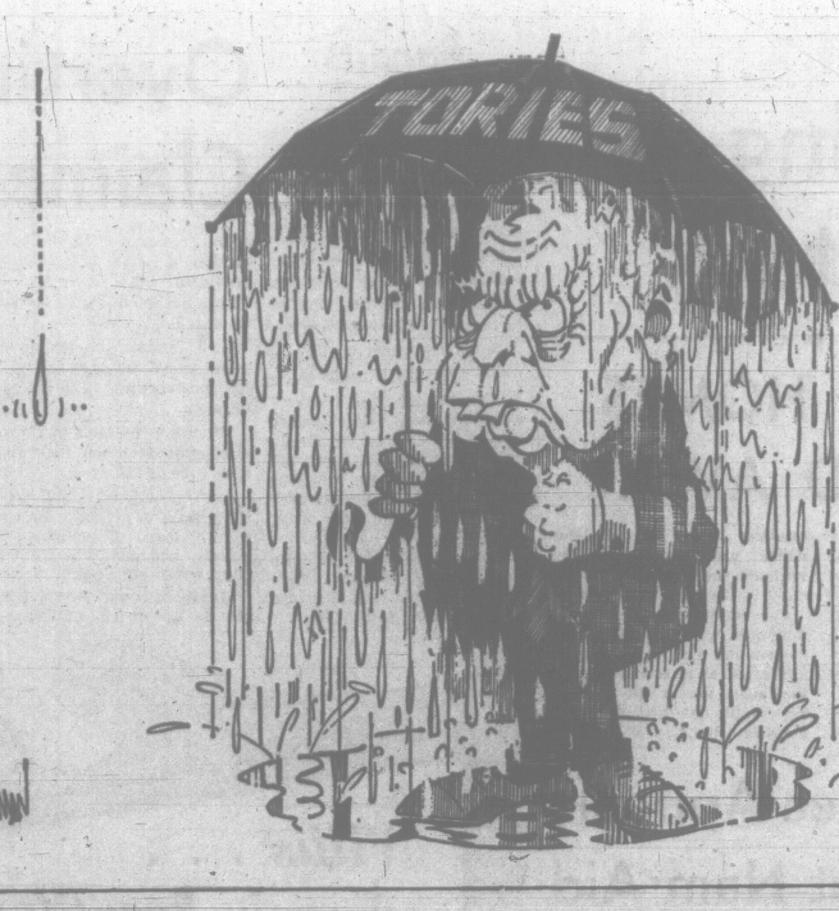
Elsewhere the Horatio Alger story of Donald Gordon has been told. It is to be hoped, however, his career of service to Canada in banking, railroading and price-controlling, has not yet drawn to a close. There is much to be done to carry through the recommendations of the McPherson report aimed at putting Canadian railways on a more realistic basis in the transportation competition of this country. A man of Mr. Gordon's calibre, experience and ability would be a useful person to have available for advice when future changes in railroading come up for governmental consideration.

'Wearing Lifejackets'

A THREE-WORD PHRASE tells its important story in the Elk Falls report of the rescue of two Crown Zellerbach tugmen when their small vessel foundered in a fast-running tide off Race Point recently.

The skipper and deckhand were picked up by another tug. Both men, says the item, were "wearing required lifejackets."

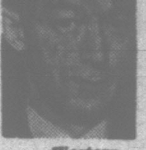
Without the jackets it is quite possible that the two men would not have been on the surface when the rescue crew arrived to make the pickup. The moral should be obvious for small boat operators almost anywhere around this coast.



FROM OTTAWA

By MAURICE WESTERN

CBC—Most Select of the Chosen



Western

ACCORDING to a CBC spokesman, the wage agreement with the technicians union (NABET) is not a precedent although it will affect bargaining between the corporation and other unions. The government, plagued with other non-precedents which people have wilfully misrepresented, will probably endorse this view. It is true that the technicians, as they possibly expected, fell short of their maximum demands. But the achievement is considerable and in some respects remarkable.

The net gain over two years is 24.15 per cent; this is close to 10 per cent on a 30 month contract and the union may reasonably hope for improvement through the principle of retroactivity. It is better than the conciliation award, twice the magnitude of increases considered economically justifiable by Mr. Sharp; better proportionately than the settlement recently won by striking railway workers.

Unexplained Leverage

What may impress other workers is the fact that this award has been won by a small union negotiating for only 1,850 CBC employees. They are undoubtedly people in key positions but as television is not, in an economic sense, a key industry this scarcely explains NABET's leverage with a deficit-ridden Crown corporation.

From the CBC's own nightly accounts of last week's harrowing negotiations and all-night stands, an impression may have developed that something of a crisis atmosphere had again settled over Ottawa. If so, it must have been confined to higher CBC and possibly cabinet circles. While the strike threat was a subject of rather desultory table conversations, most members of Parliament appeared to be awaiting events with a notably philosophic calm. This was in the starkest possible contrast to the mood prevailing before the railway strike. It suggested either that the country was free of any sense of impending disaster or that people generally were awaiting the calamity with impressive fortitude.

The government was not, in this case, under formidable pressure from groups fearful of their livelihood, of their employment or of the loss of export markets. There were no dire warnings that a strike on the CBC would cost the country X millions a day. The CBC, although not without economic significance — it costs upwards of $100 million a year — is scarcely an organization which must function without interruption if the economy is not to strangle.

Ouimet on CBC Role

But it is, in the words of its president, Mr. Alphonse Ouimet, our "chosen instrument of national self-understanding." What is its role? In Mr. Ouimet's own recent words: "The survival of Canada as a sovereign country united in its duality; the development of Canadian consciousness; the forging of a Canadian identity; the fostering of mutual understanding among all Canadians; the parallel development of Canada's two great cultures; this what the CBC is all about."

The railways are also chosen instruments but neither Mr. Crump nor Mr. Donald Gordon has ever aspired to these heights.

One might suppose that our Canadian consciousness and identity, our mutual understanding, parallel development and unity in duality could withstand at least for a few weeks, the partial deprivation of CBC live programs. If the judgment is otherwise, our condition must be so precarious as to be beyond saving even with the vast resources at Mr. Ouimet's disposal.

Cabinets Under Spell

According to the government, our condition is splendid but the ministers (however worried they may be about future negotiations with the postal workers and other groups)will take no chances with chosen instruments. The CBC fails at times to mesmerize MPs but it is almost always successful in weaving spells over cabinets.

It is because the CBC exercises this cultural and spiritual domination over governments that it can in turn be dominated by a small union. It does not possess the $5,000,000 to pay the award; in the words of its spokesman; "The key problem of the corporation was one of money ... this will put a strain on our wage position." But unlike most other corporations, it is officially indispensable and therefore has behind it the government and tax-payer to take up the strain. Even the railways are subject to interruption but the CBC, although not even a monopoly, is the most select of the chosen. Secure against economics, it enjoys an enviable position.

Brain Damage in Class

As parents we endeavoured to discuss with our Grade 12 student the 'new exam policy'. It was a traumatic experience, not only in trying to understand the change but to contend with the insight not untouched with cynicism of a reasonably intelligent child who has to some extent been the butt of trial and error methods throughout her schooling.

Just how it is proposed to raise the standard by lowering the requirements is completely baffling. It is agreed that examinations may be a poor criterion for measuring ability but the proposed change appears to be an ill-disguised attempt to get out from under by the teaching profession. We seem to be floundering in a morass of contradictions where teachers, a militant professional group, have asked for and received recognition without meeting the responsibility for improving the quality of education. It is a sad truth that education is too important to be left to educators.

As far as can be determined educational standards appear to be a victim of a vicious form of inbreeding between the Education Department and the teaching profession. No doubt there are some able educators amongst their numbers but they must be completely frustrated by the abortive methods they are asked to condone.

Excellence will not be achieved by dangling a carrot at the end of a stick and making it easier all the time. The intelligent child wants encouragement and the opportunity to grow both intellectually and technically. We literally spend millions on education to produce a small percentage of eggheads while the rest lapse and die on the vine unless lucky enough to outgrow the stultifying regimentation to which they have been subjected.

We should not be concerned with the brain drain occuring in Canada but rather the brain damage that is being caused by a fumbling, ingrown, and dismally inadequate treatment of our most valuable resource.—"A BAFFLED PARENT"

School

There can be no doubt that "tight money" has been used to justify inactivity almost everywhere.

But to consider capital expenditures on education at this time to have anything but top priority is completely unrealistic.

School construction throughout the province is already far short of current needs. This is a crisis — an emergency. Even the maintenance of the system at its present level cannot be assured. Development and progress are out of the question.

Statements reported to have been made by the Honorable Leslie Peterson to the Convention of the B.C. School Trustees Association indicate that even he, the Minister of Education, has given up the debate on behalf of education.

Parents and teachers alone cannot make sufficient impact; meanwhile, children are being denied educational opportunities which are their right.

Whole communities must take up the battle. Concepts of leadership such as restraint by regulation, and decision-making by merely assessing the cost, are unworthy of the Government of a dynamic society.

Bad Timing

New York Times

THE summit meeting in Manila this month of the United States and her six Asian and Pacific allies in the Viet Nam war is a perfectly acceptable idea but extremely badly timed. Despite the welcome stress on discussions of ways to achieve peace and on political and economic subjects, such a meeting now will almost inevitably take on, in the eyes of the world, the coloration of a war council.

The United States genuine stress on peace can only have credibility on the basis of the policies that Ambassador Goldberg presented to the United Nations General Assembly last week. It is the expressed willingness of the United States to cease bombing North Viet Nam if there is reciprocal action on the other side, eventually to withdraw American troops and ultimately to accept any government fairly chosen by the Vietnamese that contains the true seeds of a peaceful settlement.

Yet, before, during and after Mr. Goldberg spoke, his words were undermined — unwittingly or not — by other American officials and military men. The day before and the day after, B-52 strategic bombers came over from Guam, for the first time in five months, and bombed North Viet Nam. The very day of the UN speech, Defence Secretary McNamara announced a 30 per cent increase in the production of war planes for next year, while the day afterward he told a NATO committee in Rome that the United States had doubled the nuclear warheads at NATO's disposal since 1961. That same night Secretary of State Rusk was asking Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko to help the United States achieve peace in Viet Nam.

Now comes the White House announcement of an acceptance of the invitation to the Manila conference. The date chosen is Oct. 18 or soon thereafter — in other words, three weeks or less before the American elections. It is difficult not to assume there is some connection between the two events, or to relate them to the ominous fact that American opinion polls favor a hard line in Viet Nam. The announcement of the October meeting is almost an invitation to Hanoi to wait and see what comes out of the conference before deciding definitely what to do about the American proposals.

The goal of American diplomacy has to be to persuade Hanoi that the United States means exactly what Ambassador Goldberg said. Actual de-escalation of the American war effort would be the most impressive proof; but, failing that, his words should at least be allowed to stand for themselves without countervailing statements, inferences or actions.

FROM SAIGON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

After Victory in the 'Military War'

Alsop

THERE has been a deal of pother at home because the chief of state, General Thieu, and Prime Minister Ky have both dared to talk about invasion of North Viet Nam. But in both cases, they were asked how to get this war over swiftly and decisively; and they merely answered, with forthright realism, that invasion was the only way. They do not advocate invasion of the north, because they understand the international risks. But as they have both told me, they wished to set out the alternative in plain terms. The other alternative is a fairly long war. But when they speak of a "long war," they are using the phrase in a very special way.

Briefly, they both believe that what they call the "military war" will be over before the end of next year. This means, simply, that they are confident that General Westmoreland's strategy of "searching for and destroying" the enemy's main force units will have succeeded within 12 to 14 months.

A good many of the wiser Americans here foresee the same result. If this forecast is correct, combats between large units will virtually cease. The casualty rate will drop very sharply. The remnants of the enemy main forces will break down, or try to break down into much smaller, guerrilla-type units. And this will be very difficult indeed for most of the main forces, since at least half their soldiers are now North Vietnamese, without local ties in the villages, without knowledge of the terrain, and without guerrilla training.

When the "military war" ends in this manner, however, Generals Ky and Thieu and the Americans abovementioned expect a second, rather protracted phase of "political war," as the two generals call it.

If a personal word is permissible, I must add this seems to me a very sensible prediction of the future pattern, with the provision that no one can foresee what the Hanoi war planners will do when and if their main forces are defeated in the "military war."

Having been regarded as the darkest sort of pessimist during my whole working life, it is an odd sensation to be considered an added optimist. But I am optimistic in the sense of thinking that the enemy main forces are unlikely to withstand the mounting pressure on them beyond the end of 1967.

When you come to the second phase of "political war," however, the evidence is mixed. It may not be as long as General Ky and Thieu both fear. But certainly could be pretty long. The evidence is as follows:

First, the response of the VC guerrilla infrastructure in the so-called "priority pacification areas" has been decidedly patchy. In Binh Dinh province, on the one hand, about one third of the VC cadres in the district I visited — over 700 in all — have rallied to the government. Just about all the rest have taken refuge on the still-contested fringes of this district. With luck, the district infrastructure should wither away for good and all, as these fringes also begin to be pacified.

Results Slow

On the other hand, the immense effort the Marines have put into their pacification area near Danang has been sadly slow to produce results. Of 19 hamlets, 15 are pretty well cleared of VC infrastructure. But four hamlets have shown no great change, including, one may add, the VC combat hamlet of Camne, with its really astonishing fortifications, which was the subject of the great CBS drama of American Marines brutalizing innocent, nonpolitical villagers.

Second, then, the depth and strength of the VC roots in each village and district will determine the local response to pacification. It will never be automatic. Yet the revolutionary development teams that do the on-the-spot work are being turned out slowly, as is only sensible. Hence covering a large area swiftly is all but impossible.

Not Adapting

Third and finally, the South Vietnamese administration and army are not adapting easily to the task of pacification. This would not be true if the whole former structure of authority in this country had not been pulled down when President Diem was pulled down and killed. This would not be true, either, if the American planners had not obstinately rejected President Diem's pleas for aid in forming a rural constabulary. But as matters stand, it is true; and where pacification has succeeded, the Americans and in Binh Dinh, the tough Koreans, have therefore had to act as partners of Vietnamese province chiefs and district chiefs.

Thus one must expect an interim period when American units, no longer needed for the "search and destroy" mission, will have to be widely diverted to the pacification mission. In the present stage, pacification is by no means risk-free, yet almost all American troops and officers positively delight in the task of helping the villages to build a new and better life. It is a stirring thing to see. But it is also discouraging to realize that a large American force is still likely to be needed here, at least until victory in the "political war" is also within sight.

Looking Back

From the Times of Oct. 5, 1906:

Two convicts bound for the United States penitentiary at Mares Island escaped in Victoria yesterday while their ship was tied up here.

Victoria City police were hot on their heels for most of the afternoon finding the pair only after extensive searches of the Government St. and dock areas.

The only description their custodians could give of the men, who, it is said, had been committed for grave offences was that they wore no coats.

'Grotesque Double Standard' Made U Thant's Job Tougher

By NORMAN COUSINS
Editor, Saturday Review

Representatives of many sovereigns have called on him and sought to persuade him to continue to serve. Heads of the world's religions have tried devoutly to move him. Philisophers and poets and artists of the earth have sent messages.

He is one of a small handful of men who occupy a new station in human history.

Their job is to prevent nations from coming into violent collision. It is an extraordinarily difficult undertaking, for no creature on earth possesses greater stubbornness and falser notions of what constitutes reason and justice than the absolute sovereign state.

U Thant has said he would like to retire from his post. But many of the same nations that have made it impossible for him to do his job well are now imploring him to continue.

A grotesque double standard, in fact, exists in the attitude of some of the nations that constitute the UN. The moment representatives of these nations walk through the doors of the UN, they abruptly reverse the principle which alone makes it possible for their own national governments to function.

What is absolutely indispensable in the operation of their governments are adequate authority and the assured means of support. They know the alternative is anarchy. Yet they themselves represent the prime elements of anarchy on the world level.

They reject totally the concept of compulsory taxation in the world community, though they would not countenance a situation in their own communities in which individual citizens remained the judges of whether or not they should pay and how much. Nor would they permit their citizens to set aside the peace-keeping functions of their governments, yet they constantly block effective peace-keeping machinery on the world level.

It is unreasonable to expect any man of purpose, intelligence, and understanding to accept a responsibility without the means of discharging it.

When U Thant says that the United Nations cannot carry out its basic purposes without authority or revenue, he is not dictating the conditions for his own continuation as Secretary-General. He is calling attention to the basic principles of survival for the organization itself.

Whether he or another man occupies the office the principles remain the same. And if the principles are not respected, neither he nor anyone else will be able to save the UN.

The issue as he sees it, therefore, is not how long he remains, but how soon the United Nations can be made to take its underlying problems seriously.

Only recently, he has travelled to the capitals of certain nations and talked to the heads of governments in an attempt to win their adherence to a policy of adequate moral and financial support for the peace-keeping functions of the UN. He has been unsuccessful. Some of these same nations are now imploring him to stay in office.

He feels profoundly the impotence of the UN in the Viet Nam war. Even more deeply is he dismayed by the gap between the proclaimed willingness of nations to negotiate and their refusal to do so when confronted by opportunities to engage in exploratory talks for which he himself helped to set the stage.

Believes in UN

He is not embittered. Despite all reversals and difficulties, he retains a rock-like belief in the future of the United Nations. He knows there is nothing else on which the future of the human community can be built — nothing else that gives greater promise of protecting human beings from the holocaust-producing weapons now in the hands of an increasing number of national sovereignties.

He is a man of limitless good faith and good will. He has incredible qualities of patience and personal serenity. He comes from the East but he is equally at home in the West.

He has extraordinary intellectual and spiritual endowments but they are not infinite. He has known — increasingly often in recent years — the terrors of fatigue.

His formal working day begins early in the morning and continues to nine at night. Even then, the telephone and the work pursue him at home.

Saturdays are full working days. On Sundays, the locale but not the intensity of the work changes. He is a man who loves the life of the mind but in the past nine years he has found the time to read fewer than a dozen books.

On two or three occasions during those nine years, Adlai Stevenson almost bodily lifted him out of his office to take him to a movie or to the theatre.

Much Pettiness

Not all of the problems of his job are the historic ones. He is expected to endure an incalculable amount of pettiness.

Not long ago, he was asked by a delegate for an appointment, and he promptly fixed a date. On the day of the appointment, he was virtually anchored to the chamber of the Security Council. He sent a message to the delegate, suggesting that they meet in a room adjacent to the Security Council chamber. Later, the delegate complained bitterly that it was only because he represented a small nation that the Secretary-General did not see him in his office.

Apart from all problems, puny or prodigious, there is the yearning to return home. Family life in Burma is close-knit. He would like to spend time with his mother. She is eighty-three.

The most powerful arguments for him to remain at his post have come not from officialdom but from everyday people all over the world. The letters have arrived by the hundreds from people who understand his ordeal, yet who beg him to stay on.

He now knows he has a constituency of common folk; they have made him a custodian of their hopes.

If he finally decides to stay, it will be not just because a way has been found to enable him to perform more fully and effectively the duties of his office, but because of the manifest public support that might enable the UN to become what it has to be.

Has Spence Report Opened Door to Other Inquiries?

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, is a lecturer in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

Where do we go from the Spence Report?

Fisher

If a justice of the Supreme Court can be called upon to pass judgment upon something so personal as the exercise by a former prime minister of his prerogative on who should be in his cabinet, and if a Supreme Court justice so ingenuous as to undertake the task can be found, then the door surely has been opened for many other kinds of post-mortems.

For example, why could not a government in the future establish a Royal Commission to investigate the circumstances in which the Pearson government reneged on its promise to introduce medicare on July 1, 1967?

Crowe

And if a member of the Supreme Court can pass upon the prime minister's exercise of judgment in a matter wholly within the constitutional duties of a prime minister, is there really any logical reason why a prime minister could not investigate and pass judgment upon a decision of the Supreme Court?

Questions like these serve to underline the folly of the Pearson government in insisting upon the Spence Commission.

There were some matters to which Justice Spence could profitably have turned his attention. What justification could there conceivably be for the Liberals making the Munsinger affair public and inquiring into it in 1966 and not in 1964? Surely if Justice Spence had asked this question he would have had to conclude that what was happening in 1966 was an act of partisan revenge, and as a Supreme Court justice he could have comported himself in the light of that conclusion.

One cannot help but wonder what Justice Dorion would have done if he had before him the evidence that Justice Spence had, evidence that the RCMP began their investigation into Mrs. Munsinger on July 11, 1960, but did not interview her or place her under surveillance until Nov. 15, or report to the minister of justice until Dec. 7, and then they reported that her association with a cabinet member was "common knowledge in the underworld" and posed a great threat to Canada's national security. Why the long delay?

Was any attempt made to check the allegations and gossip served up as the Munsinger file? Do the allegations really fit the known fact of a woman moving freely about in West Germany, and at times working for the U.S. military?

How does the RCMP commissioner make his statement that Mr. Sevigny was a security risk of such consequence that he was obliged to bring his past to the attention of the new justice minister, Mr. Fleming, accord with the known fact that he waited six months to do so.

Is a cabinet member with a former mistress who had former Communist associations (and current unsavory ones) the only security risk? Is one with a current non-Communist mistress not open to blackmail? And what about an alcoholic? Is he not a risk? Are we lacking in these? And once a doubt is raised, innocence must be proven.

* * *

The commissioner's treatment of Justice Minister Cardin is most unsatisfactory. There is not a word about his reprehensible behavior in prying the lid off the whole mess. There is no attempt to determine how certain information came into his possession, no attempt to delve into the threats to leading Conservatives that if Mr. Diefenbaker didn't desist from harassing the government he would be exposed, no inquiry into the leak of Munsinger material to a Montreal newspaper.

Let us try to put to one side all the sediment and fallout of the Spence Report and ask this simple and not quite theoretical question. A prime minister of our country is advised by his minister of justice that old so-and-so, a colleague in the cabinet, has been gadding about with a lady, and there are allegations that she has shady friends and moreover that years ago in Europe she had engaged in petty espionage. What would we want our PM to do?

What would be the reasonable, proper, natural, wise action for him to take? First, to confront old so-and-so with the charge. Second, to assure himself that there had been no breach of security. Third, to tell the minister to terminate the relationship. Fourth on the basis of his personal knowledge of his colleague, and exercising his own judgment and prerogative, to decide if any further steps should be taken.

That is exactly what John Diefenbaker did.

An Old Love Wanes— Or Is It Decadence?

By ART STOTT

There's comes a time in any man's life, I suppose, when he learns to appreciate the sentiment of a distinguished intellectual, whose name I have forgotten, toward the urge to violent exercise.

Stott

As I remember the story, the distinguished intellectual explained that whenever he was seized with a desire to participate in some strenuous sport, he merely lay down for a while and the inclination passed away.

Except on those occasions when I yield to the overwhelming compulsion to show off—a compulsion that dies hard in me—I have approached that time of life. This makes me a supine armchair athlete degenerating into the addiction of television's vicarious participation in feats of physical skill, endurance and competitiveness. I am not yet a hot-stove quarterback, mainly because I now recognize certain gaps in my knowledge of almost all sports.

The only exercise I undertake in my new capacity is a sharp thrust forward to the edge of my chair on a play that excites me and a loud yell which swells my lungs.

I yelled Monday night when Willie Fleming made his magnificent run for a touchdown through the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and again when Pokey Allen, rarin' up from a fake place-kick, deked out some opposition on a pass feint and then squirmed and wound his way through the Cats for the big touchdown that ensured a B.C. Lions' victory.

* * *

After the set was switched off, I contemplated my unseemly performance with some embarrassment, hoping the neighbors hadn't heard me. At the same time I suffered certain qualms of conscience. This was no way for an Oak Bay High School old boy, circa the early '20s, to behave—bad show of unseemly enthusiasm for the wrong game.

At Oak Bay at that time we looked with supreme contempt on Canadian football. Rugger was our game, coached by Ken Eaton. My introduction to it came on the sidelines at gravelly Cranmore Road when the Oaks were playing Vic High in a Thompson Cup fixture. I turned out to watch with the thin couple of hundred other youngsters who made up the school's population.

My involvement in the game came before the starting whistle. A young Harry Smith, who coached Victoria High, asked me if I went to Oak Bay. I told him I did. He thrust a small flag in my hand and conscripted me as touch judge. I watched the Vic High boy on the other side of the field, running up and down with the play, and waving his flag when the ball was kicked out. By doing the same on my side, I held my job for a good 20 minutes. Then Bob "Red" Smith, a Vic High half-back, scooted along the line on my side, stepped on the chalk and went over. I didn't know that on the line was out. The officials discussed the footprint in the lime and gently retired me as touch judge.

* * *

From my humiliation came the incentive to learn some of the rules, and to play a bit, though not well.

So for three years at high school and a couple at College I gave my heart to rugby, joining in the derogation of Canadian football, though with diminishing vehemence. Don Macmurchie and Dick Wilson played Canadian football for the old UCT, and Don and Dick appealed to me as pretty good people. Maybe there was something in the game—but not much.

It has now reached the point where, having watched B.C.'s All-Stars defeat a touring British team—on TV, of course—it occurred to me that English rugby can be a bit untidy in comparison to the precision of the other game. This is disloyalty—but it is qualified.

One professional team playing another is providing entertainment. It is not quite sport for the glory of sport, though I think they play to win, and they play to win because pay cheques depend on success.

Which leaves me with the fine philosophical thought that English rugby is a game to play for enjoyment more than to watch. I'd like youngsters connected with me to play it and leave the other to boys who aspire to eminence in the entertainment business—a personal prejudice, no doubt, but one I allow myself.

PM's Public Standing Shows Little Change

By The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

Over the past year and a half, Prime Minister Lester Pearson's image, in the minds of the Canadian public, has not changed much. While fewer voters say their opinion of him has gone up during the last six months, so too do fewer people say their opinion has gone down. Today 9% more voters feel their opinion of the prime minister is the same as it was six months ago.

Even in Quebec there has not been much change. Only about one in ten report a higher opinion of Mr. Pearson and just more than two in ten say a lower opinion.

In the west the prime minister has not fared so well. Close to a majority of the citizens (46%) say their opinion of the prime minister has gone down.

The question: "Would you say your opinion of Prime Minister Lester Pearson has gone up or down in the past six months?"

Charles William Barkley

One of the first sea captains to follow Captain James Cook to western Vancouver Island seeking furs was navigator Charles William Barkley. He sold his first cargo fo furs in the Orient for $30,000.

He is usually credited with discovering Juan de Fuca Strait but historians still are not satisfied that the Greek navigator in the employ of Spain, whose name it bears, didn't make the actual discovery. Barkley also first discovered Barkley Strait on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Born in 1759, Barkley served with the East India Company. But the company had a monopoly agreement with the South Sea Company covering Pacific offshore waters. When Barkley set out for the Pacific northwest he employed a subterfuge to avoid sharing the profits. He changed the name of his 400-ton ship "Loudoun" to "Imperial Eagle" and sailed her from Ostend, under an Austrian flag.

He traded at Nootka and in Clayoquot Sound and Barkley Sound before turning south to find Juan de Fuca. South of Cape Flattery he lost a shore party to Indians. He named Destruction Island, off the Washington coast, in remembrance of that event.

Barkley lost his command after his poaching was exposed. But he soon returned to the northwest Pacific in another vessel, trading as far north as Sitka. This ship later was stolen from him.

He spent his last 30 years quietly in England and died at the age of 72 in 1832.

Neutral Laos Policy Under Fire in U.S.

VIENTIANE, Laos — Laotian neutrality, a key point in current U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, is under fire from right-wing politicians here as well as from some American military strategists.

The United States since 1962 has given wholehearted public support to the neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma. Privately, it has kept its Laotian military activity, principally bombing of Communist supply lines, at the level the Laotian government is willing to permit.

Prince Souvanna wants as much support as he can get without causing strong North Vietnamese counter-measures.

Observers say North Viet Nam also wants to maintain the neutrality of Laos. This, they say, enables North Vietnamese troops to infiltrate through Laos to South Viet Nam, obtain rice on the way and help the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces in this country.

Laos is expected to remain neutral as long as the Laotians and the two main combatants in Viet Nam feel it suits their interests.

Observers here say that Laos is sympathetic to the United States, but if the government permits large numbers of American troops to enter the country to attack North Vietnamese supply routes to South Viet Nam, a devastating Communist riposte might follow.

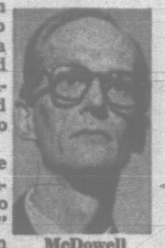
This, they fear, would escallate the civil war between the Laotian government and the Pathet Lao to Viet Nam proportions.

Not all American military strategists are happy about Laotian neutrality. Their stand is that the U.S. should cut the Ho Chi Minh trails which allegedly bring supplies for the Viet Cong through Laos from North to South Viet Nam.

But U.S. officials here estimate it would require three American army divisions to cut the trails. They argue it is preferable to let the Communists struggle with the handicap of an extended supply route.

Quebec Tories Want Best of Both Worlds

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Correspondent



McDowell

QUEBEC CITY — Quebec Conservatives have devised an ingenious answer to the debate between those who say Canada is composed of two nations and those who say it isn't.

To please those who insist on two "nations," most of them French-speaking, and those who draw the line at two "peoples," most of them English-speaking, the Quebec Progressive Conservative Association, at its weekend meeting here, approved a resolution that says one thing in French and the other in English.

The resolution, drafted in French, says that Canada was created by "deux nations fondatrices." But this term is followed in parentheses by the English wording "two founding peoples."

This translation was justified by the supporters of the resolution on the debatable ground that there is no exact English equivalent of the meaning "nation" has in French.

Approving this ambiguous proposition in principle, and leaving it up to a newly-created political commission to work out its application, was as close as the Quebec Tories got to taking a stand in the debate between those who want an ever greater autonomy for Quebec and those who want French Canadians to remain integrated with a more bilingual Canada.

This failure to come to grips with the predominant issue confronting a political party in Quebec made the Conservative meeting more significant for what it did not accomplish than for what it did.

Liberal Program

Quebec federal Liberals, at their meeting earlier this year, drafted a program for a more bilingual Canada as a concrete counter-proposal to the Quebec-first policies pursued by the governments of Jean Lesage and Daniel Johnson.

There was a tentative attempt by Conservatives to match this Liberal initiative.

Only four resolutions were submitted to this hastily and casually organized Tory "annual meeting," the first in four years.

One of them, introduced by the Young Progressive Conservatives, contained an eight-point program for a more bilingual federalism.

But, because "biculturalism" was a controversial term in Quebec, and seen by many French-Canadians as the equivalent of assimilation, one delegate argued that this resolution should be reduced to the simple proposition that Canada was created by two founding nations, or peoples, as stated in its preamble.

The delegates voted in favor of this emasculation, and it will be up to the association's political commission to decide what sort of concrete policies should flow from the two-nations, or two-peoples, principle.

When Prime Minister Pearson spoke at the Liberal gathering, his address confirmed and reinforced the bilingual federalist program being worked out by the Quebec members of his party.

Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker had no such program to confirm, nor did he offer any new points of Quebec policy on his own.

His speech was devoted mainly to attacking Liberals, dissident Tories and the Spence report.

Two Evils

Unless the Conservatives can overcome this lack of any positive policy on the problems of Quebec and French Canada, the outlook can only be for a choice between two evils.

One evil would be for Quebec to remain dominated federally by the Liberals as it now is, creating a House of Commons in which virtually all of the French-speaking sit on one side.

In this situation the division of views and interests between French-speaking and English-speaking is not bridged by party ties. Instead it becomes the front line of party conflict.

Inevitably, differences are exaggerated rather than reconciled.

The other evil would be a large Quebec Conservative delegation to Ottawa elected purely on the strength of the Union Nationale machine.

This is quite possible. In all but a few ridings in Quebec, the Conservative organization barely exists. At the level of the polling district, most of the workers are first of all Union Nationale members, who turn out to work for the Conservatives in federal elections when this happens to suit the purposes of the Union Nationale, as it did in 1958.

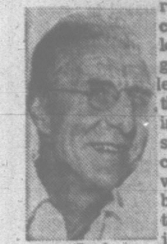
HOME GARDEN

Most Glads Ready Now For Digging

By JACK BEASTALL

Several home gardeners have asked when the gladiolus corms should be lifted, and the answer depends on when they were planted.

Those planted early should be ready now and can be lifted as soon as the leaves lose their rich green coloring. As long as the good condition leaves are in they are making food for storage in the corms, but when the green begins to fade their work is just about completed.



Jack

Before lifting, cut off all the foliage at ground level and clear it away to the compost heap. This lessens the chance of thrips moving from the foliage to the lifted corms.

If you have the glads in color groups, be sure to lift only one color at a time so as not to get the colors mixed.

After lifting a certain color you have the big problem of removing all the small pea sized cormlets from the soil. When these peas are left they make flowering size plants in a couple of years, and it is these strays that give the gardener the impression the corms are changing color.

Special care has to be taken when the white Snow Princess is anywhere in the garden. This is a prolific producer of "peas," and in a few years one can have a garden full of whites.

The only way to prevent this is to pick up all the cormlets it is possible to find, and destroy all the volunteers that appear during the next three years.

Glads should never be planted in the same place at least for three to four years, and the common practice of using the same spot in the garden every year is the cause of most of the troubles with colors and losses.

Once the corms are lifted they have to be dried and cleaned as quickly as possible, otherwise rotting will start between the old and the new corm. Some colors are very susceptible to rot and that is why they disappear from a planting in a year or so.

93-Year-Old Barr Colonist Dies in City

Funeral service were held today in Christ Church Cathedral for Walter E. Kieser, 93, who was among the Barr Colonists who settled the prairies.

Born in England he accompanied the group of immigrants formed by Isaac Barr in 1903.

The hardy pioneers travelled by rail to Saskatoon at the end of steel and then by wagon 200 miles further to form what is now the city of Lloydminster on tht Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

He farmed at Lloydminster for 11 years until moving to Chilliwack. In 1942 he moved to Vancouver and has lived in Victoria for the past seven years.

Citizen Support Sought by Unions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Labor Council Tuesday drafted a plan to fight injunctions in labor disputes and to seek the release of four labor leaders from jail.

Proposals will go to a meeting Friday of the executive of the B.C. Federation of Labor, which will be attended by labor council representatives from all over the province.

The four who were jailed are Paddy Neale, secretary of the labor council; Tom Clarke, vice-president of the Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America; Art O'Keeffe, former business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and Jeff Powers, president of the Marine Workers.

They were jailed for their part in disturbances at Lenkurt Electric earlier this year.

Vancouver Labor Council and B.C. Federation officers drew up a plan of action, including immediate appeals and the calling of a conference of interested parties to fight what was called "misuse of injunctions" in labor disputes.

Other points in the plan are:

—Union organizations sending communications to the attorney-general seeking the men's release;

—A $2-per-man contribution from all affiliated unions;

—Local meetings to deal with the unjust "sentencing."

In calling for a citizens' campaign, Charles Stewart of the Transit Workers Union, said the fight against injunctions is not only a labor fight.

"We want this to become a citizens' movement to ensure that injunctions will soon become known as a thing of the past in B.C.

"We are hopeful that at a citizens' conference there will be members of the clergy, civil liberties associations, the bar association, ratepayers associations, the Royal Canadian Legion and service clubs to stand up and declare themselves for justice for all."

Tug Helping Ship

ASTORIA (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Ivy stood by Monday while a tug went to rescue the 439-foot Beloit Victory about 125 miles west of the Columbia River. The ship reported her engines had failed and drifted helplessly during the night.

ARROW HUNTER DIES IN FALL ON QUIVER

GREEN POINT, Pa. (AP)—A young man hunting deer with a bow and arrow died Tuesday when he fell from a tree, impaled himself on one of his arrows and bled to death, state police said. Police said Robert Sholly, 25, was on a platform he built in the tree when he dropped his quiver of arrows and fell while climbing down to retrieve it.

Lawyer Seeks To Clear His Name

VANCOUVER (CP) — Disbarred Vancouver lawyer John Percy Macrow, 43, who served 26 months of a five-year conviction for fraud and was cleared Tuesday by the Supreme Court of Canada, notified the Vancouver Law Society he will apply for readmission to the bar.

But he said he will not seek compensation for time spent at Oakalla and William Head penitentiaries.

"There is nothing I can ask for," he said. "The authorities did their job as they saw fit. I'm sure there was no malice."

Mr. Macrow was paroled in July, 1965, and has since worked with the Workmen's Compensation Board.

'HONORABLE JOB'

"It's a good, honorable job," he said, "and I will be staying there."

He said if the application to the law society is favorably considered, it does not mean he will re-establish a law practice.

"So far as I am concerned the application is a question of my name," he said. "The main thing is, I want to forget the whole business as soon as I can pick up the pieces and see what I can make of the rest of my life."

The Supreme Court of Canada said in a unanimous judgment that the trial judge had misdirected the jury at Mr. Macrow's trial in 1963 and "it follows that the conviction against him cannot stand."

"I am unable to say that no substantial wrong or miscarriage of justice has occurred by reason of this misdirection," said Mr. Justice Emmett Hall.

POOR TASTE

Bared Bunnies Banned

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council decided Tuesday night that bare-bosomed waitresses at a downtown restaurant must go.

If they don't council, said, operator Les Stork will be called upon to appear at city hall—without his waitresses—to show cause why his licence shouldn't be revoked.

The topless lunch started two weeks ago, and has been playing to full houses ever since.

Aldermen said they imposed the bosom ban because they consider waitresses in topless uniforms in poor taste and offensive to the community.

Mr. Stork said he expects a visit today from the city's licence inspector. He added he expects to cease serving topless lunches, but plans to hire a lawyer to present some alternatives to the council.

"I'm going to ask council to let me open up as a private club, or allow the girls to wear 'pasties'," he said.

WAVES EAT LAND

Waves driven by a hurricane can wash away miles of sand dunes 100 feet wide in five or six hours.

Disturbed Children Returned

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eleven emotionally-disturbed children from British Columbia will return here this weekend following takeover of Ontario's private Warrendale treatment centre several months ago.

The children, who had been sent to the Warrendale centre by the B.C. child welfare department, were among a number displaces by the takeover of Warrendale by the Ontario govenment.

A spokesman for the department said Monday the 11 B.C. children will be lodged in a new centre for emotionally disturbed children in Vancouver. Two other B.C. youngsters will remain in Ontario because they are part of a Warrendale treatment group.

The new Vancouver centre will be directed by Alice Eaton, who worked at Warrendale for eight years.

The Ontario government took over Warrendale following a dispute between John Brown, head of the centre, and his board of directors.

'No Cutbacks in Education' Trustees Urge

PENTICTON — B.C. school trustees Tuesday asked Premier Bennett for assurance that education won't suffer in his cutbacks program.

The trustees, in convention here, asked for a meeting with the premier. They will ask a priority for education despite other proposed provincial economies.

Delegates adopted the resolution at an emergency session called to deal with the implications of cutbacks announced by Education Minister Leslie Peterson at the convention Monday.

The resolution empowered the executive to meet with the government as soon as possible and also provided that a continuing watch be maintained as to the equitable application of priorities.

The special session earlier overwhelmingly defeated a resolution asking that the BCSTA go on record as supporting the official government cutback policy.

Mr. Peterson told the convention Monday that only essential classroom building would be permitted and all other construction, such as gymnasiums and activity rooms, must be postponed.

TSE Suspends North American Gas Shares

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of North American Gas Ltd. were suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange today for not providing information regarding the company's affairs.

The exchange said the company did not provide requested information regarding their audited balance sheet of June 30, 1966.

The company also failed to provide either a report on its property in the Piceance Basin gas area in Colorado or a report to shareholders disclosing all material items which had occurred in the company's affairs since new interests acquired control of the company in the spring of 1965.

The exchange said the company entered into further transactions involving the issue of securities without prior notice and approval as required by exchange regulations.

The stock closed at 31 cents Thursday.

MARKET SUMMARIES

VSE Activity Dull

Activity was dull on the Vancouver Stock Exchange this morning as losses outnumbered gains better than two to one.

Continuing the pattern of the past several days, many issues reached new lows and only one reached a new high.

In the mining section Arctic dropped .03 to .62, Brenda was off .15 to $7.20 and Pine Point dipped .50 to $54.50, a new low for the year.

Agassiz reached a new high, climbing .06½ to .36½. Western Mines was off again, dropping .15 to $4.10. Native Mines was up .04 to .69.

In the industrials, Alcan reached a new low, dropping .87 to $7.87. Domtar also hit a new low, declining .62 to $16.37. Northwest Life dropped $1 to $7.50.

Futurity led the oils, climbing .04 to .60.

NEW YORK prices weakened considerably but recovered partially in moderate trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6,000,000 shares compared with 8,920,000 Tuesday.

After a slight gain at the start, the market slipped around midsession and moved toward its 1966 lows established Monday. Some prices came back but many sharp losers remained.

Uncertainty was produced in Wall Street by conflicting reports about the state of hostilities in Viet Nam. An Ottawa report said U.S. bombing operations in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam had come to a halt, leading hope of a general pause.

Aerospace defence issues, electronics and other stocks weakened.

Down about 4 points were Xerox and American South African Investment. Off about 3 were Pan American Sulphur, Chicago and North Western and Hecla mining. Teledyne preferred dropped 4.

Among Canadian issues, Dome Mines slipped 2⅛, International Nickel 1, Hudson Bay Mining ½, Alcan ¼. Walker Gooderham was up ⅝, Canadian Pacific ¼.

IN TORONTO the market continued to drift lower in mid-afternoon trading despite a strong morning rally.

Inco paced the list lower, falling 1 to 81¼. Alcan gave up ⅝ to 27½ and Massey-Ferguson ⅛ to 21½.

Trans - Canada Pipe Lines, spurred by a government announcement that it would be able to build part of a proposed east-west pipe line through the United States, added ⅝ at 29. The stock reached 30½ before falling off in profit taking.

On Tuesday Trans - Canada jumped 1⅞ before the cabinet decision was announced.

Golds plunged 5.99 on index to 163.63 as Dome Mines dropped 3 to 43.

However, western oils showed good strength, climbing 2.10 on index to 105.01. Dome Petroleum gained 1¼ to 26 and Canadian Superior ⅞ to 23.

IN MONTREAL prices lost ground near 2 p.m. today after a small morning rally. Trading was light.

Massey Ferguson slipped ⅝ to 21¼ and Noranda Mines ¾ to 47¼.

Domtar lost ⅛ to 16¼ and MacMillan Bloedel ½ to 24¼.

Dominion Textile was off ¼ at 26 and Texaco Canada eased ⅝ to 57¼.

Among the stronger issues, Royal Bank gained 1¼ points to 64¾ and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines was up ½ at 29. Consolidated Paper was higher by ¾ at 34¾ and Bathurst ½ at 23½.

IN LONDON interest in today's market was almost entirely focussed on first dealings in the new ICI loan which made a good start. The stock established a better - than - expected premium which, after some profit-taking, recovered its initial level.

Little interest was seen elsewhere and the major equities showed only narrow and irregular price movements. Gilts were quiet and lost one or two initial improvements.

Dollar stocks were uncertain following Wall Street's cautious improvement. A few Canadian stocks were easier, led by Noranda, which fell two points; but Tran-Canada Pipeline was 3½ points better and Consolidated Mining hardened slightly. Canadian banks lost further ground, with falls usually around one-quarter point.

Home banks were occasionally dull. Insurances were idle. Steel shares eased further.

English Electric eased by a few pence after announcing fresh bid terms for Rustan and Hornsby, unchanged after some narrow fluctuation.

Increased Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Talks between leading Japanese and Canadian ministers opened here today with closer collaboration on trade and investment the keynote topics. External Affairs Minister Martin and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina, in opening speeches at a two-day conference of the Canada-Japan ministerial committee, both spoke of the increasing amount of commodity trade between the two countries and expanded Japanese investment in Canada.

THE
COMPOUNDING

7½% compounded quarterly over a 5-year period effects an average annual growth of NINE PER CENT. Watch it happen to $1,000.00; quarter by quarter:

1-$1,018.75	8-$1,160.21	15-$1,321.35
2- 1,037.85	9- 1,181.96	16- 1,346.13
3- 1,057.31	10- 1,204.12	17- 1,371.38
4- 1,077.13	11- 1,226.70	18- 1,397.10
5- 1,097.33	12- 1,249.70	19- 1,423.30
6- 1,117.90	13- 1,273.14	20- 1,450.00
7- 1,138.86	14- 1,297.03

So for those who use investment for savings, it is the most profitable means. Victoria Mortgage Corp. Ltd. offers 7½% on 5-year debentures; 7¼% 2½ years; 7% 1 year (all callable on death). Interest paid quarterly (or compounded on request).

Sharp Rise in Price For New, Old Homes Seen

MONTREAL (CP)—P. D. P. Holmes of Victoria, president of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards, warned today that Canada may face a shortage of 50,000 housing units as a result of the current reduction in home construction because of tight money.

Addressing the association's 23rd annual conference, Mr. Holmes said the start of work on housing units is down more than 20 per cent for the first seven months of this year, although housing unit completions so far are ahead of those in 1965.

The start of construction of apartments was down sharply this year at more than 30 per cent from the previous year.

There should be sufficient housing to meet this year's needs but the pinch will come next year as demand increases, Mr. Holmes said. Canada was undergoing a "record increase in the age group of between 20 and 24 when, between 1960 and 1970, this group will increase by 54.5 per cent or 2,300,000."

"Coupled with this we have finally achieved an effective immigration rate, estimated this year to reach 200,000."

Mr. Holmes said that unless dwelling construction levels can be recovered quickly "there is no doubt that a tremendous market price pressure will be built up under all living accommodation, new and used."

"Almost certainly prices will rise, and history tells a crystal clear story of irreversible costs rising to meet price. This is inflation, and inflation where the lower-income sectors are hit most hard.

"This also is an inflation in the increased equity necessary to buy homes that can cut into the heart of our enviable 67 per cent home ownership . . .

"If housing starts do not swing up before the end of the year, a reappraisal of this situation will be imperative."

EXPLORE DEVELOPMENT

French Financiers Take Look at B.C.

Leading French financiers this week are taking a look at British Columbia as a place to invest their francs.

A 12-man economic study group is exploring industrial development potential from government to grass roots level and returns home Sunday.

It is the first French economic mission to British Columbia and the members began their investigations with a cabinet luncheon Monday.

According to one provincial government official the mission could mean to B.C. in the next decades what Japanese investment has wrought since the Second World War.

Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Loffmark went a step further and declared the anticipated new economic link would fill a void being brought about by a decline in U.S. and British export markets.

He made the statement before talking with members of the mission. Later he said he and the mission agreed to make no public statements until the visit ends.

Members of cabinet attending the Union Club luncheon besides Mr. Loffmark were Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi and Health Minister Eric Martin.

Jacques Devinat, trade and financial counsellor at the French embassy, Ottawa, accompanied the group, with Marc Baillard, who is French trade commissioner in Vancouver.

Mr. Devinat said members of the mission are seeking new areas for investment, specially in western Canada.

Leader of the group is Pierre Calvet, vice-president of the Banque Nationale de Paris, and two other members represent such financial institutions as Credit Lyonnais, one of the largest French banks, and Credit Commercial de France.

Others include representatives of the national council of manufacturesr, the forestry industry, the pulp and cellulose industry, the chemical industry and industries manufacturing hydroelectric generating and transmission equipment.

After their three-hour stop in Victoria they left for a look at MacMillan, Bloedel operations at Port Alberni before returning to their Vancouver base.

Two members were to fly to Prince George Tuesday to see the new pulp and paper developments there and the others were to see Cominco and the Columbia River development.

Mr. Loffmark stressed that this was not a selling mission. A member of his department said the French were primarily interested in joint development ventures with native capital.

"They are exploring the possibility of joint ventures with B.C. companies like companies from Britain, Sweden, Denmark, and the East Asiatic Company have done," the official said.

He called this a "very healthy development" and provides for a "built-in market" for B.C. goods and resources.

"We can produce the stuff. Our job is selling it."

He explained that British, American, Swedish, Finnish, German and Danish interests have well established marketing organizations, which linked with B.C. resources leave the province "pretty well set up."

There is historical precedent for French investment in B.C. dating back some 80 years — for example Credit Foncier, some gold mining development in the 1920s, real estate development like the Uplands, and more recently, Cement Lafarge, parent to Lafarge Cement of North America.

Trans-Canada Gets Approval For U.S. Line

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has reversed its ban on construction of a natural gas pipeline and natural gas export through it from Western Canada via the United States, Prime Minister Pearson announced Tuesday night.

The reversal was based on promises by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. that their present Northern Ontario pipeline will remain the company's main pipeline to the east.

Mr. Pearson said in a statement that the company promised:

- More than half the volume of western gas required to supply Eastern Canada will be transported through the Northern Ontario leg.
- The company will aim at a target of 60 per cent of eastern requirements being supplied through the Northern Ontario line by Dec. 31, 1976.
- A long-range objective of 65 per cent through the Northern Ontario line.
- An agreement with the federal government to ensure that Trans-Canada could never dispose of its interest in Great Lakes Transmission Co. — the U.S. leg — without approval of the federal government.

Wage, Profit Control Urged by Minister

EDMONTON (CP) — Industry Minister Drury suggested Tuesday that wage and profit increases should be tied to the national average increase in productivity — about three per cent a year-and warned no industry should count on special favors.

He told the 37th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that any significant wage increase in a key industry exceeding the national productivity growth will tend to bring about similar wage adjustments in other industries.

This means inflation, he told the 800 delegates.

Mr. Drury spoke after delegates at the conference had criticized the government for forcing Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. to roll back a proposed price increase and then giving some CBC employees a 24-per-cent wage increase over 30 months to head off a strike.

Maj.-Gen R. H. Keefler, the chamber's outgoing president, termed the CBC settlement a complete disregard of the government's wage and profit guideposts.

Mr. Drury told delegates the relationship between productivity and real income shows at the national level, and not in individual industries.

"It may be argued that there are industries with more rapidly rising productivity and that in these industries the rewards of labor and management should rise more rapidly," he said.

"This is not so.

"It is important to realize that productivity and wage increases in one industry cannot be treated in isolation and that they will, in fact, be affected by supply and demand conditions in the labor market as a whole.

"The labor market is not a series of water-tight compartments. Adjustments in one sector lead to adjustments elsewhere."

In suggesting the three-per-cent-a-year guideposts, Mr. Drury said that rate appeared to be the level of growth during the last 20 years, despite annual variations.

NEW YORK (CP)— The Canadian dollar was down 1/64 at $92 45/64 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling up 1/64 at $2.79 11/64.

MONTREAL (CP)— The U.S. dollar down 1/16 at $1.07 27/32 in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Montreal reported near noon today. Sterling was down 3/16 at $3.01 1/16.

Treasury Shares Stock Loss

A typing error has cost the public treasury $555.50 to make up part of a mining stock loss.

A series of unfortunate events was disclosed in an order-in-council passed by the provincial cabinet Tuesday.

First of all the office of the public trustee took on the case of a citizen who died leaving part of his estate in the form of 3,000 shares in Giant Mascot Mines Ltd.

The trustee's office wrote to Yorkshire Securities Ltd. Vancouver office authorizing the sale of 31,000 shares on Aug. 11 when the price per share at Vancouver Stock Exchange was about $1.16.

By the time it was noticed that the order was 28,000 shares too high, the broker had sold 12,000 shares, or an excess of 9,000 shares in the mining stock.

To make good the sale—which was on a rising market — the broker had to pay out $1,111, half of which the firm was willing to absorb.

The other half, it was suggested, should be made up by the treasury in the public interest. Cabinet members agreed.

'Die Frau' a Hit; Met Goers Floored

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Metropolitan Opera has its first solid hit in its new house, a production of Richard Strauss's "Die Frau Ohne Schatten" that is probably the most lavishly staged opera in the history of the American theatre.

The New York premiere if "Die Frau" (the woman without a shadow) Sunday night, almost 50 years after its debut in Vienna, was long overdue but worth waiting for. The cost of such a production absolutely boggles the mind.

Met audiences, staggered by the sumptuous $600,000 production of Barber's "Antony and Cleopatra" which opened the house, were not prepared for a "Die Frau" that surpassed it. The house rang with cheers and applause all evening, as much for the sets as the singers.

MYSTERY DONOR

An anonymous donor provided the money for the production. He must be one of the world's richest men — or is it a woman as some rumors have it?

Fortunately the money was lavished on a work of Strauss' that stands with "Salome," "Elektra" and "Der Rosenkavalier" as a masterpiece, Wagnerian in concept but total Strauss in color and emotional intensity. Strauss' protege, Karl Bohm, was in the pit and conjured musical magic that balanced the visual enchantment on stage.

55 SINGERS; 4 SURNAMES

LONDON (Reuters)—Members of Welsh Choir will be identified by numbers rather than names when they start a six-week tour of Canada and the U.S. next March. The all-male choir has 25 Jones, 10 named Williams, 10 Davies and 10 Griffiths, many with identical first names.

B.C. DELEGATE to federal-provincial conference on developing historical resources is provincial archivist Willard Ireland. Talks will be held at Ottawa Oct. 19-20. Museum representatives and historians will exchange ideas on historical parks, museums and archives and attempt to set uniform development policies.

SAUCERS JUST GAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of unidentified flying objects sighted in recent years probably were gas clouds called plasmas, Aviation Week and Space Technology reports. The magazine's avionics editor, Phillip J. Klass, said he reached this conclusion after analyzing 746 sighting reports listed by the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena.

Color Transmission

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Regular color television transmissions between Paris and Moscow will begin soon, using the Soviet communication satellite Molina I. French and Russian experts Tuesday signed a protocol providing for the transmissions at the end of a five-day meeting.

First-Nighters Benumbed By Play About Atrocities

NEW YORK (AP)—A drama of dark anguish, The Investigation, opened on Broadway Tuesday night at the Ambassador Theatre.

It is by Peter Weiss, the German-born scribe who set audiences buzzing last season with the pinwheel frenzies of Marat Sade, which may have been an allegory about political freedom.

This time, drawing material from one of the Nazi war-guilt trials, his concern is a question:

Which is worse — mankind's capacity for infinite ferocity, or its ability for collective apathy when confronted with terror?

Weiss hammers the theme through a sequence of episodes detailing both the brutal evils of the Auschwitz concentration camp — where 4,000,000 prisoners were exterminated—and the do-nothing inertia of those outside as well as inside the barbed-wire fences.

"We are only obeying orders," runs the recurrent plea of the devil's dozen of accused who have been assembled for the Weiss parable. "Who could believe things like that?"

DREADFUL DEEDS

And with a broad sweep of dialogue, the playwright applies the dreadful deeds of a quarter-century ago to the horror potential in an atom-bomb world.

The first - night audience, caught in the glare of a dozen searchlights which frame the stage in order to pull the spectator into the production's Kafka-like aura, seemed more benumbed than stirred.

Recital of bestial, sometimes blood-chilling incidents from the Frankfurt court record of 1964-65 when 23 Auschwitz officials were tried, is a mostly masochistic experience. The ultimate parallel is disputable. The theatrical effectiveness is limited.

Director Ulu Grosboard, who collaborated on the English-language version with Jon Swan, sensibly avoids flamboyance or raging histrionics in the presentation. The 21 players assembled to represent the accused and a synthesis of witnesses and court officials are uniformly effective, with Vivian Nathan earning special attention in several scenes of quietly taut emotion.

Designer Kert Lundell, all out for audience involvement, sets the judicial bench down on the floor of the auditorium and locks the performing panels up on the stage in a honeycomb tier of benches.

The Investigation catches the eye and stabs at the heart steadily, but falters as cogent argument.

Centennial Opera Here November 15

The opera Hansel and Gretel will be performed in Victoria Nov. 15. It starts an 18-day tour of the province Oct. 31 under the auspices of the B.C. Centennial Committee.

There are two complete casts for the tour, chosen from the B.C. Opera Ensemble of the Vancouver Opera Association.

Pianist-conductor of the opera is Robert Keys, formerly of the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden. Settings are by Gail McCance, and stage director is Stephen Smith.

FILMERS CO-EXIST

The Soviet Ministry of Cinematography and the American Warner Bros. studios are co-operating on a film on Tschaikovsky, to star the Russian actor Innokenti Smoktunovsky.

Official B.C. Book Soon Off Press

British Columbia: Challenge in Abundance is the title of B.C.'s official centenary book, to be published Nov. 15 after two years' planning.

Commissioned by the provincial centennial committee, the 160-page book presents a panorama of B.C. life. It has 83 color photos and 103 black and white, plus a 25,000-word text.

The hard cover regular edition will sell for $2.95, and a limited number of de luxe copies will sell for $10 each.

COWS, PIGS AIRLIFTED

BONN (UPI)—An animal airlift over the Iron Curtain flew 684 cows and nearly 7,000 pigs into West Berlin between April and August, to augment food supplies because of an epidemic of hoof and mouth disease.

But it's made a basic difference in the cars we'll build for you in 1967.

You're looking at our "idea car," the AMX. It's our laboratory on wheels where we're testing ideas for the '70's.

Our 1967 cars owe a lot to our AMX. They've caught the spirit of the '70's.

It's a spirit that's reflected not simply in appearance but in the basically different way we'll build our '67's. We've matched superb performance and contours with engineering values that make a car stronger, safer, more durable, more dependable. We've given you interiors of unequalled elegance inside a framework so rugged it will never squeak or rattle.

We've designed cars with a deep, lustrous finish protected by the toughest rust-resistant coatings made. We've developed new innovations — light, high-output engines, wide-track stance and a road-smoothing new suspension. Differences developed for their lasting value, not simply for the sake of model change. And we've included a new expanded warranty — a warranty that says performance and quality is built in so the value stays in. We believe that the basic difference in American Motors cars will mean more to you in 1967 than in any year of the past.

Preview our 1967 cars on the following page. You'll see our full-size Ambassador . . . our exciting new intermediate, the Rebel . . . and our powerful Rambler American compact.

And before you make the thoughtful decision about which 1967 car to buy, see your American Motors Rambler dealer.

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIRLEY POVICH
(The Washington Post)

LOS ANGELES — When the late Connie Mack said that pitching was 75 per cent of the game, he was pussyfooting on the side of extreme conservatism. According to the best reckonings, pitching had to be 105 per cent of baseball to get the feeble Los Angeles Dodgers into the world series.

The Dodgers are favorites over the Baltimore Orioles, starting today, no thanks to the two-cheers batting attack, however. On their hitting the Dodgers were a second division team. On their pitching they went all the way to their second straight pennant, virtually the same as last year, so they have found a method.

For the Orioles, it has to be galling to be labelled underdogs to a Los Angeles team that by most standards would be recognized as a pennant-winning accident.

The Orioles developed more slug than any club in the American League, have a better defensive team than the Dodgers and a bullpen just as good as the Dodgers.

The 8-5 odds in favor of the Dodgers were obviously pegged to two important words—Sandy Koufax. He is the transcendent figure of the entire series cast with his penchant for winning 27 games in a single season, his readiness to work with two days' rest and availability for three series starts, if necessary.

Drysdale Failed Against the Phils

The rest of the Dodgers' pitching is much less awesome. Don Drysdale is sharp now with four victories in his last five starts but he was pretty well unmasked this season as a mere 13-16 performer. Neither is Claude Osteen unbeatable. On his way to winning 17, he lost 14. And the fact is that both Drysdale and Osteen couldn't beat the Phillies in their last two crucial starts.

There are some reservations about the ability of Drysdale and Osteen to lick the bat-rich Orioles in their first games. Drysdale was a mere 6-5 favorite over Dave McNally in today's opener and Osteen a skimpy 11-10 choice over young Wally Bunker if he pitches game No. 3. The whole thing emphasizes the high importance of Koufax in this series.

Their own park is a marginal advantage to the Dodgers, whose hitting is less outclassed in Chavez Ravine where the fences can often defy the big-hitting teams as well. In the last two seasons, the Dodgers have lost only 59 games while winning 103. And they have not lost any of the four World Series games played here.

Dodgers Have Slipped More Than Bit

It may be the first pennant the Orioles have won but they have an old World Series hand in their manager who has seen more series play than any of the Dodgers. Hank Bauer was with nine pennant-winning Yankee teams and knows how to stay loose in a World Series setting. He holds the record of hitting safely in 17 consecutive series games.

The Orioles are the same slugging-type team the Dodgers beat last year in the series when Minnesota took them to seven games. But aside from their pitching, there is evidence these Dodgers have slipped more than a bit. Defensively, their infield is a libel on the World Series label. A knee injury has helped to slow up shortstop Maury Wills, who otherwise was beginning to lose range, anyway. Junior Gilliam, 38 in two weeks, plays third base as if he were really 39.

Even if the deep LA relief pitching is thrown into the reckoning, Baltimore has a far better bench than the Dodgers. The Orioles' relief pitching ultimately may take up all the slack. When the Dodgers move in Wes Covington as a pinch-hitter, they are calling on a .114 batting hero. And when they move in John Kennedy for duty at third base for defensive purposes they are replacing a .217 hitter with a .201 powerhouse.

Nothing To Compare With Robinsons

The Baltimore relievers are important because Bauer has gotten only seven complete games out of his pitching since mid-June. But Stu Miller and Eddie Fisher, the late mop-up men, dearly love to deal with Dodger hitting types. Compared to what they faced in the American League this season, they have little to fear from the Dodgers in the long-ball department.

The Dodgers have no "alliance for progress" to compare with the effectiveness of the Robinson boys—Frank and Brooks. The Orioles boast virtually all the thunder in the series. The 106 home runs of the Robinsons and Boog Powell are only two shy of the total of the whole pattycake Dodger batting order.

There is also something missing from the Dodgers' usual mixed bag of tricks. This is the sharp edge of Maury Wills' threat as a base runner. He has been slowed by his knee injury and the Dodgers' bunting game, which was so upsetting to the Twins last year, could be dulled, with Brooks Robinson looking down their throats from a shallow third base.

ESQUIMALT LEAGUE

All Stars to Launch New Hockey Season

Another Esquimalt Hockey League season will get under way Friday night at the Sports Centre with the league's fifth annual all-star game.

Clashing on the ice at 8:15 will be Tudor Monarchs, who won the championship last season as Esquimalt Pontiacs, and an all-star club selected from the other two league teams—University of Victoria Vikings and Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt.

Before hostilities start, players will be guests at the annual all-star banquet, which begins at 6. League officials will be introduced by president A. E. Loft, special guests by Gorde Hunter; all-star players by coach Dave Hill, and Monarch players by coach Joe Iannarelli.

McNAB BRINGS GULLS . . . . . . TO MEMORIAL ARENA TONIGHT

LEN HALEY

'Don't Worry About Old Max'

Because Max McNab is such a nice guy he gets a great deal of sympathy from rival managers and coaches who are completely aware of the complexities of building a new hockey team.

The Western Hockey League's newest team, San Diego Gulls, is McNab's baby.

The Gulls make their first competitive appearance in Victoria tonight when they tackle the Maple Leafs in a pre-season meeting at Memorial Arena, starting at 8:15 p.m.

At the moment, the Gulls are an unknown quantity.

"But don't worry about old Max," Victoria manager Buck Houle was saying Tuesday. "He'll have himself a good team by the time the league opens. . . ."

McNab has a team now, but there may not be enough depth to make it a contender for the entire 72 games of the WHL schedule. A half-dozen proven veterans provide a nucleus. After that comes a flock of rookies and promising amateurs.

The list of proven talent includes former Victorians Al Nicholson and Ed Ehrenverth. Then there's Johnny MacMillan, a Lethbridge native son who had a fling in the National League with Toronto Maple Leafs; veteran swinger Len (Comet) Haley; Fred Hilts, who scored 20 goals for Portland last season, and Warren Hynes, obtained from Los Angeles Blades.

Of the new faces, the most promising are Gordie Turlik, Gord Wilkie, Dwight Carruthers and Jim Eagle. The rookies Carruthers and Eagle both looked sharp last Saturday on defence when Victoria edged the Gulls 3-2 in Chilliwack.

McNab had three goaltenders, but the one on the inside track is Bob Champoux. He had his first taste of NHL action when he was only 17, and last year toiled with Pittsburgh Hornets in the American League. McNab's other goaltending candidates are Jim Knox and Gary Simmons.

Each will play one period tonight, said McNab.

McNab admits he has some worries.

"Right now, the biggest job is to get these players working together. That's a tall order when you figure there are 22 men who have never been together before," said McNab.

Some of his other worries will vanish when he finds out exactly who, and how many, players Detroit Red Wings will ship to San Diego.

Wings, who have a working agreement with the Gulls, have promised McNab "five or six" front-line players.

Power-hiting Brooks Robinson, of Baltimore, worked with intensity in batting cage shortly before Orioles took field for opening world series game in Los Angeles today. Robinson, who banged out 23 home runs, started at third base. (AP Wirephoto.)

'Big M' Overshadowed By Kid Brother Peter

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Mahovlich brothers—Frank and Peter—clashed Tuesday night and Peter, the "kid brother," won.

Peter, the Detroit Red Wings rookie, took the puck from Frank, the Toronto Maple Leafs star, and scored a goal and both players suffered injuries that kept them out of the third period.

The meeting occurred in Kitchener where the Red Wings defeated the Leafs 5-1 and marked the first time the Mahovlich brothers had met as opposing forwards for National Hockey League clubs.

CANADIENS CLICK

Peter suffered a charley horse and Frank suffered bruised ribs when struck by Bruce MacGregor.

The game was one of two exhibition contests played by NHL clubs Tuesday night. Montreal Canadiens defeated Houston Apollos of the Central Professional League 7-4 in the other game at Moncton, N.B.

Paul Henderson scored three goals for Detroit, while Norm Ullman got the other. Jim Pappin scored the lone Toronto goal.

SCORING A SPREE

Jacques Laperriere, Jean Beliveau, Ralph Backstrom, Bobby Rousseau, Henri Richard, Dave Balon and Gilles Tremblay scored the Montreal goals. Bill Englis, Danny Grant, Jim Patterson and Jacques Lemaire replied for Houston.

Meanwhile, New York Rangers cut Terry Ball, Dunc McCallum, Trevor Fahey, Max Mestinsek, Paul Andrea and Bryan Campbell and goaltender Wayne Rutledge from their training camp at Kingston. All were sent to the Rangers' Omaha farm club of the CPHL.

Goaltender Gilles Villemure was sent to Baltimore of the American League. The Rangers also signed defenceman Jim Neilson to a 1966-67 contract.

Manager - coach Emile Francis announced that defenceman Al MacNeil and forwards Doug Robinson and Bob Nevin will remain at Kitchener during the Rangers' 10-day tour of Western Canada, which begins in Winnipeg Friday.

All three are recuperating from training camp injuries and will skate with Kitchener Rangers, the New York farm club in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

WILLIAMS GOES HOME

Tommy Williams left the Boston Bruins training camp at London, Ont., today to undergo treatment and rest and injured right leg that is expected to keep him sidelined for a week to 10 days.

He injured the leg Sunday in an exhibition game against the Leafs at Peterborough.

Boston defenceman Bob Woytowich returned to workouts Tuesday after a five-day absence because of a bruised leg. Rookie defenceman Bobby Orr, who missed Tuesday's drill because of a shoulder injury, is expected to be in the lineup for Friday's exhibition against Detroit at London.

HARRIS TO SEALS

The Bruins sent goaltender Gerry Cheevers and forwards Glen Sather, Ted Irvine, Keith Wright, Ron Buchanan and Jean Parise to Oklahoma City Blazers of the CPHL Tuesday and relegated forward Ron Harris to San Francisco Seals of the Western League.

The Red Wings, who have been training in Detroit and Chicago Black Hawks, who have also been training on home ice, meet tonight at St. Louis, while the Leafs leave their Peterborough training camp for an exhibition game against the Rangers at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

The Canadiens leave their Montreal training camp for a game against the Black Hawks in Chicago Friday. There are no exhibition games scheduled Thursday.

Foster Arrives In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Thirty U.S. drivers of Indianapolis style racing cars flew into Tokyo Wednesday to participate in Japan's first high speed race modelled on the American classic.

The favorites in the 200-mile race on the Fuji Speedway Sunday were England's Graham Hill and Scotland's Jim Clark.

Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., said:

"Graham Hill or Jim Clark will win this one, like they've won the past two at Indianapolis."

Several other drivers agreed. But many conceded nothing. Bob Harkey of Indianapolis commented curtly: "I intend to win."

Thirty - three Indianapolis cars are expected to compete, including one driven by Bill Foster of Victoria.

JETS NIP VERNON

VERNON (CP) — Spokane Jets of the Western International Hockey League edged Vernon of the Okanagan Mainline League 4-3 Tuesday night in an exhibition hockey game.

Virus Infection Hits Challenger

NEW YORK (AP)—The middleweight title bout involving champion Emile Griffith and Joey Archer was postponed Tuesday to Nov. 10 when the New York state athletic commission was convinced that the challenger was ill with a virus infection.

The bout, to be held in Madison Square Garden, originally was scheduled for Oct. 21.

FIGHT RESULTS

HALIFAX—Davey Hilton, 140, Saint John, N.B., stopped Paddy Read, 140, Providence, R.I., 2.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Jimmy Lester, 157, Oakland, stopped Charley Scott, 157, Philadelphia, 1.

LOST SIGHT IN ONE EYE, DONS MASK FOR RETURN

WINNIPEG (CP)—John Russell, who lost the sight of one eye while playing with Canada's National team last year, hopes to return to hockey this season with the Winnipeg Maroons.

Maroon coach Mike Yaschuk said Russell has been working out with the Manitoba Senior Hockey League club and "he still has the speed and the shot. We'll have to see how he adjusts to his mask."

Russell has been wearing a special protective mask in practice sessions.

Vancouver Bid Interests Scot

GLASGOW (AP)—John Prentice, manager of Scotland's soccer team, said Tuesday he will announce soon whether he is accepting a £5,000 ($15,000) a year job as manager of the Vancouver club in the new North American Soccer League.

Prentice flew home from an eight-day visit to Canada and faced a storm of criticism from Scottish sports writers.

They said he should not have gone abroad job-hunting only six months after accepting the post as Scotland's manager.

MIND MADE UP

Prentice told reporters: "I have already made up my mind about the Vancouver job. But I want to discuss it with my wife and inform the Scottish Football Association before announcing my decision."

He rejected press criticisms of his trip to Canada.

"The only crime I have committed is to try and better myself and provide security for my wife and family," he said.

"The SFA have only themselves to blame. If they had offered me a long-term contract, instead of engaging me on a month-to-month basis, I would not have considered any other offer."

Willie Allan, secretary of the SFA, declined comment.

The Glasgow Daily Record has been printing whole pages of letters from readers putting arguments for and against Prentice's trip to Canada.

The newspaper said a majority of readers were on Prentice's side.

Mitchell Gains In Point Race

(Times News Services)

A five-point performance by Bill Mitchell of British Columbia Lions moved him into fourth place in the Western Football Conference scoring race.

The Toronto native kicked a field goal, a single and a convert as the Lions upset Hamilton Tiger-Cats 17-10 in a Canadian Football League game Monday in Vancouver.

Odds Irk Hank

Times News Services

LOS ANGELES — "The guys who make those odds never played baseball," snorted Baltimore manager Hank Bauer today before his Orioles tackled Los Angeles Dodgers in the opening game of the world series.

Walter Alston's Dodgers, who won the National League pennant in their last regular game of the season, were quoted as 8-5 favorites to beat the hard-hitting Orioles, who breezed to the American League flag.

"Anything can happen in a World Series," said Bauer. "Usually the guy who doesn't figure to do anything has the big series. I know, it happened in my case."

Orioles, of course, are in their first modern series, but this is No. 10 for Bauer, a New York Yankee in their days of glory. Hank played with seven winners and only two losers as a Yankee.

Although there was a chance of showers, a sellout crowd of 55,000 was on hand at Dodger Stadium to watch the opener as Bauer sent southpaw Dave McNally against Alston's right-handed pitching choice of Don Drysdale.

* * *

Bauer probably selected Nally because the series could develop into a duel between Baltimore hitting power and Los Angeles pitching and speed.

Both Andy Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were aware that the battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota Twins couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last weeks of the season.

* * *

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that. A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A southpaw, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Maybe CBS Will Mention Who Wins the Series

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — All right, class. Today we will continue "the national sports and physical fitness test" that CBS-TV started but didn't quite finish Tuesday night.

Ready? Okay.

The first question is: What sports event, perhaps the top one in the U.S., was somehow overlooked during the program even though the Tuesday telecast was shown on its eve?

Answer: The World Series between Los Angeles and Baltimore.

Next question: Why do you think this could be?

Answer: Maybe because the World Series is broadcast on competing NBC-TV, which is naturally more important than timeliness and interest.

Q. Do you think this oversight would have occurred if the New York Yankees, now owned by CBS, were in the series?

A. Next question.

Q. How did the Yankees do this season under CBS?

A. They finished dead last.

Q. When was the last time this happened?

A. Shortly before the Battle of Bull Run.

Q. Did Tuesday night's broadcast take note in any way of the Yankee demise?

A. It was mentioned fleetingly that Yankee Stadium "used to be known as the home of champions," which is a splendidly tactful statement.

Q. What other mention was there of the Yankees on the program?

A. It was noted that they beat the "Miracle" Giants in the 1951 World series.

Q. Name at least one team that finished higher than the CBS Yankees this season.

A. The New York Mets.

Q. Tell at least one CBS-Yankee joke.

A. A Los Angeles sports writer said the team "was so bad CBS wanted tp replace it with a quiz show after 13 weeks."

Q. Tell another.

A. A writer for weekly "Variety" said: "There are folks who believe that the N.Y. Yankees are a summer replacement situation comedy for CBS. This is not so. So dull a series wouldn't make it through one screening in the CBS testing bijou. . . ."

Q. What was the remarkable attendance in a recent game at Yankee Stadium with the Chicago White Sox playing the home team?

A. 413 persons, not including sportscasters.

Q. Who mentioned this despite the fact that he was, at the time, a sportscaster for the Yankees?

A. Red Barber, one of the finest reporters in sportscasting.

Q. Was this reporting appreciated?

A. Elsewhere, yes.

Q. What steps have the CBS Yankees taken to change matters?

A. Among other things, they fired a manager.

Q. And what else?

A. They fired Red Barber.

Q. Why?

A. Apparently because both men couldn't hit, field or throw well enough.

Q. What other changes are contemplated?

A. No one knows for sure, but there are rumors that the batboy, clubhouse attendant and scoreboard keeper are nervous.

Optimism Grows In Steeler Ranks

Player-coach Pete Ohler is getting more optimistic about his Victoria Steelers' chances at winning a game in the Pacific Football League.

Steelers travel this weekend to Edmonds, Washington, for a game with the Warriors — the fifth league contest for each club — and while Ohler is still cautious about predicting a win, he admits the club's chances look better.

Steelers have lost four straight — but in each game, they've improved, says Ohler. Their two-point loss Saturday at Tacoma was a heart-breaker, and the way Steelers were moving the ball as the game ended was impressive.

The difference between the 28-26 loss they suffered and a winning effort was an experienced convert kicker — which the Victoria club doesn't yet have. During the practice session Tuesday night coach Ohler was lining up his entire team and in rotation they booted the ball, convert-style, toward the goalposts

NEED A GROZA

There were no Lou "The Toe" Groza's out there, but some of the lads were end-over-ending the ball through the uprights with reasonable frequency. Bill Taylor, whose 80-yard gallop gave Steelers their first touchdown Saturday night at Tacoma, showed more of his versatility during the convert session Tuesday. He put the ball over the goalpost as frequently as any of the Steelers.

Ohler used the rest of the practice session to work on running plays and pass patterns — trying to develop a smoother-running machine.

He blames inexperience for most of the difficulty in winning so far this season and looks to presision drills as an equalizer.

PASSING CHANCES

Ohler, who also quarterbacks the club, is apparently making some alterations in his pass patterns — at least as far as blocking is concerned. To date, he hasn't been getting that five-to-seven seconds a passer needs to find the best receiver. Pete wants a pocket to work out of — instead of scrambling all over the gridiron trying to find a receiver while he's snake-hipping his way out of the hands of 250-pound tackles.

* * *

SHORT PUNTS: Biggest concern this week is how well the injuries received in Tacoma heal . . . fleet halfback Jim Pannell is nursing a badly bruised heel . . . big tackle Gord Goodwin, the Southern Cal boy, got slammed hard in a kidney during the bruising fourth quarter Saturday . . . Ohler has tendon troubles in his throwing arm . . . Ross Seanton's knee is swollen like a balloon.

* * *

Steeler prexy Ken Hole and general manager Pat Frumento had as their guests on the Tacoma trip ex-Lion coach Frank Johnston and Lion minor football co-ordinator Denny Veitch. Both guests were impressed with the calibre of play in the PFL . . . Steelers brass still aren't commenting on speculation that Johnston will join the organization here . . . but they are expecting to get two or three more top Lion prospects in the Steeler lineup before the season ends.

* * *

Season tickets sales are booming and the Steelers are looking for one of the biggest sport crowds in Victoria's hostory to attend their next home game — Oct. 15 at Macdonald Park against Eugene Bombers, the league leaders. A "rilly big shew" is planned for halftime — including a massed bands effort.

Breeders Meet Friday

President Les Gilmore and secretary Gordon Dudley will be present Friday when the only Island meeting of the B.C. Breeders' Association is held at the Sidney TravelLodge at 7:30 p.m.

Dempsey Back After Injury

REGINA (CP)— Linebacker Wally Dempsey, who had missed 60 days of activity with Saskatchewan Roughriders since he injured his knee in the opening game of the schedule has been returned to the active roster of the Western Football Conference Leaders.

Buddy Joe Eilers was dropped from the team to make room on the import roster for Dempsey.

Dempsey's knee is not completely healed and workouts this week were to determine if he plays Saturday against Calgary Stampeders.

A cast was taken off quarterback Ron Lancaster's ankle Tuesday and doctors asked him to exercise the ankle for one or two days to see if stiffness and soreness decreased. If not, the ankle will be put back in a cast.

Lancaster received the sprained ankle Sunday against Winnipeg and coach Eagle Keys is operating on the premise he will not play Saturday.

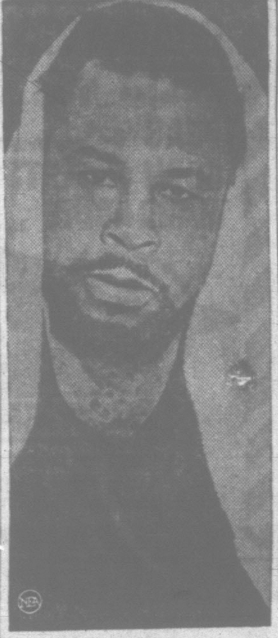
CAHA Stand to Set Hockey 'Back 40 Years'—Boucher

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—The Canadian Major Junior Hockey League, embracing seven teams in Alberta and Saskatchewan, may play outside the rules and regulations of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association this season.

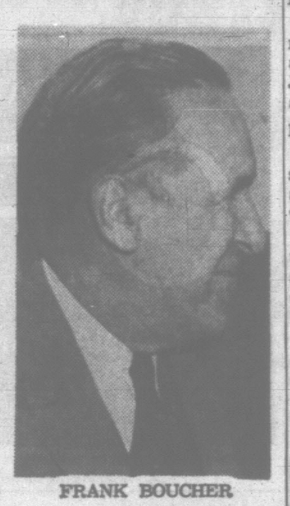


GUEST REFEREE role at next Tuesday's professional wrestling card will bring former world heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore to Victoria. Four bouts are scheduled on Memorial Arena card scheduled to start at 8:15 p.m.

The league meets today in Regina to discuss refusal by the CAHA during the weekend to grant the league affiliation.

CMJHL commissioner Frank Boucher of Regina said in a telephone interview Tuesday that as far as he was concerned the CAHA is discriminating against junior hockey in Alberta and Saskatchewan and the only alternative seems to play outside CAHA regulations.

The new junior league is operated by a board of governors comprised of franchise holders from each of the seven league members: Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Weyburn and Estevan.



FRANK BOUCHER

UNACCEPTABLE

Following a meeting Sunday in Toronto, the CAHA executive confirmed a decision made in July by its executive committee ruling the league unacceptable to the association

The CAH directed its Saskatchewan branch to continue to operate the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League with the same members as last season. The CAHA ruled that during the 1965-67 season no league would be formed that would include teams from both Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The new league earlier received permission to form from the Alberta and Saskatchewan branches, which under CAHA regulations have right to do so.

DISCRIMINATION

"The CAHA has over-ruled the two branches on a decision which they are entitled to make," Boucher said, "and as far as I am concerned, the CAHA is discriminating against junior hockey in the two branches."

He said the Western Canada Senior Hockey League engages in inter-provincial play under the same rule the Canadian Major Hockey League was formed. The Ontario Hockey Association junior series also permits Montreal Canadiens to play in the league under the same regulations.

BACKWARD MOVE

Relying to a statement Monday in Calgary by Stu Peppard, president of the Alberta branch, that the CAHA seeks to eliminate inter - provincial leagues next season, Boucher said, "the CAHA is trying to take hockey back 40 years behind its times.

"We have told the CAHA a dozen times we would play outside of its control if the executive refused to recognize affiliation."

The league is scheduled to open play Friday with three games.

Plans released two weeks ago called for a 56-game schedule for each team.

Tingay Rates King, Santana World's Best

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King of Alhambra, Calif., was named the No. 1 woman tennis player in the world for 1966 Tuesday by Lance Tingay of the London Daily Telegraph.

Tingay annually ranks the world's best and his choices are the closest approach to an unofficial world list.

Margaret Smith of Australia was placed No. 2, with Maria Bueno of Brazil third.

Manuel Santana of Spain was rated No. 1 among the men, with Fred Stolle of Australia at No. 2. Roy Emerson, another Australian, was third.

AT NEW HAMPSHIRE

Nineteen Suspended By Race Commission

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Nineteen drivers were suspended Tuesday by the New Hampshire Racing Commission following an investigation of alleged improper activities at Hinsdale Raceway.

All are barred, with their horses, from "access to race-tracks in New Hampshire for the duration of their periods of suspension."

The commission said the suspensions range from 30 days to the end of next year.

All 19 suspensions involve questioned races of June 25, July 9 and July 30. All the drivers had U.S. addresses. Fifteen of the 19 had been suspended indefinitely by the Hinsdale Board of Judges.

The suspension of James C. Smith of Danville, N.H., was sustained by the commission. The Hinsdale judges had imposed an indefinite suspension on Smith — the state's star witness in the investigation — for his "admitted part in alleged 'fixes' in the June 25 and July 30 races and unsuccessful manipulation of the July 9 race."

Lawyer Arthur Olson Jr. said he would file a suit for damages for "illegal suspension because they (the drivers) were not given a hearing prior to the suspensions" by the Hinsdale track judges.

Olson represents six of the drivers and led the defence at the racing commission hearings.

AT WOODBINE

George Royal Blaezs Home

TORONTO (CP) — George Royal, Canada's most celebrated thoroughbred since Northern Dancer, continued his steady march to the Canadian Championship by beating Canadillis and Sirius 2nd to win the sixth race Tuesday at Woodbine.

The five-year-old, owned by Ernie Hammond and Bob Hall of Vancouver, displayed one of the most devastating finishing kicks seen at Woodbine. He flashed from 20 lengths behind to win easily in a seven furlong turf race.

Track Star Honored

LONDON (Reuters)—Olympic broad jump champion Lynn Davies has been picked as British Athlete-of-the-Year by unanimous vote of the British Athletics Writers' Association. Davies won the European and Commonwealth titles this season.

Sain and Naragon Fill Tiger Spots

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Detroit Tigers have filled two more coaching positions by signing Johnny Sain and Hal Naragon, both with Minnesota Twins this season.

Sain, a pitching coach, and Naragon, a bullpen coach, replace Stubby Overmire and Mike Roarke, released by the Tigers, but still in the Detroit organization.

New Coach Pleased With Haida Talent

Darrel Lorimer picked up the coaching reins of Victoria Haida Chiefs this week and quickly predicted the Haidas would be strong contenders in the Senior A Intercity Basketball League.

Former scoring champion of the Inter-City circuit and again expected to swing a big punch on attack for the Chiefs, the slender, six-five Lorimer will be attempting to blend at least three new Victorians into the Haida ranks.

One of them will be guard Jack Lus, a standout with the Winnipeg team that finished in second place in the 1964 national championship in Alberni.

Another is Skip Cronk, a six-two guard who has graduated from junior ranks after playing with Calgary Mount Royal Cougars in the national junior tournament here last spring.

Also shooting for a berth with the Chiefs is Bill Taylor, swift, 18-year-old halfback with Victoria Steelers of the Pacific Football League. Taylor formerly starred with the Garfield High School team in Seattle.

Lorimer and club manager John Devlin are also finding some regulars among several youthful Victorians invited to work out with the Chiefs.

CHINLLK GRADUATES

Among them is tall Ross Swanton, former Mount View High Hornet, who also plays with the Steelers.

Also given a good chance of regular toil with the Haidas are three graduates of the Chinooks, Victoria's classy junior squad — John Allen, Ron Bowker, and Ken Jackson.

Joining Lorimer among the returnees from last year's team are Ken Gregory, Mike Gallo, John McKeachie, Chuck Bennett and Lohn Lauvaas.

EXCELLENT BALLANCE

Chiefs have not yet obtained a sponsor but Devlin expects to announce sponsorship plans within 10 days.

Lorimer is currently sending the Chiefs through practice sessions Tuesdays and Thursdays at Oak Bay High. The workouts start at 8:30 p.m.

"With the talent we have available," says Lorimer, "this could be the best club the Chiefs have ever assembled. We should have excellent balance and good bench strenght."

COWICHAN ANGLERS' MAIN COURSE IS COHO

Coho salmon will be the main course on the Cowichan Bay menu for Thanksgiving weekend.

The Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's Centennial Coho Derby gets under way Saturday and winds up Monday.

Prizes include a daily cash award of $100 to the angler weighing in the heaviest fish of the day.

Fish must be taken in Cowichan Bay, with an area extending from Hatch Point on Vancouver Island to Keppel Cape on Salt Spring Island, and waters of Sansum Narrows to a line from Bold Bluff to Octopus Point.

Only artificial lures will be allowed.

Tight Cash Situation Tips Chairlift Plans

The current tight money situation is forcing a delay in construction of a new chairlift on Green Mountain.

That was the report from Green Mountain Ski Company president Dr. Dave Philip to the Victoris Sno-Birds Ski Club.

Dr. Philip said the company recently purchased two new snowmobiles; has widened and improved the road to the ski area, and also has improved parking facilities to hold 250 cars.

The company also has appointed Norm Smith, formerly of Jasper, as the new hill manager.

Other details of developments will be reoprted to Sno-Bird members at the club's annual meeting tonight at 1528 Cook Street, starting at 8.

Field Hockey Reps Selected

Two Vancouver Island representative women's teams have been chosen to play an exhibition game at the B.C. inter-high school field hockey tournament Nov. 26.

The teams:

First team—Joy Speight, Jean Phibbs, Ruth Trelawney, Pat Clark, Nita Hibbert, Jill Lindown, Ann Price, Nanay Hill, Barbara Graham, Viv Wilkinson, Joan Barber.

Second team—Wendy Bently, Marilyn Murphy, Claudia Ferber, Pat Nicols, Suzanne Bradford, Carol Philips, Nadine Rogers, Marguerite Bradford, Patsy Davies, Vanessa Lodge, Heather Bridgman.

Reserves—Hazel Ravenhill, Nita Moody, Rosemary Penn, Diane Lloyd, G. McKenzie.

Falconer Tops Greenskeepers

Bill Falconer of Uplands scored a net 88 to capture top honors in the Victoria Greenskeepers' 32nd annual golf tournament.

Gorge Vale's Jack Wood was runnerup.

Other prize-winners included Jim Dick, C. A. Smith, Lou Schleppe and Frank Gavan.

WINDERMERE

Father Pat's 'Stolen Church'

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Bessie

Up in in the Kootenays where I did some holidaying recently there's an Anglican church that embodies all the elements of a "who done it" thriller without dead bodies and gore.

It stands in the protecting shadow of tall trees on the edge of Windermere Lake in the tiny community of the same name.

Nearby is a stone monument erected by old-timers in memory of Father Pat (Rev. Henry Irwin) first Anglican missionary in the Kootenays.

He was a power for good in the mountains during construction of the CPR and he was officially known as the "main line missionary."

When the railway was completed through the Selkirks the town of Donald became mountain divisional headquarters and also the centre of government, business and social life in the interior east of Kamloops.

It was natural then that Father Pat should wish to establish a church there.

* * *

In 1887 his wish became fact and the first church of any denomination in the Kootenays opened its doors.

It was the pride of the townsfolk and a thorn in the side of Revelstoke, then a mere whistle-stop where Anglicans were sharing with other denominations the use of the first small schoolhouse for services.

The new church was dedicated on Feb. 24, 1889, by Bishop Shillitoe of the New Westminster Diocese. The bell that called the people to that service was a gift from England's Baroness Burdett-Coutts. (She also gave the old St. John's iron church to Victoria and was a prime mover in sending the bride ships here in early days.)

As far as Donald was concerned the pomp and the glory was short-lived. Ten years later the CPR transferred its divisional headquarters to Revelstoke and it was the turn of that town, at the western end of Columbia River's big bend, to grin.

Not only was the headquarters moved west but also the railway men's homes and household goods.

Even the Odd Fellows Hall was knocked down and taken off and the word went out that the church would be next.

The Synod at New Westminster, with jurisdiction over the Kootenays, hearing of the wholesale removal from town to town, had presented it to Revelstoke.

* * *

This was too much for some Donald residents and especially for Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kimpton, devoted admirers of Father Pat and firm church goers.

Mr. Kimpton who had been a prosperous merchant in Donald had decided against the western move and planned to re-settle in the community of Windermere.

Without whispering a word of his intentions and with no authority from anyone, he had the little church pulled down and moved by rail to Golden. From there it was loaded on a barge and towed by steamer the 100 miles up river to Windermere, where he was waiting to re-erect it.

Anglican churchmen in Golden got in on the story while the church was being moved from rail to barge. They took the Baroness' bell and placed it in their own church.

You can imagine the accusations and the pleadings that went back and forth when all this became public news. For many months the mails were heavy between Revelstoke and Windermere and between there and Golden.

* * *

In the long run, reason prevailed. The bell had really been stolen first by Windermere when it took the church, Golden insisted. Why shout when it was removed a second time.

And anyway, if the hue and cry was maintained it would inevitably lead to the larger issue — the church itself.

So Windermere decided to be content with what it had and the bell remained in Golden, where no doubt it still calls good Anglicans to prayer.

Father Pat continued the mission work he started on the CPR mainline, into the Crowsnest Pass during the laying of track there. And you'll find his name recorded in the history of many communities in that area of the Kootenays.

It's the little church at Windermere however, that is his finest monument, the "stolen" church as it has become known over the years.

The Man Who Can't Work Well May Learn to Drink Too Well

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Bad workmanship often leads to alcohol.

"A man who knows he is doing an inferior job often takes to drink," says an experienced Salvation Army worker—Major Arthur Hopkinson, who runs the Army's social service centre at 521 Johnson Street.

"Every human being needs to feel he can do something well. Without that, drink is the easiest way to self-esteem. It inflames the ego and creates a false sense of importance.

"But when the drink wears off, the drinker feels more inferior than ever; so he starts drinking again. It is the most vicious circle in human life."

With this in mind, Major Hopkinson has persuaded Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto to provide the apparatus for a workshop at his social service centre.

TRADE SHOPS

There will be a paint shop, a repair shop, a welding shop and separate benches for woodwork and electrical appliances.

"We hope that every man who stays with us will use these facilities," Major Hopkinson said. "If he lacks ability or aptitude we shall go all out to help him acquire it, and that, in my experience, is the best therapy of all."

In their Salvation Army work, Major and Mrs. Hopkinson have been associated with alcoholics for more than 20 years.

They have worked with them, and for them, in many province of Canada and have made hundreds of friends who write to them all the year round.

"We have found that some of the nicest people God ever made were alcoholics. They were people who had suffered deep hurts and humiliations, or had a feeling they were unable to cope with life."

MRS. HOPKINSON

MAJOR HOPKINSON

Are they disheartened when converts relapse into their old habits?

"No," says Major Hopkinson. "A true Salvationist should never be disheartened, with the example of Christ before him. But I'll admit we are disappointed sometimes.

"You rescue a man from Skid Road and get him working at something useful and then, suddenly, he's upset over something or other and rushes back to the bottle.

"If we abandoned him as hopeless, we'd be false to our calling. We must keep on working with him."

Major Hopkinson believes many alcoholics are over-sensitive people who are too much pre-occupied with themselves.

HE HAD TO DRINK

"We had one man who was so shy he told us he had to get drunk before he could converse with other people — and he had to get drunk in order to get married.

"It's easy to laugh at such people. But their need is as great as ours. They have to contend with deep, psychological problems.

"No one has the right to condemn them."

Major Hopkinson admits that wine has been drunk all through the history of mankind. In Bible days it was taken at breakfast, lunch and dinner, and Jesus Christ supplied it at a wedding feast.

"But," he said, "drink has never been the menace that it is today. In North America it is a drug for millions. We are desperately in need of a spiritual revival and a reassessment of moral values.

"We can no longer accept drink as a pleasant social pastime. It is a threat to North American civilization."

VANSTEIN REPORT ENDORSED

$1/2 Million Library Aid Asked

The B.C. Library Association Sunday called for the complete reorganization of the province's library system and an additional half-million dollars a year from the provincial government to help cover library operating expenses.

Meeting in Vancouver the Association, representing nearly 300 libraries throughout the province, unanimously endorsed a report on B.C. public libraries proposing these major changes.

The report was written by Rose Vanstein for the public library commission.

It branded the present seven per cent of operating costs footed by the provincial government "grossly inadequate" and urged the government share be increased to 20 or 25 per cent.

This year the proposal would raise the provincial subsidy from $265,000 to more than $750,000.

13 DISTRICTS

The report also called for the reorganization of libraries across the province into 13 regional districts.

Vancouver Island would be served by a Vancouver Island Regional Library with its headquarters in Nanaimo handling northern library needs and a Greater Victoria Library serving school districts 61, 62 and 63.

Other proposals urged the employment of more specialist librarians for consultation by local libraries and increased financial aid and facilities for school libraries.

The report was endorsed unanimously and the specific proposals approved by the Association.

With the Association's resolutions in hand the public library commission, entrusted with the administration of the province's libraries, is scheduled to meet here today with the provincial secretary to discuss implementation of the plan.

Blackest Month In Traffic

Death of 68 persons in traffic accidents last month was B.C.'s highest monthly toll.

Motor Vehicles Branch Monday reported the deaths arose from 58 crashes and compared with 30 accidents having 31 fatalities during September 1965.

Last month's total topped the previous monthly high of 67 set in December, 1965.

So far this year there have been 391 road deaths in 336 accidents as compared with 338 fatalities in 289 mishaps during the corresponding period last year.

Young Tory Executive Backs Camp Proposals

B.C. Young Conservative executive backed national party leader Dalton Camp at the weekend after Mr. Camp called for a leadership convention in November.

In a meeting here the executive wired Mr. Camp outlining their support for his proposed review of the leadership.

Treasurer Hugh Creighton said the young Conservative membership has the right to question party leadership from time to time.

But the stand was not to be interpreted as a movement against party leader John Diefenbaker as the Ottawa convention draws nearer, he said.

Seven of the nine-member young Tory executive attended the meeting, "first opportunity we've had to discuss the leadership situation," he said.

'PRO-PARTY'

Peter Hyndman, young Conservatives president, said the telegram to Mr. Camp was "A pro-party move," rather than an anti-Diefenbaker move.

"The move is in the best interests of the party, its internal operation and its responsibility to the public," Mr. Hyndman said.

Five young Tory delegates will represent B.C. at the Ottawa meeting.

The leadership turmoil within the Conservative party has shown up in an apparent rift among British Columbia Conservatives.

The University of B.C. Conservatives also sent a wire of support to Mr. Camp.

At the same time, Mrs. Mae Ross, chairman of the Conservative Women of Richmond, said she and 10 helpers have already gathered 10,000 signatures in support of party leader John Diefenbaker.

Mrs. Ross, who says she wants 20,000 signatures from B.C. to Ontario, said she had already received 2,000 signatures from the Yukon alone.

She said she had the signatures of a number of MPs, but wouldn't name them.

Lot of 'Good, Tough Talk' at Conference, Says PM

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson wound up the Commonwealth parliamentary conference Tuesday night by assuring delegates that their meeting had not been, as one speaker suggested, a futile exercise.

Speaking at a Chateau Laurier banquet that ended the six-day meeting, the prime minister said the conference provided a place for the exchange of a lot of "good, tough talk" within delegations as well as between them.

The conference spoke with a strong voice, he said, and was "not a futile exercise as I see it."

Mr. Pearson shared speaking duties with Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who referred to his role in ousting South Africa from the Commonwealth on the grounds that the association had to be "color-blind."

Mr. Pearson mentioned the recent London prime ministers' conference, dominated by the Rhodesian problem, and said the meeting had "faced up" to the problem in a way that would not have been possible a few years ago.

The parliamentary conference, attended by 140 official delegates from 27 countries and territories, started out with a repetition of the London debate on Rhodesia. But it turned after two days to discussions of such bread-and-butter issues as trade and aid, commodity stabilization and parliamentary reform.

The final sessions Tuesday centred on what many delegates considered a top priority item—ways and means of making the world's food resources match the rapidly growing population.

Robert Bradshaw, chief minister of the tiny Caribbean islands of St. Christopher-Nevis Anguilla, summed it up by saying a balance had to be found because "hungry people become angry people and angry people . . . are bound to cause dissent in the world at large."

Mr. Bradshaw said the poorer countries owed it to themselves to regulate the size of their population, because "people are not a commodity to be produced indiscriminately or recklessly . . . in the hope that friendly underpopulated countries will take the surplus."

C. A. Thomasos of Trinidad and Tobago agreed that birth control propaganda should be a first priority of governments, despite overwhelming prejudices about the subject.

Eugene Whelan, Liberal member of Parliament for Essex South, said the problem should be attacked from the direction of better research into food production, processing and storage.

There had been some "startling breakthroughs" in plant breeding, but more money needed to be spent on research.

B.C. Doctors Ask Law On Abortions, Pill Use

DR. HUME
. . . oldest in Canada

TRAIL (CP)—British Columbia doctors Tuesday urged new legislation governing abortion, sterilization and the issuance of contraceptives by doctors.

Delegates to the B.C. Medical Association convention here agreed to a motion by its maternal welfare committee that abortions be made legal provided:

—They are performed by qualified doctors after consultation with and approval of a hospital committee;

—The written consent of the patient is given and in some cases the consent of the husband or guardian;

—The continuance of pregnancy would endanger the life or physical or mental health of the mother.

The motion dealing with sterilization imposed virtually the same conditions.

Doctors agreed on the need for amendments to the Criminal Code giving doctors the right to issue contraceptive devices where they deem necessary.

In other resolutions, doctors agreed there should be a more co-ordinated effort in providing sex education, which is now handled by doctors, churches, some schools and other organizations.

They also proposed that all high school students who wish to participate in contact sports be given a medical examination to cut down on the number of injuries, and that passengers travelling in buses wear safety belts to reduce injuries in collisions.

Banned in Romania

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—Abortion, officially encouraged in the early days of Soviet communism but recently under increasing criticism in the Communist press, has been forbidden in Romania, press reports reaching here said today.

Romania is the first Communist country to ban artificial interruption of pregngancy.

The Romanian Communist party newspaper Scinteia reported that the law of Sept. 39, 1957, which permitted the interruption of pregnancy, was annulled because such operations had bad effects not only on the women concerned but on the health of the entire population. The birth rate also had decreased.

Under the new law, interruption of pregnancy would be permitted in future only in rare cases under certain conditions, the paper said.

Abortion was banned in the Soviet Union in 1936 but made legal again in 1955 provided the operation was carried out in hospital.

Helper Of Jobless Murdered

TORONTO (CP)—Donald Eugene Cooke, 28, of Guelph, Ont., was arrested Tuesday and charged with capital murder in the death of Dr. Rowena G. D. Hume, 88, Canada's oldest woman doctor.

Police said Cooke was arrested by detectives while walking along a Toronto street near the home of the widow.

PART-TIME WORK

Police said the man was registered for part-time work with a charitable organization patronized by Dr. Hume.

Dr. Hume's slashed and bludgeoned body was found Monday on the second-floor landing of her midtown Carlton Street home. Police said she was killed by a blow or a series of blows that fractured her skull, broke her nose and cheekbone and fractured her jaw.

HIRED TRANSIENTS

Friends of the slain doctor told police she often hired transient workers through a Salvation Army hostel to do odd jobs around her 15-room home.

Dr. Hume's home, lavishly furnished with antiques she collected during her long career, was untidy but police could find no evidence it was ransacked.

The body was found by a woman reporter who was to interview her.

Dane Heads Council

PARIS (Reuters) — Danish Foreign Minister Per Haekkerup has been elected president of the North Atlantic Council, a NATO announcement said here Friday. Haekkerup succeeds External Affairs Minister Martin of Canada. The council president serves for one year.

INDIA VETOES ASIA PARLEY ON VIET NAM

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—India Monday announced its refusal to take part in an all-Asian conference aimed at ending the Viet Nam war, because it saw no chance of success.

Indian Foreign Minister Sardar Swaran Singh also expressed forebodings for the Manila summit conference later this month of President Johnson and the Viet Nam allies.

Singh told newsmen the first essential for peace negotiations in the Viet Nam war was the cessasation of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, a point coincidental with Secretary-General Thant's own peace proposals.

Back to Campus For Directors Of City Chamber

Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors go back to college next month when they meet on the university campus for the first time.

University of Victoria president Dr. Malcolm Taylor extended the invitation for the directors' Nov. 18 meeting.

He said it was a gesture toward the business community which had a great deal to do with raising the status of Victoria College to a degree-granting university.

Directors accepted the bid at their September meeting when they asked Dr. Taylor—an honorary director—if an arrangement could be worked out with the university to enable members to hear speakers appearing on campus.

POLICE INVESTIGATING THREE CITY BREAK-INS

City police are investigating three overnight break-ins in the downtown area.

They hadn't made full reports by press time but it is understood the three locations were Mac's 700 Block Parking, 748 Yates; Suzie Q Billiards 860 Yates, and a cafe.

It is not known how much money, if any, was taken from the businesses.

REPLY TO NEIGHBORS

Full Acceptance Asked by Minow

Vern Minow told a group of Rockland Avenue residents Tuesday night that "every time a drug addict dies, the persons who rejected him are partly responsible for his murder."

Mr. Minow wants to establish a rehabilitation centre for addicts in the Rockland residential area. He met the residents to try and counter their objections to his proposal. About 30 were at the meeting.

Some said his centre would reduce property values in the district. Others questioned if he needed a $52,000 house for his work. They said a less expensive house, with a lower cost of upkeep, would serve him just as well.

Mr. Minow replied, "We could get another place but that is not the point. If it doesn't make any difference where the addicts live, why should it make a difference if they live on Rockland?

"How can you measure property values against human life? Jesus had no money. He too was rejected. They finally crucified Him."

One woman remarked, "I have nothing against drug addicts. I simply feel that Rockland should continue as a residential area, I don't think there should be any institutions on this road."

Under questioning, Mr. Minow agreed that his Halfway House in Vancouver "is not located in Shaughnessey Heights."

Mr. Minow said that since he has seen the house at 1715 Rockland, which he has leased at $350 a month, "I haven't considered any other."

FULL ACCEPTANCE

He emphasized he wanted the full acceptance of his neighbors.

One man asked: "Can you assure us you will not proceed unless you are accepted by the neighbors?"

He replied, "I want full acceptance."

Mr. Minow's proposal is dependent on city council rezoning 1715 Rockland. He said it would be possible to get around the need for rezoning by selling shares at a nominal cost to addicts, thereby entitling them to live in the house as part-owners.

At one point he said he hoped he would not have to resort to such a stratagem and at another he seemed to indicate he would not do so under any circumstances.

NOT PERMITTED

City planner Geoffrey Greenhalgh said today the bylaws would not permit this tactic.

"The bylaw allows occupants of one family only, plus four others. The idea you can proliferate by shared ownership is completely fallacious," he said.

The only person who spoke up for Mr. Minow's plans was George Jones, a lawyer who lives a few houses away from 1715 Rockland.

Mr. Jones told his neighbors: "Face facts. There are some responsibilities in life you've got to accept. This is a matter of conscience.

"I'm willing to give him (Minow) a chance. I know addicts are not going to molest my children. I know they are not going to rob this area. I can't see how their presence here will hurt me physically or financially."

MINOW:

Monthly Grant Promised Addicts' Centre

A former drug addict today contradicted statements made about him Tuesday by a top civil servant, the mayor of Vancouver, and a Vancouver doctor.

The statements were reported in Tuesday's Victoria Times in an article about Vern Minow and his attempt to start an addicts' rehabilitation centre in Victoria.

L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, was quoted as saying that Mr. Minow's Vancouver Halfway House does not receive a government grant, contrary to Mr. Minow's claim.

AMAZED

Mr. Minow said today he was amazed at Mr. Wallace's statement. He said he has a letter from Mr. Wallace telling him the government would pay a grant of $1,000 a month to the Vancouver operation, starting Aug. 1 of this year on a trial basis.

Mr. Minow said the government has not yet paid the first month's grant but "will likely deposit the cash" for it some time this week.

Mr. Wallace, who told the Times Tuesday the government is only considering giving the grant, was out of the city this morning and unavailable for comment.

Mr. Minow also contradicted Vancouver's Mayor Rathie who said "it is not a statement of fact," as Mr. Minow claimed, that he endorsed the Halfway House in Vancouver.

SUPPORTED CENTRE

Mr. Minow said that when the Vancouver operation began a year ago, Mayor Rathie publicly came out in support of it, and was quoted to this effect in Vancouver newspapers.

Mr. Minow also objected to statements by a doctor who helps at the Vancouver Halfway House. This doctor said Mr. Minow made excessive claims about his success in helping addicts, although agreeing he did help them.

Mr. Minow said that 65 of the 320 addicts who have gone through the Halfway House have stayed off drugs. He said some have been off narcotics for as long as a year.

BURNING TORCH held by George Whittaker of North Cowichan, was made by dipping paper into the skim from the sea at Maple Bay. The substance has a strong gas odor and there is speculation it may be natural gas seeping up through the ground near the beach. (Times Photo).

Maple Bay Burning With Curiosity Over Flaming Beach

By DON DINGWALL

Nat Staples thinks he may have struck natural gas on Maple Bay beach near Duncan.

He was digging a trench for a retaining wall Tuesday when the friction of his shovel ignited an apparent gas seepage.

North Cowichan municipal councillor George Whittaker, a neighbor, today brought a sample of the liquid and sandy soil to University of Victoria for laboratory tests.

Mr. Staples, a real estate salesman, said: "We don't think we're sitting on a fortune but will certainly check to see who owns the mineral and oil rights on our property."

●

One of the major oil companies has shown an interest in exploring the Maple Bay area in recent months.

A Maple Bay resident wishing to remain anonymous has been trying to buy up the necessary 1,000 acres of oil rights to interest one of the large oil companies.

After the first flame burned out, Mr. Staples put a match to another spot and a blue flame ran along the beach in front of his home.

Mr. Staples, who could smell gas while digging, said: "In a pint of liquid there was an eighth of an inch of oil.

"I think it's a seepage from Quamichan Lake area where it is reckoned there is gas."

●

A disused well at the back of the Staples' property blew up some time ago. Little thought was given to it then.

Mr. Staples said his property was surveyed and registered before 1900 so it must be "awfully close" to escaping the outright grant of mineral and oil rights to the CPR.

"Everyone is joking with us about selling them shares but it's the district we're thinking of in the event of there being a real source of gas.

"This will bring the area prospecting to a head and Maple Bay could be the spot."

Coun. Whittaker said: "There's quite a store of it near the Staples' property as it has been burning for a while.

"It is quite volatile, catching fire readily but I'm not going to make guesses."

Truck Fire Threat At Gas Station

Cecil Holt pressed the starter of his panel truck today — and brought five fire trucks rushing through downtown Victoria.

The moment he started up, flames leaped from the engine of his vehicle, threatening gas pumps only two feet away.

Crowds flocked to the busy corner of Government and Wharf Street as oily black smoke billowed into the air at the top end of the Causeway.

PUMPS SEARED

Heat from the blazing engine seared paintwork on the nearby gas pumps.

But firemen, who arrived within two minutes, doused the flames before they had a chance to take hold.

A California car, parked on the other side of the pumps, suffered slight scorching.

Said Mr. Holt, a self-employed painter, of 2301 Amhurst Avenue, Sidney: "I'd just filled the truck up with gas.

"I started her up and straight away the engine burst into flames. There was nothing I could do.

"My biggest worry was that the flames might spread to the gas pumps."

The heat punctured one of the front tires and badly burned the hood.

Municipalities Given Refunds By Drama Festival

Victoria has received a $978 refund from the organizers of the Dominion Drama Festival held here last spring.

The city had donated $1,610 to the festival as its share of a $4,000 grant based on the inter-municipal formula.

Saanich and Oak Bay, other participants in the grant, have also received refunds with Saanich receiving $842.

Festival organizers said the week-long presentation had greater ticket sales than anticipated and that with considerable voluntary donations its expenses were well below budget figures.

The refunds, as the original grants, were based on percentage figures.

City to Call 'Whoa' On Peninsula Sewer

Sharing of Costs Causing Concern

Victoria has no alternative but to ask the Regional District to go slowly on the implementation of a new trunk sewer system for the Saanich Peninsula.

City manager Dennis Young told a special sewerage study committee this morning the major problem facing area municipalities is an equitable cost-sharing formula.

"This being the case, it seems logical that a hasty decision should not be pressed for," he said.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich has on several occasions called for speedy acceptance of the intermunicipal sewerage study survey.

But before Victoria can go along with a speedy decision, said Mr. Young, "it will be necessary for the details of cost-sharing to be outlined precisely and, because of the magnitude of the undertaking and its effect upon property taxation, the component municipalities will undoubtedly resort to public referendum."

SERVE LONG TIME

Victoria's main concern over the cost-sharing formula lies in the fact that for $3,196,000 it could bring its present sewerage system up to standards to serve the community for years.

If it decided to go along with a regional district cost-sharing formula it would cost city taxpayers $8,888,400 — the lion's share of the total estimated cost of $23 million.

Other problems face Victoria representatives on the regional district board.

Even if they persaude Oak Bay and Esquimalt to go along with city thinking that great caution should be taken before committing taxpayers, they can still be out-voted.

"Recognizing the magnitude of this problem, do I understand that even if Victoria says no to speedy implementation we can be out-voted?" asked Ald Michael Griffin.

"That is correct," answered Mayor A. W. Toone.

60 DAYS

"And then we would have 60 days in which to hold a referendum of our people asking that we opt out of the scheme?" queried Ald. Griffin.

"You would have 60 days from the time the provincial government approved a regional motion calling for the establishment of a regional sewerage board to construct and maintain sewers," said city solicitor T. P. O'Grady.

NO ACTION

Mr. Young said the city must attend the next regional district meeting (next Wednesday) with a plea that the board take no action until every detail of financing is spelled out clearly.

"We should bear in mind that any hasty decision will have to be lived with for the next 50 years," he said. "City representatives should attend next week's meeting without any hasty decision in mind until the letters patent of the district spell out every detail carefully."

Under the construction of the regional district a simple majority vote carries the day.

In addition to calling for caution in approaching a vital but delicate issue, Mr. Young noted that "analysis of alternative methods of implementation (of the sewerage study) may well reveal that the regional district is not the appropriate vehicle for the effective implementation of the many recommendations contained in the study."

City treasurer James Bramley pointed out that to bring city sewers up to top standards—plus giving a boost to the Esquimalt sewerage system — would cost city taxpayers $2,898,000 between now and 1975 and a total of $3 196,000 for the total program.

If Victoria went along with the existing regional cost-sharing formula it would be contributing close to $2 million more than neighboring Saanich, one of the areas to profit most from the proposed new sewerage system.

A complete breakdown of the $23 million under the regional district formula, follows:

Central Saanich, $540,800; Colwood, Langford, Metchosin, $893,500; Esquimalt, $1,246,200; North Saanich, $658,400; Oak Bay, $3,244,900; Saanich, $6,983,700; Sidney, $517,300; Victoria, $8,888,400, and View Royal, $540,800.

City engineer James Garnett noted that the figures used in the survey were based on 1966 construction costs.

"By 1971 they will undoubtedly be much higher, possibly double," he said.

The hour of decision for the regional district comes next Wednesday afternoon when it meets in Saanich Municipal Hall to vote on a Saanich motion: "That the minister of municipal affairs be asked to add to the letters patent authorization for the regional district board to establish as a function the construction and maintenance of trunk sewers as required throughout the area . . . and to assess costs against those areas served by the trunk sewers."

If the motion is approved Victoria has indicated that it will, within 60 days, go to the people of the city asking that the city opt out until the cost-sharing formula is spelled out in detail.

Wrangling Can Kill Sewer Plan

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said Tuesday the massive sewerage report for Greater Victoria "is in some danger of lying on the shelf gathering dust."

At the same time, the proposals put forward "become more urgently needed and incidentally more expensive to implement," he told Victoria Kiwanis club at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

The only logical means of implementing the program is on a regional basis, he said.

"But this is not to suggest for a moment, and I must emphasize this point, that any one municipality should feel that another is likely to shirk its responsibility in the provision of sewers which basically serve that one municipality," he said.

DISMISS FEARS

"I think perhaps that there is this fear in certain quarters and I can only attempt again today to dismiss that fear as being unfounded.

"Saanich, as an example, has major sewer construction which we must undertake in the very near future.

The problem faced today, and in the past, is disposal of sewage.

If the disposal line crosses one municipal boundary and continues to collect local sewage, "then it seems only reasonable that another municipality or municipalities in addition to Saanich should share in the cost of that final disposal route to the sea."

COST SHARING

The reeve said the regional district board, of which he is chairman, may begin to cope with cost-sharing arrangements at its next meeting.

He repeated earlier comments that it would be "little short of irresponsible if we were to engage in endless and detailed petty wrangling over every last percentage of cost."

Reeve Curtis also reviewed the history of the regional district board — especially purchase of regional park land — and praised the mini-metro concept.

VANDALS AGAIN HIT CEMETERY

Five more tombstones at Ross Bay Cemetery have been toppled and one of them shattered.

Caretaker Ralph Ricketts, reporting the damage to city police Tuesday, added that a small tree near the cemetery's May Street entrance had also been uprooted.

Police patrols began giving the cemetery special attention in August after 39 headstonnes were toppled, smashed or chipped by vandals.

No estimate of damage was made then but some of the damaged grave markers were reported to have cost thousands of dollars and were described as "irreplaceable."

The 27½-acre cemetery was started in 1872. Lying between Dallas Road and Fairfield, all plots have been sold though some are still not filled. There are about three burials a month.

MBE WINNER DIES

Padre Had a Way With Sailing Men

One of Victoria's best-known navy padres, Rev. George Lea Gillard, MBE, died Tuesday in King's Daughter's Hospital at Duncan.

He was 65.

Until his retirement in 1957, Padre Gillard was Command Chaplain to the Royal Canadian Navy at Esquimalt. He served aboard the Canadian supply ship Prince David during the Second World War and landed with the Navy at Normandy on D-Day, 1944.

He was awarded the MBE for "faithful service ashore and at sea, upholding the high traditions of the church and the chaplain service."

"WONDERFUL WAY"

"He had a wonderful way with sailors," an RCN spokesman said today. "They treated him more as a friend than an officer and the friendships he made continued until his death."

After retirement Padre Gillard ministered to the United churches at Mill Bay and Shawnigan Lake where he lived. He was also an associate minister of Metropolitan United Church in Victoria.

Born at Newfoundland, Padre Gillard served with the RCN at Halifax, N.S., and in the Labrador mission field before coming to the Pacific Coast. He was for several years active in the United Church West Coast Mission.

He was a member and former commodore of the Royal Canadian Navy Sailing Association; a member of the Philae Temple Shrine, Halifax; a past-president of the Malahat district branch, Royal Canadian Legion; a member of the United Services Lodge, AF and AM, and chaplain to Victoria Shrine Club.

Padre Gillard is survived by the widow, Grace; a son, Charles, and a daughter, Marie, at Shawnigan Lake; a daughter, Elthea, in Vienna and a son, Howard, with the RCMP, Ottawa; three brothers, Baxter, Pleman and Robert at Englee, Newfoundland; four sisters, Mrs. Paul Lilley at Lewisporte, Newfoundland; Mrs. C. Simms at St. Catharines, Ont.; Mrs. A. Layton at Powel River, B.C., and Mrs. J. Luther, Toronto.

FUNERAL FRIDAY

Rev. Albert E. King, Rev. E. Laura Butler and Rev. U. Laite will conduct funeral services in Metropolitan United Church Friday at 3 p.m. Clergymen and chaplains of the Royal Canadian Navy will act as pallbearers.

Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park, with McCall Brothers in charge of arrangements.

Fawn Shooting Man Fined $35

A man who said he "accidently" shot a fawn Sept. 10 was fined $35 today when he appeared in central court.

"It could scarcely have been accidental," said Magistrate William Ostler after John Kelly, 213 Ganges Crescent, pleaded guilty to possessing game out of season.

Kelly told the court he took the deer in the Sooke area.

Ask The Times

Q. By the recent census, what are the three largest cities in Canada and how do they compare? H.M.

A. Metropolitan Montreal is still the largest city in Canada with 2,418,984 population and Toronto trails with 2,145,637. Vancouver is well behind in third place with 884,095. Figures for city proper areas are proportionately lower.

Q. I am a 61-year-old widow. Can I hope for any benefits under the Canada Pension Plan? B.M.N.

A. Survivor benefits do not begin until February, 1968, as the contributor must have paid into the plan over a minimum of three years. The plan began only last January.

OFF TO AID mental research, octopus is loaded into barrel by diver John McGuire.

THEY'LL DIE FOR SCIENCE

Two Victoria octopuses may play an important role in developing a cure for mental illness.

They left their pen at Undersea Gardens today for Riverview mental hospital near New Westminister.

Within a few days they'll be dead.

But in dying they could play an important part in devising a breakthrough in the field of mental disorder.

The hospital's Dr. Tony Greiner is interested in the inky fluid the octopuses eject in times of trouble.

He believes some of the properties contained in the fluid might be used to scientific advantages.

NO SQUIDS

Said a hospital spokesman today: "At first we hoped to use a squid in this experiment. But no squids could be found.

"The Undersea Gardens was the only place we could find with live octopuses and they agreed to send us a couple of specimens."

All being well, the octopuses, one of 70 pounds, the other a 20-pounder, will still be alive when they arrive.

To keep them quiet during the truck journey to the mainland, they were packed in ice-cold water in plastic barrels.

Said an Undersea Gardens spokesman: "Neither was expected to live much more than a week. Herbie (the Gardens pet seal) took a bite out of one.

"And the other was too small."

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

DEAR ABBY . . .

Above and Beyond The Call of Duty

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, living alone. A prowler broke into my apartment about two months ago. A police investigation followed. Now the investigating officer is making a pest of himself. He drops in for coffee any time he feels like it. He talks incessantly about his domestic problems and his children. Recently he has made some very cutting remarks about his wife from whom he says he is separated.

He has even maneuvered a couple of home-cooked dinners by dropping in at meal time. I am afraid if I give him the axe any other married man would have received in the beginning, all future calls for help from the police department might be ignored. How can I get rid of him? STUCK

DEAR STUCK: Thank the man for his diligence as a police officer, but tell him you would prefer he not continue to drop in. And if he doesn't get the message, tell the chief. That should end it and keep the record straight for the future.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for two years and already she is tired of me. She swears she still loves me as much as ever, but what am I supposed to believe when she tells me she wants twin beds? We are moving from our small apartment into a little house and the question of a bedroom suite came up.

That's when she told me she wanted twin beds. Before we were married we agreed on a double bed, and she seemed satisfied. I have argued all I can. She insists that we will both sleep better in twin beds. Maybe SHE will, but I am hurt. MICKY

DEAR MICKY: If she swears she still loves you, what do you want, an affidavit? Remember you agreed on a double bed BEFORE you were married, so you can't blame her for not knowing your sleeping habits. Maybe you snore, hog the bed or snatch the blankets. Quit arguing. Absence could make the heart grow fonder.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly how should a minister's wife dress in this day and age? I get so much criticism I hate to go out of the house.

Is there anything wrong with a sheath dress, which is neither too short nor too tight, but is sleeveless? And shouldn't a minister's wife be able to wear colors? (People would like to see me in black all the time, I'm told.) And isn't it permissible for a minister's wife to wear pale pink lipstick and matching nail polish on occasion? And when all the other women in the congregation wear nylons and heels, what is a minister's wife supposed to wear — high button shoes and lisle stockings?

I wear jeans or shorts when I garden and a swim suit when I swim, just like any other woman. Your published answer would be very much appreciated by me as well as other ministers' wives, I'm sure. Thank you. SICK OF CRITICS

DEAR SICK: Your ideas of what to wear and when to wear it sound natural and reasonable to me. Be yourself and ignore the critics' cat calls. That should be acceptable in the living church of today.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILL: It's always a good practice to be nice to the people you meet on your way up. You're bound to meet them on your way down.

Party Circuit

A round of parties and showers has heralded the marriage of Miss Joanne Mielen, to take place this coming Friday evening.

There were 16 present when her co-workers at the Royal London Wax Museum held a shower in the Crystal Garden.

The bride-elect's former school friends at Mt. View Senior Secondary School were the guests when Mrs. W. Ranson gave a shower in her home on Roseridge Place. There were 15 guests.

Mrs. A. Hooker, mother of the chosen bridesmaid, gave a shower in her Ansell Street home. Gifts from the 12 guests were concealed in a wishing well.

Sixteen guests attended a staple shower given by Mrs. N. Thompson in her Fernridge Place home. A clothes basket contained the gifts.

The Rockcrest home of Miss Linda Burrows was scene of another shower, attended by 15 guests.

Mrs. A. R. Beadle entertained at a tea in the Olde England Inn. It was attended by 16 guests.

Cups and saucers were presented to the bride-elect when Mrs. Hooker gave a tea in her Ansell Street home.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Your Collected Items Are Useful with This

By Penny Saver

Are you a collector by nature? Most people are. Collections range from little pieces of string that the housewife thinks will be necessary "some day", sea shell collections of youngsters to dad's store of lengths of boards and cans of half-used paint. Dad's collection is the only one that doesn't get "weeded out" very often because it is usually hoarded away in the basement or in a garage. Going through the rafts of things in our basement, I found just the paint that I wanted to do a touch-up job in the living-room.

It was a perfect color but the paint had been stored away for ages. Paint skin and dust seemed to be the major component. In one store, I found a paint strainer just made for reviving old paint. These are cardboard cones with fine mesh at the bottom to catch any particles that may have accumulated in the paint These sell for seven cents each. Pick some up today.

An item to help with the actual painting process is a metal guard that prevents you from painting window panes when you're doing the sashes. This looks somewhat like a piece of a Venetian blind with a handle. Place it on the window right up to the sash and paint away. This is a boon to all intricate painting tasks. Use it to paint where the ceiling and wall join, or for doors that you're painting in two colors. These sell for 35 cents each.

Another type of sash painter has a guard. This leaves about an eighth of an inch between the two different surfaces, making sure that the part that isn't to be painted has no marks on it. These are priced at 39 cents.

Little packages of glitter for home decor sell for 25 cents. These are ideal for some lamp bases with a creative touch, children's wooden toys and rafts of other things.

In the process of redecorating? Give Penny a call at 382-3131 and she'll tell you where she found these items.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MINTY PEAR PARTY PIE

Crust: Butter to grease pie plate, approx. 30 vanilla wafers.

Filling: Eight pears halves, 1 cup apple juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 pkg. lime gelatine dessert, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon creme de menthe liqueur.

Grease nine or 10-inch pie plate with butter. Arrange cookies, flat side down, over bottom and sides of pie plate, breaking a few cookies into pieces to fill in spaces in bottom of shell. Chill.

Add lemon juice to apple juice. Dip peeled pear halves carefully into this mixture. Drain thoroughly reserving juice. Heat juice. Pour hot juice over gelatine dessert powder. Stir to dissolve. Cool. Add creme de menthe to gelatine. Chill until syrupy. Tint pears, first with a little extra creme de menthe, then with green food coloring which has been mixed with water. When gelatine mixture is thick and syrupy, beat with a rotary beater till light. Fold in cream which has been beaten till stiff. Chill until a spoonful of this mixture will mound.

Heap into pie shell. Chill till almost firm. Garnish with pear halves by arranging them in spoke fashion on pie. Chill. Serves eight.

Ginger Rogers Didn't Appear . . . But Nobody Appeared to Mind

By PAT DUFOUR

Bewitched, bothered and bewildered . . . that was the only way to describe this reporter's reaction as she watched the curtain ring up at the McPherson Playhouse, Tuesday evening.

The music was "Hello Dolly," the setting was reminiscent of Broadway and I sat on the edge of my seat, waiting for Ginger Rogers to whirl on stage and step her way into her first number!

Instead, Roy Silver sang the lead song and effectively got the show underway by animating a chorus line of the cutest little "dolls" to ever grace the boards.

The Raggedy-Anne dolls stood immobile until the singer, one by one, set them in motion by "winding them up" with a huge silver key. The show was on and, although it wasn't "Hello Dolly" but Woodward's "Autumn and You" fashion show, the next two hours were as bewitching as Broadway and the 104 outfits shown left me as bewildered as I felt at curtain time. The fashions ran the gamut, the colors had me wishing I was a modern-day Emily Carr and the variety had me wondering about my perceptive senses. Fashion-bug as I am, whenever the budget allows, I never seem to be able to discover such haute couture charmers when I go shopping, 'mad money' in my hot little hand!

SENSES DAZZLED

There were styles to dazzle the senses. For other addicts like myself who cannot resist the lure of tweed, there was a dramatic formal ensemble that teamed a fluttery deep pink chiffon gown with an evening tweed full-length wrap that was styled with a flattering Queen Anne collar and lined with the same gorgeous chiffon. Also for the 'tweedy set' was the pencil-slim hostess skirt of delicately shaded wool that teamed with a feminine shirt for the final touch. I swear that nobody would notice that the canapes had become party-jaded if the hostess slinked around in this outfit!

Our own West Coast designers showed they could measure up to the best of them. There were suits and outfits that made you want to hum, "C'est magnifique!" The colors were soft and seductive and the tailoring, subtle and flattering.

Naturally, the international world of haute couture was well represented with fashions from Italy, Israel, Hong Kong and Ireland, the latter bearing no similarity at all to the homespun variety one associates with bog-skirted cottages and pig-visited kitchens!

GREEN AND BLACK

One of the most striking of these was the Irish outfit that had a smart-as-paint walking suit in green and black tweed excitingly shown with a chapeau of rich green velvet.

On the subject of hats . . . they're back, right on the backs of our heads, some with flapper-like brims and others in dome and helmet shape. Even the males have been robbed for haute couture's sake this year . . . the fedora is in, but definitely!

Furs, both real and fake, are jockeying for popularity. I fell completely for a stunning chapeau in pale pink beaver.

For those who love slims but are not too sure that their legs profit from the "affair," there's good news. This year's slims have remembered that we're women, not race horses, and are styled with a feminine curve in the right places.

Pant-suits, both for the high-school set and we who said good-bye to our Alma Mater years ago, are proving that you can look just as alluring in these as in the good old conventional well-cut suit.

Suede is big news this year, appearing as trim and in coats that come in every color on an artist's palette. One pant suit in green suede had me fumbling for excuses to buy it as soon as it appeared on stage!

Evening gowns that shimmered with sequins added zest to the final act of this fast-moving show that gave every age group a chance to get excited. Kooky earrings and outfits for the teen-ager, way-out sleepers for her pyjama parties, chiffon floats (designed to make a Marie Anitonette out of a school-aged devotee), all helped to ensure that Mom wasn't the only one to appreciate this extravaganza.

The commentator, Joan Fraser of Woodward's, was completely upstaged at one point when three "cheer-leaders," introduced as the Young Snappers, rah-rahed in their own set of swinging styles.

Showing the "cast" of fashion's finest were Linda Emery, Rosalie Essibos, Betty Forgie, Joan Thompson, Kip Wallis, Judy Dalrymple, Verneice Bevis, Maude Parks, assisted by the members of the store's Teen Fashion Council, Janice Hall, Linda McNeil, Daphne Louis, Marilynn McGowan, Judy McConnan, Susan Litwin, Nola Flynn, Gail Vaughan, Mary Brown, Nedra Potter, Beverly Letson, Emily Robinson, Lisanne Harris, Sally Glover, Shannon Mair and Lora Beth Trail.

MALE MODELS

Fashions for the man on campus were shown by Les Badham and Dennis Carpenter while children's charmers were delightfully displayed by Karen Selesky, Susan and Joan Carruthers, Brenda Boyd.

The evening show was sponsored by Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, with Mrs. B. Yates acting as chairman and being assisted by Miss Pat Prince and Mrs. R. McKenzie. A "matinee," held on the same day, was sponsored by Job's Daughters DeMolay Temple Society.

Creating theatrical magic with stage designs and properties was William L. Paterson. Organist was Mrs. J. Crawford.

And, although Ginger Rogers never did decide to do the honors, it did't matter a bit by the time the curtain rang down. We'd had our surfeit of stars anyway!

Receives Names

A christening gown, made by the baby's great-aunt in New Zealand, was worn by Jacqueline Agnes Hedger, recently, when she was baptized in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Salt Spring Island. She is the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Hedger, Walter Hook Road, Salt Spring. Godparents are the baby's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Graeme White of Cowichan Bay, and Miss Judith Whitmore, New Zealand. Paternal grandmother Mrs. Alan Hedger was proxy for Miss Whitmore. Maternal grandmother Mrs. A. White travelled from her home in Auckland, N.Z., for the ceremony. A family luncheon followed in the home of the baby's parents, where a christening cake, made by the paternal grandmother, centred the refreshment table.

Worker Feted

A gift of earrings, made from Salt Spring Island rhodonite, was presented to Mrs. Beverley Gibson by mothers of children attending St. Mary's Anglican Church's Sunday school when they held a social evening in the Fulford Harbor home of Mrs. William Mossop. Mrs. Gibson, who leaves shortly to take up a nursing position in Vancouver, has been a leader in sports and youth work on the island.

Group Gives Orthopedic Chairs For Use of Veteran Patients

As their annual project, the Women's Auxiliary to the Veteran's Hospital donated 12 orthopedic chairs and six matching ottomans to the hospital. In her report at the annual meeting of the auxiliary held in the hospital Monday afternoon, treasurer Mrs. Henry Jarvis stated that the chairs amounted to $889.75.

The auxiliary provided birthday parties for 114 veterans during the last year, and had a picnic for them.

Total receipts in the general fund in September were $4,954.93. Expenditures for the 1965-66 season amounted to $4,356.33, leaving a balance of $598.60. The bank balance on September 1, 1965 was $2,034.62 as compared to a balance of $2,633.22 on August 1 of this year.

The secretary's report was given by Mrs. R. Lott. She stated that proceeds from the dogwood festival and the annual sherry party were used for the chairs. She reported that there are 107 active and 43 associate members.

Mrs. Philip A. Hole, corresponding secretary in 1965-66, reported that 98 letters had been written during her term of office. Mrs. F. R. Roberts gave a presidential report.

Mrs. Roberts was re-elected as president for the new term. Other re-installed officers were treasurer, Mrs. Jarvis, and Mrs. Philip A. Hole, recording secretary. Mrs. S. I. Willoughby is second vice-president, and Mrs. R. Lott, corresponding secretary

Honorary presidents are Mrs. George R. Pearkes and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett.

Rev. Douglas Patrick gave the benediction.

Candelabra with yellow candles and an arrangement of yellow and white flowers decorated the refreshment table at the tea following in the men's lounge. Miss Ruth Cowper, matron, and Mrs. Mary Flemming presided. Mrs. Ethel Vant was tea convener.

Invited guests attending the annual meeting and tea were Dr. W. M. Coke, medical superintendant of the hospital, E. S. Cassels, recreation supervisor, and Rev. Patrick.

LEWIS-TOANE MARRIAGE

A wedding of wide interest to many in Victoria took place in Emmanuel Anglican Church, Gibbons, Alta., when Jo Ann Bea Toane became the bride of FO Theodore Willard Lewis, RCAF, France.

Rev. Noel Patterson heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Earl Toane of Gibbons, and the son of Mrs. T. W. Lewis, 1816 Adanac Street, Victoria. The church was decorated with roses and petunias, and white and red gladioli were at the altar for the ceremony.

During the signing of the register, Miss Audrey Allen sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by organist Mrs. Emily Oliver.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy bonded crepe, lined with silk. The empire-line gown featured lantern sleeves, trimmed with lace medallions. Similar accents bordered the coat train. Her two-tier veil misted to her shoulders from a circlet of lace medallions and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Orlie Conn was matron of honor for her sister in a floor-length gown of blue bonded crepe, fashioned with an over-skirt extending from the empire waistline. Bridesmatron Mrs. T. Lylyk and bridesmaid, Miss Alice Lewis, sister of the groom, were in similar outfits. They carried semi-crescent bouquets of blue and pink chrysanthemums.

The little flower girl, Jeanna Conn, wore a sleeveless gown of white bonded lace, and carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations.

Best man was FO Douglas Hill and ushering were Harvey Lewis, Robert and Geoffrey Toane, brothers of the principals, and Kenneth Sobkowich, Calgary.

Jack Milligan proposed the toast to the bride at the reception following in the Rosslyn Hotel, Edmonton. The three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table was flanked by pink sweetheart roses and fern. Steve Sobkowich was master of ceremonies.

For travelling on honeymoon to France, where they will be making their new home, the bride donned a two-piece red wool suit, accented with black accessories and a corsage of red roses and feathered white carnations.

Travelling from Victoria for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. Christofferson and Beth; and from Bralorne, B.C., was Mrs. A. L. Pedlow.

Make Final Plans

Final plans for the group's annual bazaar will be made when the Catholic Women's League, Queen of Peace Council, meets tonight at 8 p.m. in the parish hall, 849 Old Esquimalt Road.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

For years now the incidence of varicose veins has been on the increase. Many authorities feel that this is due to lack of walking, to sitting occupations, to occupations which require long periods of standing, to the overall inactivity of modern society. Here is a quote from a specialist.

"A high percentage of our patients have symptoms of venous insufficiency such as cramps, pains, burning sensations, numbness and tingling. These symptoms, if neglected, may lead to varicose veins and latent phlebitis. Modern podiatry treatments have been spectacular in relieving such symptoms and preventing more serious complications.

"Since the return flow of blood is dependent, as least partially, on the action of the muscles surrounding the veins, walking is an important function

"However, when a patient is faced with pain with each step or aches and cramps at night, he is likely to gradually give up walking and give in to the condition. Most patients honestly think that they are doing the right thing. The opposite is true.

"The less they walk the less pressure in the veins and the less return blood flow, the more congestion in the veins. The more congestion the more degeneration and pain. The more pain the less walking. Proper treatment of the feet can often break this cycle."

So, during lovely fall weather, put on some well-fitted walking shoes, and walk, for the good of your veins, your health, the soles of your feet, and your soul!

Specialized exercises are good preventive measures against future foot trouble. Try this one. Sit on the floor. Place your hands on the floor behind you and lean on them. Bend your knees and place your feet flat on the floor, fairly close to the hips. Inch the feet forward by pulling forward with the toes, feet back to starting position. Repeat six times the first day and increase to 15 times daily.

If you would like to have my exercises for the feet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Accents Of Lace

Chantilly lace highlighted the gown of ligoda worn by Diane Marilyn Latimer, recently, when she became the bride of Kenneth George Freeman, 5199 Sark Road.

The gown was fashioned with a full train which swept back from a bridal bow at the waistline, and the fitted bodice featured a bateau neckline and sleeves to the elbow. Her tiered veil of silk illusion net misted softly from a coronet of crystal droplets and pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of rapture roses and white carnations. The groom's gift of pearls was her only jewelry.

St. Dunstan's Anglican Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and pink carnations with pink roses at the altar when Archdeacon A. E. Hendy heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas William Latimer, 1741 Ash Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Freeman of Lake Cowichan. Mr. Latimer gave his daughter in marriage.

During the signing of the register, soloist Ron Webb sang "The Twenty-Third Psalm," accompanied by organist M. V. Green.

SEA-BLUE GOWNS

The groom's sister Miss Beth Freeman was maid of honor and Miss Carley Hutton was bridesmaid in sea-blue gowns of organza over taffeta, styled with sheath skirts and long sheer sleeves. Junior bridesmaid Gale Prince wore a floor-length A-line gown of white eyelet lace over turquoise, with white nylon ribbon trimming the empire waistline.

All wore matching self-fabric rosette headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations. Their jewelry was the bride's gifts of aurora borealis necklaces.

Jerry Freeman was best man and ushering the guests were Darrell Latimer, the bride's brother, and Ron Blake.

The bride's mother made the three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table at the reception which followed in the Olde England Inn. The cake was decorated by A. A. Cownden. Frank Foulds proposed the toast to his niece and Mr. Webb sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Climb Every Mountain."

A two-piece suit of cherry red wood boucle was the choice of the new Mrs. Freeman for travelling on honeymoon through the provincial interior. She complemented the ensemble with a matching hat, black accessories and corsage of pink rapture roses.

$20.48 A TON ASKED BY UNION

Herring Fishermen Seek Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—Herring fishermen are seeking $20.48 a ton for herring in contract demands presented to the Fisheries Association of B.C.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, representing the 700 herring fishermen, is also seeking extended medical benefits, higher company contributions to a welfare plan and two weeks' holiday.

Homer Stevens, union secretary-treasurer, said in an interview Monday that present rates for herring are $17.40 a ton with an additional 20 cents going into the welfare fund.

He said under the higher rate demanded by the union $1.28 would be paid into the welfare fund.

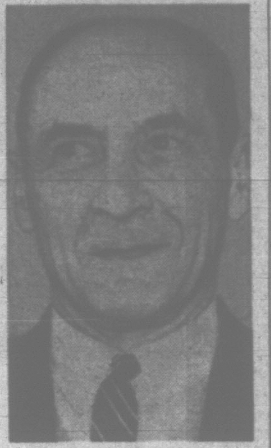
The union contract with the eight companies represented by the association expires Oct. 16.

Mr. Stevens said the union negotiating committee is scheduled to meet Saturday with association representatives who "have made no offer yet."

Herring fishermen struck for four weeks last year, rejecting three company offers and settling for the present $17.40.

Hearing Next Tuesday On Dumping Into Lake

CAMPBELL RIVER—A hearing will be held in Vancouver Courthouse next Tuesday to determine the legality of a decision to allow dumping of mine wastes into Buttle Lake.



HAIG-BROWN
. . . panel chairman

Lawyer Anthony Sarich, representing the Greater Campbell River Water Board, said today it is not likely Western Mines Ltd. will begin dumping tailings in the meantime.

Two weeks ago the Pollution Control Board granted Western Mines Ltd. permission to dump tailings and sewage into the lake which is located within Strathcona provincial park.

PANEL THURSDAY

Meanwhile a panel of experts will be brought together here Thursday for a general discussion on the effects of pollution.

Conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown will act as chairman and co-ordinator of the meeting at 8 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium.

Panelist will include Dr. G. A. Gibson, director of the Upper Island Health Unit; Harold Paish, executive director of the B.C. Wildlife Association; and two biologists from the University of Victoria, Dr. Allan Austin and his assistant John Pringle who has been studying the water in Buttle lake which is Campell River's water supply.

The meeting is sponsored by the Campbell River Chamber of Commerce.

Island Digest

160 HIT BY CZ LAYOFF

VANCOUVER (CP) — Crown Zellerbach of Canada Ltd. said Tuesday it will shut down two of its logging operations this month because of a slackening demand for lumber.

The company said its Bella Coola and Beaver Cove divisions will be closed until early 1967.

A total of 160 men are employed at the two divisions, smallest of the company's eight logging operations.

A. W. Rafter, coastal logging manager, said some of the men will be employed during the shutdown period on road construction and maintenance work. The others will be laid off.

Logging and lumber operators complained recently that a drop in the world market would affect their British Columbia operations.

Beaver Cove is 20 miles southeast of Port McNeil on northern Vancouver Island and Bella Coola 50 miles north of Rivers Inlet on the B.C. coast.

MURDER TRIAL

Man Killed Self With Gun Taken From Constable

NANAIMO (CP)—An RCMP constable testified Tuesday how a man used his police service revolver to shoot himself.

Constable W. Pritcher was testifying at the trial of Gordon Ronald Coss, 23, charged with non-capital murder in the rifle-slaying of Irvine McLeod, 26, in Alberni last Easter Sunday.

The RCMP officer said he was called to a house where he found McLeod's body on the lawn and several men struggling over a rifle.

He said he followed the Coss brothers around the house, where Walter Coss levelled a rifle at him and ordered him to drop his revolver.

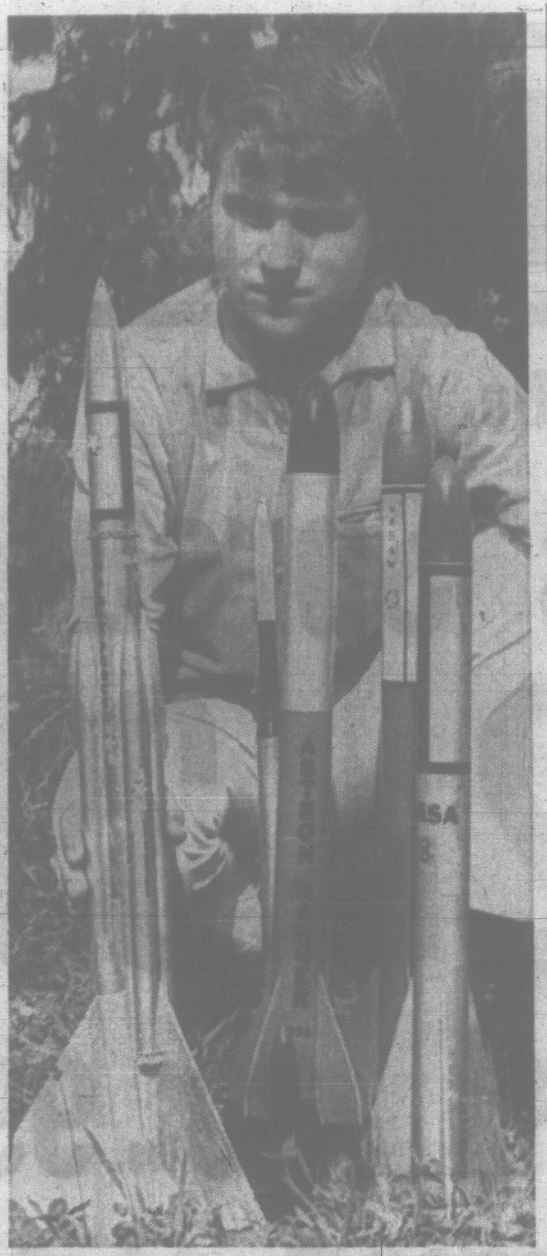
The constable said he complied, and Walter Coss picked up the revolver and shot himself in the head.

The trial continues.

Gov't Sitting On PO Report?

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Postal Trade Unions Council said Monday the government is holding back publication of a royal commission report on post office working conditions "because the report is such an indictment of the sweat-shop conditions in post offices."

A spokesman for the royal commission said the report is in the final stages of preparation and hasn't yet been sent to the government. He indicated it probably will be by Nov. 15.



ARSENAL OF ROCKETS built by 13-year-old Gary Oyen, of Duncan, were all successfully fired this week. A member of the Canadian Association of Rocketry, his most powerful rocket has reached an altitude of more than 3,000 feet. He has been building rockets for about one year and can now build one in about 20 hours. He uses pre-packaged fuel tubes obtained through the association.

GOV'T GIVES $46,000 TO HOUSING FOR AGED

A provincial grant of $46,000 was authorized by the cabinet Tuesday for construction of elderly citizens' housing at Campbell River.

The money, given under provision of the Elderly Citizens' Housing Aid Act, goes to the non-profit Campbell River and District Senior-Housing Society.

Trade Tests a Must For Home Repairmen

Compulsory qualification for lower Vancouver Island plumbers, pipe and steam fitters and radio and TV repairmen becomes effective Jan. 9.

People engaged in these trades must prove they are proficient by examination, pay a $10 fee and receive their ticket from the provincial labor department.

The order was passed by cabinet Tuesday and is based on legislation that is now three years old. It had been applied only on a voluntary basis previously.

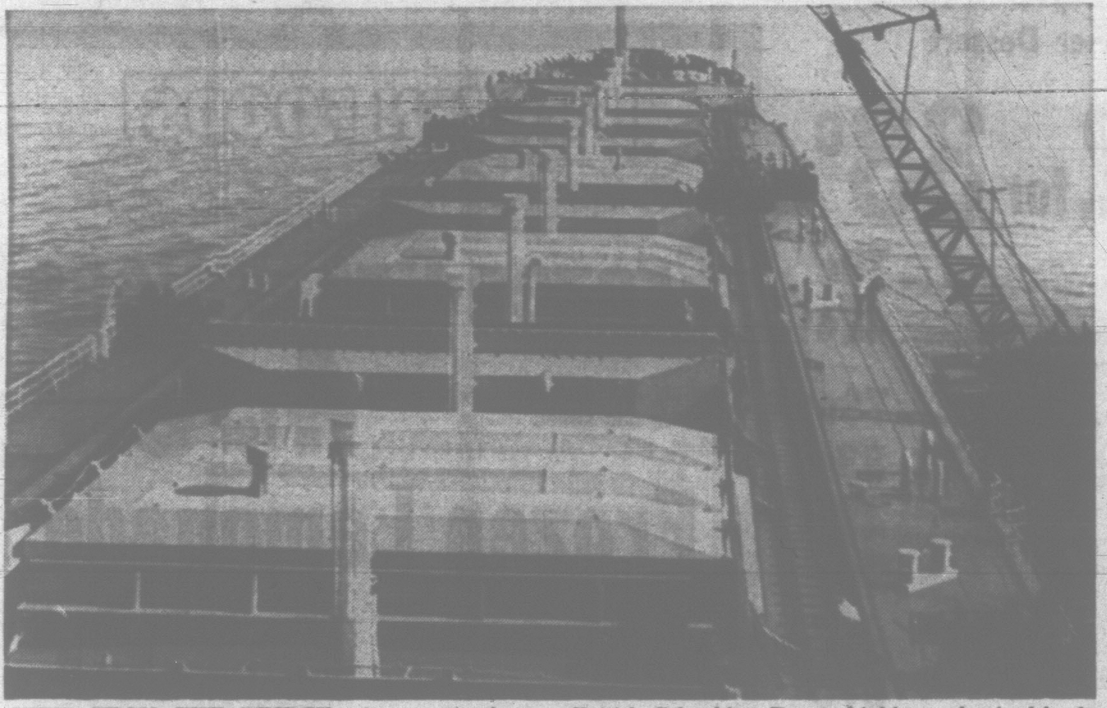
Radio and TV servicemen in Victoria, Saanich - the Islands, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Cowichan-Malahat and Nanaimo electoral ridings must show proof of 8,000 hours of qualification. The order excludes apprentices.

The same rule applies to plumbers and pipefitters throughout Vancouver Island and to those in the trade on the lower mainland.

Impaired Drivers Pay Court $1,425

COURTENAY — Twelve impaired drivers during September paid a total of $1,425 in fines in Courtenay police court.

Total licence suspension time amounted to more than 70 months, with one driver losing his right to drive for three years.



VIEW FROM THE BRIDGE of super-tanker, Texada, gives some idea of ship's vastness. The Japanese-built vessel took on largest single cargo—68,500 tons of ore—ever loaded on a single ship in British Columbia. Due to highly mechanized loading gear, whole operation took only 37 hours. The 69,000-ton vessel can cross from Texada to Japan in 11 days with crew of only 36.

B.C. MUST ACT, SAYS BROTHERS

Super Docks for Super Ships

British Columbia must provide berthing space for super-cargo ships or miss out on the new ships' potential Mines Minister Donald Brothers warned this week.

Mr. Brothers was speaking at Texada Island on the occasion of the first visit here of the 69,000-ton iron-ore carrier Texada.

The Texada, which loaded 68,500 tons of ore after sailing on her maiden voyage from Japan, was "overwhelming," said Mr. Brothers.

He said he asked some time ago for a study to be conducted by the department of industrial development, trade and commerce, to see what can be done to provide berths for the huge ships.

As if to demonstrate the need for such facilities, the Texada was unable to dock at Nanaimo.

Three cats had to be taken out by barge to where she was anchored in order to flatten her cargo of ore. Special facilities have been provided at Texada.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Opening lead—♦ J

Jim: "You already know the answer. At duplicate you go after extra tricks. At rubber bridge you are far more concerned with the safety of the contract."

Oswald: "Here is a hand played recently by Bobby Wolff of San Antonio. I can't say that I approve of his opening bid of one no-trump with five hearts, four diamonds and two suits unstopped but there was nothing wrong with the final contract of three no-trump. West opened the jack of diamonds. Bobby won in his own hand and counted five hearts, three diamonds and a club provided that the hearts behaved properly for him. Then he studied awhile, led back a diamond and finessed dummy's nine spot."

Jim: "That was strictly a duplicate play. At rubber bridge Bobby would have been happy to go after his nine tricks by running off hearts right away. In duplicate Bobby wanted four no-trump in order to be sure to outscore anyone who bid and made four hearts."

Oswald: "Right. It is important to note that careless play might have cost Bobby his contract later on. When the nine of diamonds held Bobby's next play was to lead the ten of hearts, not the five, to his king. Then he returned to dummy with the queen of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, led the five of hearts, finessed his nine after East followed low and made his four no-trump for a top score."

Jim: "An automatic play for a player of Bobby's caliber. Experts just don't trap themselves by playing the wrong low card."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Bette Davis continues to be a source of wonderment. The old gal is playing dramatic roles these days with a fervor that stands out like a sore thumb.

Stephen

She appeared as a revenge-bent matriarch of the old west in a Gunsmoke series and, by jingoes, you'd have thought she really hated Matt Dillon (James Arness).

The story line was simple enough. Matt had brought her husband to the gallows and now she planned to avenge her husband's death.

In the course of action she kidnapped Kitty (Amanda Blake) and even killed one of her own sons.

It was gritty stuff which could only have been carried out by the wonderful acting talent so much a part of Miss Davis.

Miss Davis is of the old Hollywood school which helped carve the name of the cinema centre in lights around the world.

Others of her ilk have made appearances on television recently but only one has managed to stick and help create a successful series, Barbara Stanwyck.

Miss Stanwyck is the matriarch of a family in the Big Valley. There are those who say it bears no resemblance to Bonanza, but the too many similarities speak for themselves.

Another one-time Hollywood star showing dismally in a regular series is Ann Sheridan of Pistols 'n' Petticoats.

It's a nonsense piece not deserving of Miss Sheridan's talents.

She should have taken on sporadic appearances on television as has Bette Davis so that we could continue to remember her as she was in her "Oomph Girl" heyday and not a silly, pistol-packin' mama in a series destined for the TV ash can.

Still another of the old names is that of Jean Arthur. She appeared in an episode of Gunsmoke last year and created a memorable role. This year she has her own series in her own name and, unfortunately, it hasn't gotten off the ground.

Miss Arthur, whose enchantingly cracked voice delighted moviegoers in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," plays a brain-loaded lawyer in the series.

It's a situation comedy, or it's supposed to be, but it doesn't click. It hasn't got that pazzaz so necessary for the making of topline success.

About LISTING YOUR PROPERTY FOR SALE!

WE SAY WHAT WE'LL DO!

We tell you in advance what price you can expect to get. We don't name an extra fancy price just to get your listing and hope that you'll come down afterwards. We don't promise you the moon and later deliver only a handful of stardust. We come down to "brass tacks" right away and when we say we'll get you $10,000 you can bank on it. It'll be a "frosty Friday" when we tell you $12,000 for a $10,000 house just to get the listing! We've sold your neighbor's house. HE'LL tell you that!

WE DO WHAT WE SAY!

Put a "Proper price" on your home . . . that's the way to sell it quickly! Ask for TOO MUCH and you frighten people away! Ask for TOO LITTLE and before you know it it's been grabbed off by someone who resells it a week later for a big profit. There's NO SUBSTITUTE for EXPERIENCE in selling Real Estate . . . there's NO COMPROMISE with ETHICS when you deal with a REALTOR! Our EXPERIENCED staff of REALTORS is at YOUR service.

CALIFORNIA WAS NEVER LIKE THIS

Reclining on a garden chair on the 20'x40' patio lined with hanging flower baskets, I looked into the enchanted woodland. Pastoral tranquility reigned over the countryside and it was somewhat difficult to realize that I was not far from town, after all—ONLY A MILE AND A HALF FROM THE ROYAL OAK BUSINESS SECTION. 1 2/3 acres of land, mostly in trees. Long asphalt drive takes one to this picturesque home set well back from the street. This home is not perfect—the floors are not hardwood and two of the bedrooms are rather small. But it does have an attraction in its own right and will appeal to you if you want to get away from conventional subdivision houses, and particularly if you enjoy outdoor patio living in a private atmosphere. Triple carports. Price $17,900. Substantial cash required. Sorry, no drive-by address can be given. Call DON BACON for appointment to view. 388-4271.

BETTER THAN NEW Beautifully Brilliant 2 OR 3 BEDROOMS 1 OR 2 BATHROOMS 6¼% NHA — 6¼% NHA

You can't imagine the brightness and brilliance of this 2-year-old home. The LR with its 9½' raised hearth, floor-to-ceiling fireplace, is adjacent to a 10x11½ DR. The custom-built planter and glass china cabinet is moveable for room-size adjustment. The kitchen is a dream. The garden is parklike. There are 2 bedrooms up with roughed-in family or bedroom in basement. Plumbing is roughed in for 2nd bathroom. Stucco exterior and NHA code make this an economical house to maintain. Lovely for retirement or young family as is. One block to shops or bus and 3 blocks to school or beach. HURRY! This is a showplace. Asking $20,500. Can be refinanced with reasonable down. Addict Growth Alarming

VANCOUVER (CP) — An expert said Monday that apathy and a lack of research are muting alarm bells warning of increasing addiction to narcotics.

Dr. H. R. Williams, clinical director of the narcotic addiction foundation of British Columbia, said the number of addicts in the world is growing fast.

An added problem now is spreading addiction to sleeping pills and pep pills.

Dr. Williams, just returned from a six-week tour of cities in Canada, the United States and Europe where anti-addiction programs are under way, said in an interview more money must be spent on research.

"We don't even have any scientific proof of what causes drug dependency," he said.

The entire problem of addiction is particularly acute in Vancouver, where more than 50 per cent of Canada's heroin addicts congregate in an area of less than 40 square blocks, said Dr. Williams.

Educators To Hear B.C. Trade Minister

Ralph Loffmark, minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, will speak at a public relations dinner given by the Victoria Life Underwriters' Association Thursday at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Attending the event, starting at 7 p.m., will be a number of local principals, vice-principals, professors and teachers.

One Year in Killing

QUESNEL (CP) — Velma Marie Adolph, 23, was sentenced to a year in jail when she appeared in Assize Court here last week on a reduced charge of manslaughter. She was originally charged with non-capital murder in the axe slaying of her infant son, James William, May 1.

Gun Kills Girl

PORT CLEMENTS (CP) — Justine Francis McGuire, 9, of Port Clements in the Queen Charlotte Islands, was accidentally shot dead Saturday. Police said the girl was playing in a parked station wagon with two friends. One of them discovered a .22-calibre automatic rifle in the car, pointed it at Justine and pulled the trigger.

Auto Industry Layoffs Spread

DETROIT (AP) — Layoffs spread today to more than 45,000 workers at Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp., as auto industry strikes forced cuts in production of 1967 cars.

More than 42,600 Chrysler workers were to be made idle by the end of shifts today because of a strike at a key stamping plant in Twinsburg, Ohio.

General Motors Tuesday sent home 3,000 hourly rated employees from a Fisher body plant at St. Louis, Mo., after some 3,900 went on strike at the adjacent Chevrolet plant.

Meanwhile, more than 4,800 United Auto Workers union members continued to strike at the main assembly plant of Ford Motor Co. of Canada in Oakville, Ont.

Progress was reported in talks Tuesday between the UAW and management at Chrysler's Twinsburg facility, one of only two stamping plants which stamp all major body sections needed for assembly of a Chrysler car.

WENT OUT THURSDAY

A Chrysler spokesman said "apparently they've agreed on three of the 14 issues" which sparked the walkout of Twinsburg's 4,300 UAW workers last Thursday. The union went on strike over grievances on work conditions.

Talks were scheduled to resume today.

If the Twinsburg walkout continues, Chrysler said it would make idle virtually all of its 110,000 hourly-rated employees in the United States.

Seven of the firm's eight assembly plants will have been shut down by the end of today's shifts, with 38,300 out of work. The eighth, the Los Angeles assembly plant, is scheduled to lay off its 1,800 workers next week, the company said.

Some 4,300 workers in five Detroit-area Chrysler stamping plants were to be sent home at the end of today's shifts. The five employ a total of 13,200. These plants do not stamp all the major body sections.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Production of all passenger cars by Chrysler Canada Ltd. will be halted tonight as a result of a strike against a Chrysler Corp. metal stamping plant at Twinsburg, Ohio.

A spokesman said the company's main production plant will close down after the second shift tonight at midnight. He said about 8,000 workers will be affected.

Priests Ask Celibacy Review

NEW YORK (AP) — Two-thirds of the Roman Catholic priests polled by the American monthly, Jubilee, were reported Monday to favor a reappraisal of the church law requiring priests to be celibate.

Replies in the survey came from a fourth of the 500 priests who were sent questionnaires, most of them parish pastors, and the others college and seminary professors, dioscesan officials and social workers.

There are nearly 60,000 Roman Catholic priests in the U.S.

Results of the poll, to appear in the magazine's October issue, showed that one-third strongly defended celibacy, one-fifth sharply criticized it and most advocated serious re-examination of the present law.

A majority of the replies speculated that an option to marry or not to marry may eventually replace the present ban against marriage.

Labor Scores Insurance Duplication

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Federation of Labor said Tuesday the system of insuring vehicles in B.C. is inefficient and wasteful.

A federation brief to the royal commission on auto insurance said duplication of services by 209 competing insurance companies is causing premium prices to rise.

"Such duplication of agents, office staff, adjusters and lawyers would be loudly criticized by industry and public alike as featherbedding if it were practised by a union," said Pat O'Neal, federation executive counsellor, in presenting the brief.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

He called for public ownership and administration of car insurance similar to a scheme in Saskatchewan to eliminate such duplication and to reduce premium costs.

"The Saskatchewan-type plan is, in fact, the ultimate in group insurance," Mr. O'Neal said.

The brief also called for administration of car accident compensation by a board similar to the Workmen's Compensation Board, rigid enforcement of laws to remove habitual offenders from the road and a system of drive-in claims stations.

SUPPLEMENT

The brief supplemented an earlier submission to the commission May 3 in Victoria.

A car dealer said car dealers want a slice of the insurance sales commission because they aren't getting enough from selling cars.

Clarke Simpkins, speaking for the Automobile Dealers Association, said present regulations make it difficult for car dealers to sell insurance.

NOT RICH

"Nobody is getting rich" on car sales, he said, adding that the "effective rate" of commission to the dealer is 8.10 per cent on new cars and 9.79 per cent on used cars.

Selling cars and selling car insurance go together like ham and eggs, he added.

Mr. Simpkins also said that so far as car safety is concerned, the problem is with the driver, not with the car.

DISCOURTEOUS

Mr. Justice R. A. B. Wooton, chairman of the three-man commission, earlier ruled that remarks by a trade union leader were discourteous but not in contempt of the royal commission.

The lawyer for the All Canada Insurance Federation had complained last week that remarks by George McKnight, Port Alberni delegate to the International Woodworkers of America convention, were perilously close to contempt of the royal commission.

Mr. McKnight told the IWA convention he favored a government takeover of the auto insurance business because of various practices of private insurance firms.

The judge said persons with such comments should come before the commission where the worth of their statements can be tested.

FOOD SURPLUSES DOWN

World Famine Possible

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations' economic chief repeated past warnings Tuesday that there is a real possibility that famine soon will occur in much of the world.

Philippe de Seynes of France, UN undersecretary for economic affairs, said drastic declines in food surpluses, particularly in Canada and the United States, have helped to make the global balance between food production and population precarious.

Agricultural growth rates in the developing countries continued, on the whole, to be unsatisfactory but the seriousness of the problem had been disguised several years by surplus agricultural production in some of the major industrial countries, particularly in North America.

He told the General Assembly's economic and financial committee:

"We are witnessing now a kind of watershed in economic history. The miraculous food surpluses witnessed for some years in developed countries now are disappearing."

The latest UN estimate of total world population by the end of the century is 6,130,000,000—160,000,000 higher than the estimate made two years ago. The world population now is estimated by the UN at about 3,000,000,000.

De Seynes told the committee the rich countries cannot be expected to provide automatically the surplus of goods and services needed to develop the poor countries.

Canada, the United States, the advanced countries of Europe, the Soviet Union, Japan, Australia and New Zealand "are already feeling a heavy pressure of demand on their resources and will feel it even more in the years ahead."

What was called for, to make sure that foreign aid stood high enough on the list of priorities for action, was "the organization of an effective dialogue at the national planning level and in the formulation of regional or global policies."

'Young Nuts' Blamed For High Insurance

ORILLA, Ont. (CP)—Government auto insurance in Saskatchewan is "the cruelest hoax ever perpetrated on a province," John E. Lowes of Peterborough, president of the Ontario Insurance Agents' Federation, said Tuesday.

Even with government support and the fact that the government insurance company, as a Crown corporation, pays no taxes, it is still running into a deficit every year, Mr. Lowes told the Rotary Club.

"In addition, drivers who have lost three demerit points have to pay $30 for a licence and drivers who have lost five demerit points must pay $50.

"All this money goes into the insurance fund as unreported income and the fund still had a $1,700,000 deficit last year."

He said much of the blame for high insurance rates in Ontario rests with "young nuts" who shouldn't be driving, and "the gutless politicians who are afraid to put these drivers off the road."

Fireworks Launch New State

MASERU, Lesotho (Reuters) King Moshoeshoe II of Lesotho Tuesday received formal documents confirming his kingdom as an independent state and warned of political stresses and strains ahead.

Lesotho, for the last 82 years the British colony of Basutoland, became independent at midnight amid fireworks, dancing and a ceremonial lowering of the Union Jack.

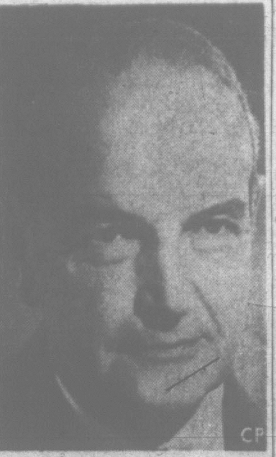
At a ceremony at the national stadium today attended by an estimated 40,000 people, Princess Marina handed over the constitutional documents to King Moshoeshoe.

The king has been waging a constitutional struggle with Prime Minister Chief Leabua Jonathan. In the months before independence, Moshoeshoe — then paramount chief — campaigned strongly against the constitution which made him a monarch without powers.

He claimed he should be given control over internal security, defence and foreign affairs. Chief Jonathan, however, declared Moshoeshoe should stand aside from politics or abdicate.

Lesotho, poor and drought-stricken, also has its economic troubles and will be largely dependent on South Africa, which entirely surrounds it.

Both governments have already announced their intention of working closely together, although Chief Jonathan has professed dislike of apartheid.



CP

PRESIDENT of Air Canada, Gordon McGregor, has had his term of office extended by the government beyond the normal retirement age of 65, it was learned in Ottawa today.

PAIR NABBED

Smugglers Jettison Marijuana

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI)—Narcotics-runners dumped more than a thousand pounds of uncut marijuana—valued at an estimated half million dollars—on a quiet beach during the night then sped to sea when they were accidentally seen.

Two suspects were taken into custody at the rendezvous point at Paradise Cove by sheriff's deputies.

U.S. customs agents and coast guardsmen took up the search for the fleeing fishing boat that apparently had worked its way up the California coast from Mexico the day before.

A short time later the boat was captured some 30 miles down the coastline of Los Angeles county and the crew taken into custody.

Sheriff's deputies said the accidental sighting of the landing was made by a fish and game commissioner who was making a routine check of the beach area for the opening of the lobster season.

The marijuana supply—measured at 600 kilos—was listed by deputies as one of the largest taken by their department.

The first two suspects taken into custody were Jeffrey Munoz, 18, of Malibu, and Donald Lewis Call, 25, of Hollywood.

Radiomen Cancel Walkout

VANCOUVER (CP) — Airport radio operators in British Columbia have cancelled a walkout set for Friday pending a pay study by the treasury board.

William Brassington, spokesman for 20 radio operators at Vancouver airport, said today he was notified late Tuesday via telegram that a list of pay revisions and job re-classifications has been recommended.

"The walkoff has been postponed, at least until we have studied the board's recommendations," Mr. Brassington said.

The radio operators, members of the Civil Service Association of Canada, threatened earlier this week to stage a mass resignation Friday unless granted pay increases.

About 200 operators at 19 B.C. airports are involved.

They broadcast weather reports to aircraft and mariners and in some cases act as air traffic controllers at small airports.

Present monthly pay scales range between $421 and $473.

Scott Expedition Survivors Meet To Launch Book

LONDON (UPI)—Two of the four surviving members of the Scott Antarctic expedition of 1901-1904 met on the historic ship HMS Discovery in the Thames here Monday night for the publication of a book on the expedition.

They were Frank Plumley, 91, and James Dell, 86, both members of the ship's crew, who last met when they were paid off in 1904.

The other two survivors are a seaman named Hare, who lives in Eudlo, Queensland, Australia, and another named Ford, who is in Auckland, New Zealand. Both sent letters read at tonight's publication party.

The book consists mostly of the diaries of Dr. Edward Adrian Wilson, ship's surgeon and ornithologist on the expedition.

250 Pilots Killed

BONN (Reuters) — The West German defence ministry admitted Monday night that almost 250 Luftwaffe air force pilots have died in some 380 crashes in the last nine years—an average death rate of two a month. A defence ministry spokesman described as basically correct a report in the weekly magazine Stern saying that a total of 348 Luftwaffe aircraft crashed between early 1958 and September last year, killing 221 pilots.

BIRTH CONTROL DRIVE TOO EFFECTIVE

Tunisia Calls Off Pill Program

TUNIS (Reuters) — Tunisia has suddenly reversed a program to control its population explosion and now is encouraging bachelors to marry and couples to have lots of children.

President Habib Bourguiba has even scolded some of his high officials for remaining unmarried.

The new policy follows reports that the birth control campaign had been too effective. In a recent television address, President Bourguiba said: "If the birth rate is reduced any further, our country would risk being gradually emptied of its population."

The 63-year-old president, twice-married and the father of only one child, sharply attacked "those hardened celibates and all those couples hostile to procreation who are failing in their duty to the nation."

Tunisia was one of the first countries in North Africa to launch a major birth control campaign.

Official statistics at that time showed that half of Tunisia's population of 4,600,000 was under 20 years of age, and one woman in three between the ages of 20 and 40 became pregnant every year.

Almost every doctor in the country took part in the campaign to control the birth rate.

The aim was to reduce the birth rate from 46 per 1,000, which would have doubled Tunisia's population in 25 years, to 30 per 1,000 by 1969.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Dennis Roach, age 12, of Kansas City, Mo., for his question:

Whoat happens when water boils?

Steam escapes from a boiling kettle, but this everyday miracle never escapes the sharp eye of a young science student. Young James Watt noticed that the force of the steam lifted the kettle lid. Later he invented an engine and used the force of tean. to power it.

The everyday miracle of boiling water takes us down to the realm of molecules and to the chemical forces that govern them. Water molecules, of course, are particles of matter composed of hydrogen and oxygen atoms. The basic particles are all alike. Each has two hydrogen atoms sharing their single electrons with the eight electrons of one oxygen atom. The bonds of chemical energy holding them together attract others, and pairs of basic particles tend to lock together.

These are the energetic midgets that create the steamy operation of boiling water. Their speed energy comes from heat, and the higher the temperature the faster they go. In liquid water the chemical bonds between them often link four to eight paired molecules in a chain. They get enough speed energy from normal temperatures to whiplash around in what seems like a frantic game of follow-the-leader.

The whiplash speeds increase as the water in the kettle gets hotter. The speed energy becomes strong enough to break the chemical attraction that links the particles in groups. They must separate before the water can boil. They may become pairs of basic particles or single bonds of one oxygen and two hydrogen atoms.

The spaces between the molecules increase as the water expands. As boiling point is reached, swarms of freed particles bubble up to the surface. There these energetic molecules of water vapor zoom off and go their separate ways to mingle with the other gaseous particles of the air.

Water Turns Into Vapour

The water in a kettle on a stove expands as its molecules get up enough speed to separate from each other. They need room, more room. At boiling point they become gaseous particles of steamy vapor. And steam needs 1,700 times more space than liquid water. The teeming particles from a kettle of boiling water spread out with tremendous force — enough force to make the kettle led bob-bob-bob up and down.

Temperature and pressure keep most of the worlds water in a liquid state. The temperature depends upon normal weather conditions. The pressure is the weight of the atmosphere pressing down upon the surface of the water. On a high mountain the pressure is lighter and water boils at a lower temperature. At sea level, under normal atmospheric pressure, it reaches boiling point at 100 degrees centigrade.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Beverly Rowe, age 12, of Wichita, Kan., for her question:

When will Pluto enter the orbit of Neptune?

The two outer planets of the solar system do not share parts of their orbits. The orbit of Pluto is tipped at a sharp angle and most of it is far beyond the orbit of Neptune. The two planets could collide. Pluto's oval orbit ranges between 2,766 million and 4,567 million miles from the sun. The average distance between the sun and Neptunes orbit is 2,793 million miles, which is farther from the sun than part of Pluto's orbit.

It takes Pluto 248 earth-years to stroll around its immense orbit. For 208 of these earth-years it is farther from the sun than Neptune, and this part of its orbit marks the outer boundary of the solar system. From 1969 until 2009 Pluto's orbit will bring it closer to the sun than Neptune, and for these 40 years Neptune will mark the edge of the solar system.

FIND FRENCH BALLOON NEAR DAWSON CREEK

DAWSON CREEK (CP)—A weather balloon launched by France, September 21, has been found at Mile 147 of the Alaska Highway, it was reported Tuesday.

A tag on the balloon asked the finder to telephone the National Centre of Space Studies at Landes, France.

A group of hunters who found the balloon reported it to the transport department weather office here, which reported it to the director of air services at Edmonton.

It was not known whether the call to France was made.

The balloon was believed released in the South Pacific during the French nuclear test during September.

LYNX-POINT SIAMESE named Alvie's Tiki is only one of his kind in Canada. Instead of traditional dark brown paws and mask, he has grey broken stripes on his legs and a black-ringed silver tail. He is owned by Mrs. Mary Maling, of Calgary, and gets big hug here from Masako Utsonomiya at Manitoba Cat Club International Show. (CP Wirephoto.)

YOUR HEALTH

The Good Ship Hope Operating Well

By WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Alvarez

Many Americans haven't much faith in the wisdom of pouring billions of dollars into the pockets in countries all over the world but we can all have perfect faith in the splendid work being done by the doctors and nurses on the great hospital ship Hope. The idea for such a ship came in 1958 to President Eisenhower and it has been worked out by Dr. William B. Walsh.

The splendid ship is a typical American hospital — a self-sufficient floating medical centre, within it some 100 teachers in all fields of medicine, dentistry and nursing; there is a blood bank, facilities for dental care, physical therapy, radiology, and equipment for out-patient clinics in every specialty.

Since 1960 Americans have donated to Project Hope almost $9 million worth of medical and surgical equipment, drugs and chemicals, medical book and teaching aids, foods, and ships' stores.

The Hope goes around the world, helping people who live in countries where there is only one physician to 250,000 persons; where there are no hospitals and no sanitation. Perhaps half of the children born soon die of fever and diarrhea.

Hope goes to a country like South Viet Nam. It anchors in a harbor and starts training young doctors and giving refresher courses to the older doctors who have no books or journals.

* * *

The doctors on the ship will treat thousands of patients with vaccines; they will perform hundreds of operations. They may vaccinate 250,000 children in order to protect them from several terrible diseases. Many half-blind people are given much-needed eye glasses. These are services that the people of the country love and appreciate. As Mr. Eisenhower said, "I firmly believe the single most effective step in presenting America as a warm and good friend . . . was a venture by doctors and nurses and dedicated laywomen and laymen, who supported and manned the hospital ship Hope."

* * *

Probably millions of our people believe that when indigestion comes, the thing to do is to stop eating fried foods. Actually, there is very little sense in this idea. Fats are not always hard to digest and foods properly fried in a deep fat may not be even slightly indigestible. For instance, French fried potatoes can be eaten with comfort by most people.

Once while asking 500 people what foods they could not digest, I found only a few who had trouble with fried foods; and some research recently done in Australia also indicates that fatty foods are not so bad as they are supposed to be.

FIVE-WEEK PROBE

Campbell Tests Public On Municipal Proposals

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell Tuesday named a two-man team to spend about five weeks testing public reaction to proposed Municipal Act changes.

The men are Williams Lake Mayor H. J. Gardner, president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, and Ken Smith, municipal affairs department director of finance.

They begin a tour of 14 B.C. centres the last week of October and are expected to finish with public meetings to hear briefs by the end of November.

Mr. Cambell said their responsibilites will cover two areas: cataloguing reaction to 19 legislative principles presented to the UBCM convention two weeks ago — 17 of which were given UBCM endorsation — and receiving any other ideas from the public at large concerning changes in the act.

Ex-UBCM president Reeve A. H. Emmott of Burnaby will act as alternate UBCM member in the absence of Mayor Gardner. Secretary for the mission will be Ian Dodds, municipal affairs department.

NEW IDEA

Offering proposals for public examination is a new departure for the department, Mr. Cambell said. It works in with the department's periodic 10-year major revision of the Municipal Act.

Following public reaction the legislature's standing committee on municipal affairs will deal with proposals during the coming session.

Then a technical committee will prepare amendments to the act for presentation to the 1968 legislature.

Last major revision of the act was in 1957.

The 14 centres to be visited by the team are Vancouver, Victoria, Nanaimo, Courtenay, Abbottsford, Terrace, Prince George, Dawson Creek, Williams Lake, Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton, Castlegar and Cranbrook.

OPEN TO ALL

Briefs will be accepted from anyone with an interest in municipal matters, whether at the elected representative or administrative level, private citizens or organizations, Mr. Campbell said.

In addition, the department will invite some specific organizations such as agricultural and livestock groups or retail merchants' associations, to submit briefs to the hearings.

Subjects covered by the proposals include Sunday sport, shopping hours, municipal financing, elector qualifications, zoning, requirements for passing bylaws, and the exclusive use of the titles mayor and aldermen for all local councils.

Mr. Campbell refused to comment on any of the proposals, which were put forward jointly by the UBCM executive and the municipal affairs department.

"We are not endorsing them, neither is the UBCM executive," he said. "We are putting them forward as having merit."

Opinions Requested On Project Choice

Central Saanich council moved Tuesday to get its centennial project off the ground.

Circulars will be mailed to all organizations asking if they favor construction of a museum or improvements to Centennial Park on Wallace Drive.

A third alternative will be to spend centennial funds on the two projects.

Reeve Gordon Lee noted there is some misunderstanding about the proposed museum project.

"Some people seem to think it is to be a costly building," he said. "Actually plans call for the construction of a small fireproof building to house historic relics."

He estimated the building would cost about $5,000.

Council's action followed a letter from Saanichton PTA opposing a museum building. It urged improvements to Centennial Park instead.

"Centennial funds could be spent on both projects if residents are in favor of this alternative," said the reeve.

Council hopes to have the centennial project settled by Nov. 19.

Since it turned down a proposal earlier this year by a centennial committee to construct a swimming pool, it has been unable to get Central Saanich organizations to agree on an alternate project.

Council also approved a bylaw prohibiting the dumping of septic tank waste on farmlands.

The move followed complaints from residents on Stelly's Cross Road that two firms are dumping the contents of septic tanks on farmland. They feared contamination of the water in their wells.

One councillor said he had talked with persons involved and they claimed Central Saanich was chosen as dumping grounds because of the municipality's central location.

Council also approved the appointment of John Durrant as assessor-building inspector. He replaces Ernest Lee, who retired last month.

SOUTHERN ISLAND

Amalgamated Service Urged for Libraries

Central Saanich Reeve Gordon Lee is in favor of amalgamating all library services on southern Vancouver Island.

The reeve at a council meeting Tuesday said he supported the establishment of one library service for Victoria, the whole of the Saanich peninsula and Sooke. (School district 61, 62 and 63).

This was recommended in the report of Mrs. Rose Vanstein, a U.S. librarian who conducted a survey of provincial library services.

The reeve spoke after council received a petition from more than 160 residents opposing a proposal that Central Saanich opt out of the Greater Victoria library board and join the Vancouver Island regional library service.

OUT OF DATE

One letter from Mrs. Mary Butler claimed the regional library books are out of date and schools are left out of the service.

Saanichton PTA urged council to study the matter further before making a decision.

"That's just what we are doing," said Coun. Charles Mollard. "We have made no decision yet and don't intend to until we know all the facts."

The reeve noted the B.C. librarians in North Vancouver Sunday requested greater government assistance for library services.

"I think if the government does assist the libraries it will also request that Mrs. Vanstein's recommendations be implemented," he said. "That would mean the unification of the library services on south Vancouver Island."

Paint Chips Evidence In Theft

One youth was set free and another committed for trial Tuesday after a day-long preliminary hearing on a break, enter and theft charge.

Magistrate Ostler ruled that the Crown had presented sufficient evidence to warrant Wayne Brown facing trial before a higher court.

The youth was staying at 46 South Turner Aug. 15 when he and James Erdman were arrested and charged with breaking into Sam Kee and Son, confectioners, 143 Moss St. Erdman was arrested at the same address.

Brown was the driver of a car stopped about 4 a.m. on that date. Under the front seat police found a large screwdriver with flakes of green paint on it, a hammer, pliers and a glove. Five more gloves were found in the car's glove compartment.

RCMP TESTIMONY

RCMP Sgt. William Robertson, on staff at the force's Vancouver crime laboratory, testified Tuesday that paint from the screwdriver was "chemically and physically the same" as paint samples taken from the door forced open at the store.

The Crown argued that cans of beans and spaghetti, jars of peanut butter, two loaves of bread and two packages of buns found in a kitchen cupboard at the South Turner residence were goods taken from the store in the break-in.

At the conclusion of the hearing prosecutor John Macintyre agreed with the magistrate that no case had been presented against Erdman.

Brown's bail was set at $1,000.

Rum and Coke Fine

Robert Tracy of HMCS Naden was fined $35 in central court Monday for a walk he took down Hillside Avenue in the early hours of the morning, Sept. 17, with a bottle of rum and coke under his arm.

The 18-year-old youth dropped the bottle as soon as the police spotted him.

He was fined as a minor in possession of alcohol.

Ex-Alderman Denies Saanich Lawbreaking

Former Victoria alderman Millard Mooney said today he doesn't think he has broken any Saanich bylaws with his swimming hut near Prospect Lake.

But Saanich council decided differently Monday night, and voted to condemn the hut because changes had been made to it and the structure moved violating the plumbing, zoning and building bylaws.

"As far as I am concerned, I have not broken any law," said Mr. Mooney.

A new sink "goes nowhere" and the hut was on skids and not moved off the property.

"Would you phone Saanich to move a trailer from one side of the property to another," he asked.

Mr. Mooney said he couldn't get a permit from Saanich anyway because the hut was a non-conforming use.

"All these little summer places are the sme. We also have a $21,000 home there and of course we can't move that.

"But surely we can move the other. It's just used to change clothes."

He didn't know what his next step will be — "I hope they don't notify me — just leave it where it is until suitable services are there to build on the property.

"I don't think I have broken the laws any more than anyone else. Is Saanich going to enforce this on all these places out there?"

Doukhobors Place Plaque

NELSON (CP) — Twenty-five Doukhobors from British Columbia and Saskatchewan have returned from a trip to Russia where they delivered a plaque to the spot where their forefathers symbolically burned their arms.

John J. Verigin of Grand Forks, spokesman for the group, said in an interview the plaque was delivered to authorities in the Akhalhalak district in southern Russia.

Strachan Backs Overtime Ban

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Tuesday Premier Bennett's overtime work ban appears ridiculous as long as courts rule in favor of employers.

He said there are precedents for employers forcing employees to work overtime, and that tacit understandings of a man's right to refuse overtime work are invalid.

Asked whether the New Democratic opposition would support anti-overtime legislation as the government suggests may be necessary at the coming legislature, Mr. Strachan said:

"Of course I don't know what the legislation will be, but I rather think we will support it."

He said overtime work is all right if an employee has the right to refuse. It has long been a principle of organized labor that overtime should be discouraged.

Mr. Strachan said as long as there is unemployment there should be no overtime.

The premier and Labor Minister Leslie Peterson say introduction of legislation will depend on economic conditions and the co-operation of labor and management in the overtime ban.

BURNING REDUCED

City Buys Chipper To Curb Park Smoke

The Victoria parks department has been authorised to purchase a $5,864 brush chipping machine to eliminate yet another city smoke nuisance.

Approval of the purchase was given Tuesday by the parks and beautification committee.

The machine will be used to make small chips of branches pruned from trees. The branches have always been burned in the past.

The public works committee listened politely to a complaint from D. M. Malcolm, 504 Cecelia, that heavy trucks were damaging his home — but decided it could do little about the problem.

Mr. Malcolm appeared before the committee asking to clamp down on the use of the street by heavy vehicles,

"I'm not asking for a financial settlement as I am for the rights of a citizen," Mr. Malcolm said. "We just can't stand it any more. My home may be an old one but that doesn't mean that traffic should be allowed to shake it down."

City engineer James Garnett told the comittee that every endeavor had been made to keep heavy traffic off the street.

"The police keep a close check on it," he said. "But just as they don't catch all motorists who exceed the 30-mile-an-hour limit, neither can they catch all trucks going down a street they shouldn't be using."

As a compromise the city will study the situation with a view to putting a tighter speed limit on the street.

Mr. Malcolm suggested the city pay him for his house and "just let us get out and away from there."

The committee declined the solution.

Main claim made by Mr. Malcolm was that heavy traffic was shaking plaster from the ceilings of his home.

Hit and Run Story Changed In Court

A Friday night on the town cost Patrick Connelly of HMCS Naden a total of $600 in central court Monday.

He was stopped on Pandora Avenue following an accident at Burnside Road early Saturday morning. He denied any knowledge of the crash and said the $500 damage to his own vehicle was the result of an accident in Nova Scotia.

He produced a Nova Scotia driver's licence, not his own.

Chrome stripping and paint at the accident scene matched the damage to Connelly's car.

Connelly admitted having consumed 12 small beers. And in court he admitted his guilt.

He was fined $350 for impaired driving and $250 for leaving the scene of the accident.

He was also prohibited from driving in Canada for eight months.

TRAFFIC OFFENCES

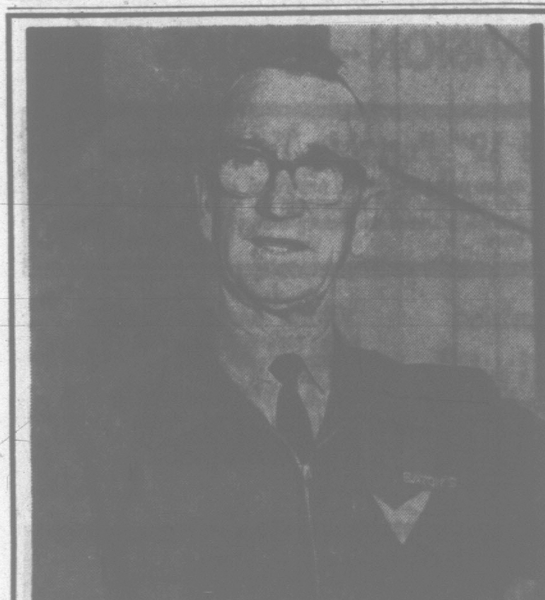
Traffic court convictions Tuesday:

Arthur Jones, 721 Daffodil, fined $100 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 for careless driving.

Wilbert Jeeves, address unavailable, fined $100 for driving while his right to obtain a licence was under suspension.

James Rugg of Gold River was fined $100 for careless driving.

Fined $40 each for careless driving were Gary Allen, no address available; Wendy Craig, 1327 Carnsew; James Ellington, 750 Queens and Edward Petrie of 1128 Empress.



"THE BEST-DRESSED PEOPLE IN TOWN WEAR THE FAIR SHARE CHECK PIN"

WHAT IS THE FAIR SHARE PIN? A small, gold emblem, in the shape of a check mark, or a square blue pin embossed with the letters F/S. Both indicate that the wearer is proud of his community and wants to make it an even better place in which to live. He or she has demonstrated this pride through a Fair Share Pledge to the 1966 United Appeal.

WHAT IS A FAIR SHARE GIFT? Only the contributor can decide what his or her gift should be. However, to the many who ask for guidance the suggestion is made that a Fair Share Gift for employees is one day's pay a year, and for executives and professional men, one per cent of annual income.

Are Russians Forfeiting Moon Race?

The Soviet Union stunned the world Oct. 4, 1957, by orbiting Sputnik I. For a long time afterward Russia forged ahead of the United States in the space race. In this article, an Associated Press aerospace writer reports on the status of the space race nine years later.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — Nine years ago Tuesday, Russia launched the first man-made satellite, Sputnik I, and astounded the world.

Not only had the Soviet Union scored a tremendous technological and propaganda breakthrough, it also had demonstrated a rocket of great power, capable of hurling nuclear warheads more than 5,000 miles. The best the United States had at the time was a 1,500-mile ballistic missile.

American prestige sank to a new low two months later, in December, 1957, when it rushed a Vanguard satellite rocket to a Cape Canaveral launching pad, only to have the rocket explode a few inches off the ground.

The U.S. finally put a satellite in orbit four months later, in January, 1958. That was Explorer I, which discovered the Van Allen radiation belt.

But the Soviets, with their huge rockets, ran up a clear lead in the budding space race: The first rocket to hit the moon, the first to take pictures of its back side, the heaviest satellites—and April 12, 1961, the most glittering feat of all, orbiting the first spaceman, Yuri Gagarin.

It was 10 months later before John H. Glenn became the first orbiting American.

PUT THREE IN ORBIT

The Russians continued to top U.S. achievements. Between 1962 and early 1965 they twice sent two manned capsules up simultaneously; they orbited a woman; set a five-day record for manned flight, and hurled a three-man craft into orbit.

The tide began to turn March 23, 1965, when the first two-man Gemini craft shot into orbit. It was only a five-hour flight and seemed overshadowed by a 24-hour trip just five days earlier by Russia's Voskhod 2. On that flight, cosmonaut Alexei Leonov became history's first space walker.

Since Voskhod 2—nearly 19 months ago—no Russian cosmonauts have gone into space. In that period, nine two-man Gemini craft in orbit have wrested every manned space record away from the Soviets.

The final Gemini flight is set for November and will be followed a month later by the first launching of a manned Apollo moonship—a two-week orbital trip by three astronauts as another step toward manned flight to the moon.

America's Gemini astronauts demonstrated all the techniques necessary for travelling to the moon—rendezvous, linkup with another satellite, manoeuvrable spacecraft and long duration trips up to 14 days.

The Soviets have not matched these feats. Unless they catch up on their next manned mission, U.S. experts feel they may forfeit their place in the moon sweepstakes.

MAY BEAT TIME LIMIT

The stated United States goal is to land men on the moon by 1970. The way things are going, if there are no serious setbacks, the historic event could occur in 1968.

Why has the flight portion of the Russian man-in-space program slowed? What are the Soviets up to?

Charles S. Sheldon, member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, has been analysing the Russian space program for years.

He recently forecast that the Soviets soon would launch a manned space station into earth orbit with five to nine men aboard. It could be forerunner of an orbiting platform for launching men to the moon.

Sheldon said Russia still is interested in exploring the moon. He cited Soviet persistence in launching Luna vehicles until Luna IX successfully soft-landed on the moon and Luna X orbited it earlier this year.

Both were firsts that the United States topped within a few months with the more sophisticated Surveyor I and Lunar Orbiter I.

Sheldon and some other U.S. analysts feel that perhaps Russia has had trouble developing a spacecraft. Problems have developed on their last two flights.

Sheldon also said the Soviets are interested in developing a strong military capability in space, something the United States has been approaching on a low-key basis.

If so, the Soviets might pull out of a moon race and concentrate on placing large space stations in earth orbit for reconnaissance, satellite inspection, communications and other military purposes.

Reds' Luna XI Ends Mission

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet news agency Tass said Tuesday that Russia's Luna XI moon-orbiting satellite, launched Aug. 24, completed its research program after 277 orbits.

Housing Act Changes Promised Soon by PM

Discloses Session Priorities

OTTAWA (CP) — Amendments to the National Housing Act will be introduced shortly in the Commons, Prime Minister Pearson announced today.

There has been speculation that the legislation will implement a long-standing Liberal promise to extend government mortgages to existing homes.

Mr. Pearson declined to give details of the amendments at a press conference, but said they will have high priority at the fall sittings of the Commons.

A government informant said the housing amendments will authorize the federal government to make loans for student residences and medicals schools, technical schools and other educational institutions that do not qualify now.

The prime minister also confirmed that a major federal-provincial conference on tax-sharing and federal aid to education will open in Ottawa Oct. 24 and last three days or more. Provincial premiers and finance ministers would attend the talks, meeting separately.

Mr. Pearson said a baby budget containing an undetermined tax increase will be brought down by Finance Minister Sharp late this month or early next month.

Mr. Sharp has said the tax increase will at least cover the cost of a $225,000,000 minimum income program for persons over 75 who have no independent income.

DISCUSSES MANY TOPICS

The prime minister covered a wide variety of topics in his 20-minute press conference.

His comments included the following:

1. The revision of the Bank Act, providing for a floating interest rate, and medical insurance will be the first two items to be debated in the House.
2. Other priority items will be the housing amendments, unification of the three armed forces, collective bargaining for the public service and a committee inquiry into the conduct of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court.
3. Government policy regarding the Nova Scotia coal mining industry will be announced this week or next. Liberals promised in the 1965 election to invest $25,000,000 to develop this industry.
4. A royal commission on national security, promised by Mr. Pearson at the height of the Gerda Munsinger furor last March, will be appointed shortly and will investigate this field for at least one year.
5. The report of the advisory committee on election expenses will be submitted to State Secretary Judy LaMarsh Thursday.

The Montepetit royal commission on working conditions in the post office is expected next week.

Mr. Pearson said only 22 or 23 days remain before the Christmas recess for the discussion of government bills in the Commons. The rest of the time would be devoted to the 1966 - 1967 spending estimates and supply debates that allow the opposition to move non-confidence motions.

Liberal MPs held a three-hour caucus Tuesday to thrash out a split over Finance Minister Sharp's announced intention to delay medicare a year to July 1, 1968.

Informants indicated the meeting behind closed doors settled nothing, leaving a strong group of Liberals discontented with the delaying plan.

PARENTS of Steven Truscott, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Truscott, arrive for today's Supreme Court review in Ottawa of 1959 trial which sent their son, then 14, to life in prison for rape-murder of 12-year-old girl in Clinton, Ont. (CP Wirephoto).

DEMONSTRATION BY ANALYST

Blouse 'Strangling' Opens Truscott Case

OTTAWA (UPI)— A demonstration of how 12-year-old Lynne Harper could have been strangled with her own blouse and photographs of a shoemark near her body highlighted the first session today of a hearing into the seven-year-old Truscott case.

The nine Supreme Court of Canada judges watched as Elgin Brown, an alyst with the Ontario crime laboratory in Toronto, ripped a checkered pink and white sleeveless blouse worn by a pretty assistant and wrapped it around her neck.

The dramatic demonstration answered one question raised in the book "The Trial of Steven Truscott" — which sparked the Supreme Court hearing of the trial that found Truscott guilty of rape and murder in 1959.

Authoress Mrs. Isabel LeBourdais wrote that it was impossible for Lynne to have been strangled wih her own blouse. She bought and experimented with several blouses to see if the murder near Clinton, Ont., could have been accomplished that way.

Mrs. LeBourdais also wondered why a piece of the girl's blouse was missing and suggested that the sex killer had taken a piece of the girl's clothing as a memento.

Brown's demonstration appeared to show that the missing piece of blouse probably was lost after it had been cut away from her neck by examining authorities.

The photographs, presented by Det. Sgt. Dennis Alsop, showed that the impression of a shoe near the body was similar to a test impression made with the shoes Truscott was wearing on the day when Lynne was last seen.

Earlier, Dr. Noble Sharpe, medical director of the Ontario crime lab, said he estimated that Lynne Harper had died about an hour after eating a meal.

But he later admitted, under cross-examination by Truscott's lawyers, that no one could judge with any accuracy the time of death by the stage of digestion.

Mrs. LeBourdais, covering the Supreme Court review for the CTV television network shook her head a couple of times as the expert witnesses gave testimony.

Truscott's parents, the only people who had reserved seats in the chamber, watched the proceedings impassively.

Defence lawyer G. Arthur Martin told the court he did not want Truscott in the court when the witnesses are heard. Truscott would be in the court only when he gave evidence.

James Byrne, Liberal member of Parliament for Kootenay East, was present in the public seats. He told the Commons earlier that he would be willing to stake his Commons seat on Truscott's innocence.

CTV NEWSMAN QUITS OVER TRIAL COVERAGE

TORONTO (CP) — Peter Reilly, executive producer of news and public affairs for the CTV television network for 13 weeks, resigned Tuesday. He said the resignation resulted from a clash with John Bassett who is a director of CTV, president of CFTO-TV and publisher of Toronto Telegram, and is "irrevocable."

CTV arranged for exclusive rights to reporting by author Isobel LeBourdais from the Supreme Court of Canada rehearing of the Steven Truscott murder case.

A dispute arose, Mr. Reilly said, when he refused Mr. Bassett's request that her reporting be shared with The Telegram.

Pedestrian Killed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pedestrian, believed in his 60s, was killed when hit by a car early today to become the city's 28th traffic fatality this year. Police withheld the man's name.

UNIONS STILL UNHAPPY

Wilson Wins Party Support On Pay Freeze

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—The Labor government today won backing for its wages-and-prices freeze at the annual Labor party conference here, despite slashing Labor union attacks on legal measures to make the freeze compulsory.

The freeze policy was endorsed by 3,836,000 votes to 1,515,000—a majority of 1,321,000.

But the party leadership was defeated by 152,000 votes on an emergency resolution, backed by Frank Cousins, leader of Britain's biggest union, expressing grave concern at the sharp growth of unemployment in Britain and urging work-sharing as an alternative to dismissal.

The vote on this resolution was 3,289,000 in favor and 3,137,000 against.

Immediately this result was announced, scores of delegates crowded around Cousins to congratulate him on his victory—won against the plan recommended by Labor Minister Ray Gunter.

MOTION LOST

Another resolution, backed by Clive Jenkins, left-wing trade union leader, and urging outright opposition to the wages and prices policy, was defeated by 4,283,000 votes to 2,085,000.

Earlier, cousins told the party conference that unionists would continue to oppose the government's pay freeze despite a cabinet decision to enforce it by law.

Cousins, former technology minister who quit the government earlier this year over plans for the pay standstill, said:

"We shall now be in conflict with the law, because if the law is unfair, trades unionists since time immemorial have opposed the law."

Although the government claimed that the wage freeze will be only temporary, there are indications it will be the first step toward destruction of the unions' traditional right to collective bargaining, Cousins declared

Chief of the 1,500,000-member Transport and General Workers Union, Cousins led the attack on Prime Minister Wilson's economic policy at the annual Labor conference in its third day at this seaside city.

NOT ENFORCEABLE?

Cousins said that in any case the pay-prices legislation may be unenforceable. Wilson and his cabinet decided at a meeting here Tuesday night to make mandatory the freeze which hitherto has been operated only on a voluntary basis.

James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, told the con-

U.S. Curbs Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has halted bombing in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between north and south Viet Nam, the White House said today.

The reason for the suspension is to allow the International Control Commission to investigate alleged violations of 1954 Geneva agreement, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said.

The United States halted the bombing six or seven days ago, it was reported.

The Communists have refused to permit the ICC patrols to enter portions of the demilitarized zone on grounds that U.S. air activity was going on there. The U.S. suspension was designed to remove this excuse.

Moyers revealed the suspension of bombing in response to a question.

He read from a statement: "No bombing is taking place in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone in an effort to permit the ICC to investigate alleged violations of the 1954 Geneva Treaty as it relates to the demilitarized zone."

Moyers refused to go beyond the brief statement.

He declined to describe the bombing halt as a move toward de-escalation of the war or to speculate further on whether it might be followed by further moves to demonstrate a U.S. desire to scale down the war tempo.

Viet Guns Able To Fire N-Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has two ground weapons with nuclear capability in South Viet Nam, but no atomic warheads have been sent to that country, military officials said Tuesday.

They ruled out the likelihood of any tactical nuclear weapons being used in the current military situation. They said the grave political implications would far outweigh military gains.

In the jungle war of Southeast Asia, they added, it is difficult to envisage targets suitable for nuclear hits.

BOARD SAYS:

No Blanket Ban On Overtime

The Board of Industrial Relations said today there is not "a blanket ban" on overtime in B.C.

The board, which is responsible among other things for administration of the Hours of Work Act and overtime permits, met in Vancouver Tuesday.

"The board has decided, in view of the premier's statements, to give every application (for overtime) a more thorough checking than was evident in the past," said G. A. Little, board vice-chairman.

"The board is not saying it is not possible to get permits."

Mr. Little said a case of genuine emergency would have to be met, although not if it could be overcome by additional staff.

NO MOVE MADE

The board has not made any move regarding existing overtime permits, which allow employers to work employees more than eight hours in one day and 44 hours in one week.

This was a matter of policy and would await the return shortly by William Sands, board chairman and deputy labor minister, who is out of the province.

One week ago, Premier Bennett called for the elimination of overtime in B.C.

He said then: "I have asked the minister of labor to stop issuing overtime permits and to check closely permits already issued."

However, it is the Board of Industrial Relations and not the labor minister which is responsible for overtime permits.

JACK RUBY
. . . two to five?

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR RUBY

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)— The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed the conviction of Jack Ruby on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, and ordered a new trial.

The court said Ruby should have been granted a change of venue in his March, 1964 trial for killing the assassin of President Kennedy. And it said that the Dallas night club owner's oral admission to police that the killing was premeditated should not have been used as evidence.

Defence attorneys indicated they would try to get Ruby off on a conviction of murder without malice, which carries a penalty of two to five years. Ruby has already spent nearly three years behind bars.

Record Crop

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today raised its 1966 wheat crop estimate to an unprecedented 840,449,000 bushels and said most of it already is in the bin.

The revised estimate by the federal agency is more than 40,000,000 bushels higher than its first forecast issued Sept. 2.

RESUMING his political campaign is Republican candidate Charles H. Percy. He held a press conference today, the first public meeting since he found his daughter Valierie, 21, dying Sept. 18. He thanked his Democratic opponent for the senate seat for postponing the campaign during the time of mourning.

UNIDENTIFIED CRAFT HEADS TO SEA

Prowling Sub Fired on by Sweden

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Swedish marine helicopters today attacked a submerged unidentified foreign submarine which had violated Sweden's territorial waters, the Swedish marine command here reported.

The helicopters fired on and dropped a depth charge but the submarine refused to surface and headed out to sea, the command said.

The helicopters first fired explosive charges into the water to get the submarine to come to the surface. When that failed, they dropped a depth charge. But the submarine remained underwater although it changed course and headed out to the open sea, the command said.

The command said the helicopters did not fire directly at the submarine for fear it might be sunk. A depth charge was dropped about 500 yards away as a warning.

The submarine did not surface nor did it identify itself. It changed course and headed toward the open sea. A few hours later, the command received a new alarm of an unidentified submarine operating in the area around the Poelsans lighthouse near Vinga Island.

The submarine refused to identify itself and proceeded to leave Swedish territorial waters. It was not known if this was the same submarine or a second one.

It was the second such incident this week. On Sunday a foreign submarine was detected and was fired on after it refused to surface or identify itself. The submarine showed up while Swedish marine foreces were holding one of their biggest manoeuvres in years.

Goteborg is on the southwest coast near the conjunction of the Kattegat and Skagerrak which link the Baltic Sea and North Sea. Soviet vessels must pass through the Kattegat and Skagerrak to get to the Atlantic Ocean from Leningrad.

Powers Talk Disarmament While Pushing Arms Sales

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — The big powers talk of arms control and disarmament while pouring arms into the world's developing regions at an alarming rate, says a report issued Tuesday.

Big-power arms sales are estimated at more than $1,000,000,000 a year, says the report by the Institute for Strategic Studies, and the outlook is bright for expansion.

In early post-war years only Britain and the United States were in a position to grant and sell conventional arms to emerging countries. They were joined in the 1950s by the Soviet Union and France and now a dozen countries, including Canada, are eager to share in the competition.

"Although they had sold only a small share of the total major arms flow by 1965, Italy, Canada, Japan and Germany can supply a certain range of weapons and training in effective competition with the four major suppliers," says the report's authors, Geoffrey Kemp of Britain and Col. John L. Sutton of the United States.

"These nations show every sign of seeking a larger share of the arms market and often appeal to buyer-nations who prefer to stress non-alignment with the major powers."

The institute is a non-governmental international study centre headed by Alastair Buchan, third son of the late Lord

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — A firm Chicago market stimulated a modest price rally in light trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

There were no reports of important export business.

Oilseeds were steady, ignoring linseed oil prices. Light hedging sales indicated smaller country delivery of oilseeds.

Oats and barley were light in domestic trade representing modest feed grain requirements.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 5,000,000 bushels to Russia, 1,530,000 to the United Kingdom, 1,300,000 to Japan, 460,000 to China, 400,000 to India, 330,000 to West Germany and 120,000 to Italy.

CHICAGO — The grain futures market swung in the direction of recorery for most commodities today although soybeans still were steady to easier in early afternoon trading.

Wheat, the best gainer, was ahead more than two cents a bushel in spots but brokers noted that it had been the hardest-hit grain during the recent decline. Corn was ahead about two cents and imparted some strength to oats.

Brokers ascribed the support to short covering which they said indicated a belief among speculators that the active period of liquidation and short selling had about run its course for the prsent. They said a technical recovery, at least, seemed due.

TSE Suspends North American Gas Shares

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of North American Gas Ltd. were suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange today for not providing information regarding the company's affairs.

The exchange said the company did not provide requested information regarding their audited balance sheet of June 30, 1966.

The company also failed to provide either a report on its property in the Piceance Basin gas area in Colorado or a report to shareholders disclosing all material items which had occurred in the company's affairs since new interests acquired control of the company in the spring of 1965.

The exchange said the company entered into further transactions involving the issue of securities without prior notice and approval as required by exchange regulations.

The stock closed at 31 cents Thursday.

MARKET SUMMARIES

VSE Activity Dull

Activity was dull on the Vancouver Stock Exchange this morning as losses outnumbered gains better than two to one.

Continuing the pattern of the past several days, many issues reached new lows and only one reached a new high.

In the mining section Arctic dropped .03 to .62, Brenda was off .15 to $7.20 and Pine Point dipped .50 to $54.50, a new low for the year.

Agassiz reached a new high, climbing .06½ to .36½. Western Mines was off again, dropping .15 to $4.10. Native Mines was up .04 to .69.

In the industrials, Alcan reached a new low, dropping .87 to $7.87. Domtar also hit a new low, declining .62 to $16.37. Northwest Life dropped $1 to $7.50.

Futurity led the oils, climbing .04 to .60.

NEW YORK prices weakened considerably but recovered partially in moderate trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6,000,000 shares compared with 8,920,000 Tuesday.

After a slight gain at the start, the market slipped afound midsession and moved toward its 1966 lows established Monday. Some prices came back but many sharp losers remained.

Uncertainty was produced in Wall Street by conflicting reports about the state of hostilities in Viet Nam. An Ottawa report said U.S. bombing operations in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam had come to a halt, leading hope of a general pause.

Aerospace defence issues, electronics and other stocks weakened.

Down about 4 points were Xerox and American South African Investment. Off about 3 were Pan American Sulphur, Chicago and North Western and Hecla mining. Teledyne preferred dropped 4.

Among Canadian issues, Dome Mines slipped 2⅛, International Nickel 1, Hudson Bay Mining ½, Alcan ¼. Walker Gooderham was up ⅝, Canadian Pacific ¼.

IN TORONTO the market continued to drift lower in mid-afternoon trading despite a strong morning rally.

Inco paced the list lower, falling 1 to 81¼. Alcan gave up ⅝ to 27½ and Massey-Ferguson ⅛ to 21½.

Trans - Canada Pipe Lines, spurred by a government announcement that it would be able to build part of a proposed east-west pipe line through the United States, added ⅝ at 29. The stock reached 30½ before falling off in profit taking.

On Tuesday Trans - Canada jumped 1⅞ before the cabinet decision was announced.

Golds plunged 5.99 on index to 163.63 as Dome Mines dropped 3 to 43.

However, western oils showed good strength, climbing 2.10 on index to 105.01. Dome Petroleum gained 1¾ to 26 and Canadian Superior ⅞ to 23.

IN MONTREAL prices lost ground near 2 p.m. today after a small morning rally. Trading was light.

Massey Ferguson slipped ⅜ to 21⅛ and Noranda Mines ¾ to 47⅛.

Domtar lost ⅛ to 16¼ and MacMillan Bloedel ⅛ to 24¼.

Dominion Textile was off ¼ at 26 and Texaco Canada eased ⅜ to 57¼.

Among the stronger issues, Royal Bank gained 1¼ points to 64¾ and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines was up ½ at 29. Consolidated Paper was higher by ¾ at 34¾ and Bathurst ½ at 23½.

IN LONDON interest in today's market was almost entirely focussed on first dealings in the new ICI loan which made a good start. The stock established a better - than - expected premium which, after some profit-taking, recovered its initial level.

Little interest was seen elsewhere and the major equities showed only narrow and irregular price movements. Gilts were quiet and lost one or two initial improvements.

Dollar stocks were uncertain following Wall Street's cautious improvement. A few Canadian stocks were easier, led by Noranda, which fell two points; but Tran-Canada Pipeline was 3½ points better and Consolidated Mining hardened slightly. Canadian banks lost further ground, with falls usually around one-quarter point.

Home banks were occasionally dull. Insurances were idle. Steel shares eased further.

English Electric eased by a few pence after announcing fresh bid terms for Rustan and Hornsby, unchanged after some narrow fluctuation.

Increased Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Talks between leading Japanese and Canadian ministers opened here today with closer collaboration on trade and investment the keynote topics. External Affairs Minister Martin and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina, in opening speeches at a two-day conference of the Canada-Japan ministerial committee, both spoke of the increasing amount of commodity trade between the two countries and expanded Japanese investment in Canada.

POLICE INVESTIGATING THREE CITY BREAK-INS

City police are investigating three overnight break-ins in the downtown area.

They hadn't made full reports by press time but it is understood the three locations were Mac's 700 Block Parking, 748 Yates, Suzie Q Billiards, 860 Yates, and a cafe.

It is not known how much money, if any, was taken from the businesses.

REPLY TO NEIGHBORS

Full Acceptance Asked by Minow

Vern Minow told a group of Rockland Avenue residents Tuesday night that "every time a drug addict dies, the persons who rejected him are partly responsible for his murder."

Mr. Minow wants to establish a rehabilitation centre for addicts in the Rockland residential area. He met the residents to try and counter their objections to his proposal. About 30 were at the meeting.

Some said his centre would reduce property values in the district. Others questioned if he needed a $52,000 house for his work. They said a less expensive house, with a lower cost of upkeep, would serve him just as well.

Mr. Minow replied, "We could get another place but that is not the point. If it doesn't make any difference where the addicts live, why should it make a difference if they live on Rockland?

"How can you measure property values against human life? Jesus had no money. He too was rejected. They finally crucified Him."

One woman remarked, "I have nothing against drug addicts. I simply feel that Rockland should continue as a residential area, I don't think there should be any institutions on this road."

Under questioning, Mr. Minow agreed that his Halfway House in Vancouver "is not located in Shaughnessey Heights."

Mr. Minow said that since he has seen the house at 1715 Rockland, which he has leased at $350 a month, "I haven't considered any other."

FULL ACCEPTANCE

He emphasized he wanted the full acceptance of his neighbors.

One man asked: "Can you assure us you will not proceed unless you are accepted by the neighbors?"

He replied, "I want full acceptance."

Mr. Minow's proposal is dependent on city council rezoning 1715 Rockland. He said it would be possible to get around the need for rezoning by selling shares at a nominal cost to addicts, thereby entitling them to live in the house as part-owners.

At one point he said he hoped he would not have to resort to such a stratagem and at another he seemed to indicate he would not do so under any circumstances.

NOT PERMITTED

City planner Geoffrey Greenhalgh said today the bylaws would not permit this tactic.

"The bylaw allows occupants of one family only, plus four others. The idea you can proliferate by shared ownership is completely fallacious," he said.

The only person who spoke up for Mr. Minow's plans was George Jones, a lawyer who lives a few houses away from 1715 Rockland.

Mr. Jones told his neighbors: "Face facts. There are some responsibilities in life you've got to accept. This is a matter of conscience.

"I'm willing to give him (Minow) a chance. I know addicts are not going to molest my children. I know they are not going to rob this area. I can't see how their presence here will hurt me physically or financially."

MINOW:

Monthly Grant Promised Addicts' Centre

A former drug addict today contradicted statements made about him Tuesday by a top civil servant, the mayor of Vancouver, and a Vancouver doctor.

The statements were reported in Tuesday's Victoria Times in an article about Vern Minow and his attept to start an addicts' rehabilitation centre in Victoria.

L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, was quoted as saying that Mr. Minow's Vancouver Halfway House does not receive a government grant, contrary to Mr. Minow's claim.

AMAZED

Mr. Minow said today he was amazed at Mr. Wallace's statement. He said he has a letter from Mr. Wallace telling him the government would pay a grant of $1,000 a month to the Vancouver operation, starting Aug. 1 of this year on a trial basis.

Mr. Minow said the government has not yet paid the first month's grant but "will likely deposit the cash" for it some time this week.

Mr. Wallace, who told the Times Tuesday the government is only considering giving the grant, was out of the city this morning and unavailable for comment.

Mr. Minow also contradicted Vancouver's Mayor Rathie who said "it is not a statement of fact," as Mr. Minow claimed, that he endorsed the Halfway House in Vancouver.

SUPPORTED CENTRE

Mr. Minow said that when the Vancouver operation began a year ago, Mayor Rathie publicly cameout in suport of it, and was quoted to this effect in Vancouver newspapers.

Mr. Minow also objected to statements by a doctor who helps at the Vancouver Halfway House. This doctor said Mr. Minow made excessive claims about his success in helping addicts, although agreeing he did help them.

Mr. Minow said that 65 of the 320 addicts who have gone through the Halfway House have stayed off drugs. He said some have been off narcotics for as long as a year.

Maple Bay Burning With Curiosity Over Flaming Beach

By DON DINGWALL

Nat Staples thinks he may have struck natural gas on Maple Bay beach near Duncan.

He was digging a trench for a retaining wall Tuesday when the friction of his shovel ignited an apparent gas seepage.

North Cowichan municipal councillor George Whittaker, a neighbor, today brought a sample of the liquid and sandy soil to University of Victoria for laboratory tests.

Mr. Staples, a real estate salesman, said: "We don't think we're sitting on a fortune but will certainly check to see who owns the mineral and oil rights on our property."

•

One of the major oil companies has shown an interest in exploring the Maple Bay area in recent months.

A Maple Bay resident wishing to remain anonymous has been trying to buy up the necessary 1,000 acres of oil rights to interest one of the large oil companies.

After the first flame burned out, Mr. Staples put a match to another spot and a blue flame ran along the beach in front of his home.

Mr. Staples, who could smell gas while digging, said: "In a pint of liquid there was an eighth of an inch of oil.

"I think it's a seepage from Quamichan Lake area where it is reckoned there is gas."

•

A disused well at the back of the Staples' property blew up some time ago, Little thought was given to it then.

Mr. Staples said his property was surveyed and registered before 1900 so it must be "awfully close" to escaping the outright grant of mineral and oil rights to the CPR.

"Everyone is joking with us about selling them shares but it's the district we're thinking of in the event of there being a real source of gas.

"This will bring the area prospecting to a head and Maple Bay could be the spot."

Coun. Whittaker said: "There's quite a store of it near the Staples' property as it has been burning for a while.

"It is quite volatile, catching fire readily but I'm not going to make guesses."

Truck Fire Threat At Gas Station

Cecil Holt pressed the starter of his panel truck today — and brought five fire trucks rushing through downtown Victoria.

The moment he started up, flames leaped from the engine of his vehicle, threatening gas pumps only two feet away.

PUMPS SEARED

Heat from the blazing engine seared paintwork on the nearby gas pumps.

But firemen, who arrived within two minutes, doused the flames before they had a chance to take hold.

A California car, parked on the other side of the pumps, suffered slight scorching.

Said Mr. Holt, a self-employed painter, of 2301 Amhurst Avenue, Sidney: "I'd just filled the truck up with gas.

"I started her up and straight away the engine burst into flames. There was nothing I could do.

"My biggest worry was that the flames might spread to the gas pumps."

The heat punctured one of the front tires and badly burned the hood.

Municipalities Given Refunds By Drama Festival

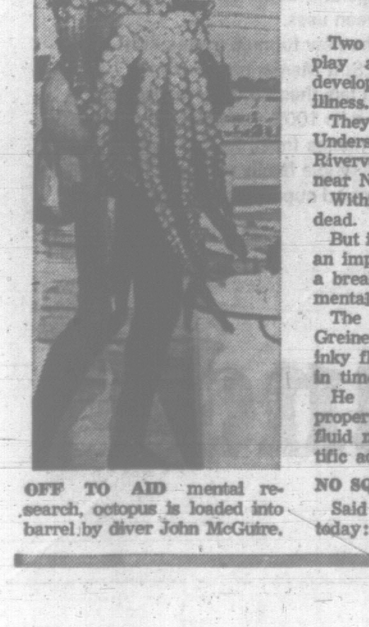
Victoria has received a $978 refund from the organizers of the Dominion Drama Festival held here last spring.

The city had donated $1,610 to the festival as its share of a $4,000 grant based on the intermunicipal formula.

Saanich and Oak Bay, other participants in the grant, have also received refunds with Saanich receiving $842.

Festival organizers said the week-long presentation had greater ticket sales than anticipated and that with considerable voluntary donations its expenses were well below budget figures.

The refunds, as the original grants, were based on percentage figures.



OFF TO AID mental research, octopus is loaded into barrel by diver John McGuire.

THEY'LL DIE FOR SCIENCE

Two Victoria octopuses may play an important role in developing a cure for mental illness.

They left their pen at Undersea Gardens today for Riverview mental hospital near New Westminister.

Within a few days they'll be dead.

But in dying they could play an important part in devising a breakthrough in the field of mental disorder.

The hospital's Dr. Tony Greiner is interested in the inky fluid the octopuses eject in times of trouble.

He believes some of the properties contained in the fluid might be used to scientific advantages.

NO SQUIDS

Said a hospital spokesman today: "At first we hoped to use a squid in this experiment. But no squids could be found.

"The Undersea Gardens was the only place we could find with live octopuses and they agreed to send us a couple of specimens."

All being well, the octopuses, one of 70 pounds, the other a 20-pounder, will still be alive when they arrive.

To keep them quiet during the truck journey to the mainland, they were packed in ice-cold water in plastic barrels.

Said an Undersea Gardens spokesman: "Neither was expected to live much more than a week. Herbie (the Gardens pet seal) took a bite out of one.

"And the other was too small."

City to Call 'Whoa' On Peninsula Sewer

Sharing of Costs Causing Concern

Victoria has no alternative but to ask the Regional District to go slowly on the implementation of a new trunk sewer system for the Saanich Peninsula.

City manager Dennis Young told a special sewerage study committee this morning the major problem facing area municipalities is an equitable cost-sharing formula.

"This being the case, it seems logical that a hasty decision should not be pressed for," he said.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich has on several occasions called for speedy acceptance of the intermunicipal sewerage study survey.

But before Victoria can go along with a speedy decision, said Mr. Young, "it will be necessary for the details of cost-sharing to be outlined precisely and, because of the magnitude of the undertaking and its effect upon property taxation, the component municipalities will undoubtedly resort to public referendum."

SERVE LONG TIME

Victoria's main concern over the cost-sharing formula lies in the fact that for $3,196,000 it could bring its present sewerage system up to standards to serve the community for years.

If it decided to go along with a regional district cost-sharing formula it would cost city taxpayers $8,888,400 — the lion's share of the total estimated cost of $23 million.

Other problems face Victoria representatives on the regional district board.

Even if they persaude Oak Bay and Esquimalt to go along with city thinking that great caution should be taken before committing taxpayers, they can still be out-voted.

"Recognizing the magnitude of this problem, do I understand that even if Victoria says no to speedy implementation we can be out-voted?" asked Ald Michael Griffin.

"That is correct," answered Mayor A. W. Toone.

60 DAYS

"And then we would have 60 days in which to hold a referendum of our people asking that we opt out of the scheme?" queried Ald. Griffin.

"You would have 60 days from the time the provincial government approved a regional motion calling for the establishment of a regional sewerage board to construct and maintain sewers," said city solicitor T. P. O'Grady.

NO ACTION

Mr. Young said the city must attend the next regional district meeting (next Wednesday) with a plea that the board take no action until every detail of financing is spelled out clearly.

"We should bear in mind that any hasty decision will have to be lived with for the next 50 years," he said. "City representatives should attend next week's meeting without any hasty decision in mind until the letters patent of the district spell out every detail carefully."

Under the construction of the regional district a simple majority vote carries the day.

In addition to calling for caution in approaching a vital but delicate issue, Mr. Young noted that "analysis of alternative methods of implementation (of the sewerage study) may well reveal that the regional district is not the appropriate vehicle for the effective implementation of the many recommendations contained in the study."

City treasurer James Bramley pointed out that to bring city sewers up to top standards—plus giving a boost to the Esquimalt sewerage system—would cost city taxpayers $2,898,000 between now and 1975 and a total of $36,196,000 for the total program.

If Victoria went along with the existing regional cost-sharing formula it would be contributing close to $2 million more than neighboring Saanich, one of the areas to profit most from the proposed new sewerage system.

A complete breakdown of the $23 million under the regional district formula, follows:

Central Saanich, $540,800; Colwood, Langford, Metchosin, $893,500; Esquimalt, $1,246,200; North Saanich, $658,400; Oak Bay, $3,244,900; Saanich, $6,983,700; Sidney, $517,300; Victoria, $8,888,400, and View Royal, $540,800.

City engineer James Garnett noted that the figures used in the survey were based on 1966 construction costs.

"By 1971 they will undoubtedly be much higher, possibly double," he said.

The hour of decision for the regional district comes next Wednesday afternoon when it meets in Saanich Municipal Hall to vote on a Saanich motion: "That the minister of municipal affairs be asked to add to the letters patent authorization for the regional district board to establish as a function the construction and maintenance of trunk sewers as required throughout the area . . . and to assess costs against those areas served by the trunk sewers."

If the motion is approved Victoria has indicated that it will, within 60 days, go to the people of the city asking that the city opt out until the cost-sharing formula is spelled out in detail.

Wrangling Can Kill Sewer Plan

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said Tuesday the massive sewerage report for Greater Victoria "is in some danger of lying on the shelf gathering dust."

At the same time, the proposals put forward "become more urgently needed and incidentally more expensive to implement," he told Victoria Kiwanis club at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

The only logical means of implementing the program is on a regional basis, he said.

"But this is not to suggest for a moment, and I must emphasize this point, that any one municipality should feel that another is likely to shirk its responsibility in the provision of sewers which basically serve that one municipality," he said.

DISMISS FEARS

"I think perhaps that there is this fear in certain quarters and I can only attempt again today to dismiss that fear as being unfounded.

"Saanich, as an example, has major sewer construction which we must undertake in the very near future.

The problem faced today, and in the past, is disposal of sewage.

If the disposal line crosses one municipal boundary and continues to collect local sewage, "then it seems only reasonable that another municipality or municipalities in addition to Saanich should share in the cost of that final disposal route to the sea."

COST SHARING

The reeve said the regional district board, of which he is chairman, may begin to cope with cost-sharing arrangements at its next meeting.

He repeated earlier comments that it would be "little short of irresponsible if we were to engage in endless and detailed petty wrangling over every last percentage of cost."

Reeve Curtis also reviewed the history of the regional district board — especially purchase of regional park land — and praised the mini-metro concept.

VANDALS AGAIN HIT CEMETERY

Five more tombstones at Ross Bay Cemetery have been toppled and one of them shattered.

Caretaker Ralph Ricketts, reporting the damage to city police Tuesday, added that a small tree near the cemetery's May Street entrance had also been uprooted.

Police patrols began giving the cemetery special attention in August after 39 headstonnes were toppled, smashed or chipped by vandals.

No estimate of damage was made then but some of the damaged grave markers were reported to have cost thousands of dollars and were described as "irreplaceable."

The 27½-acre cemetery was started in 1872. Lying between Dallas Road and Fairfield, all plots have been sold though some are still not filled. There are about three burials a month.

MBE WINNER DIES

Padre Had a Way With Sailing Men

One of Victoria's best-known navy padres, Rev. George Lea Gillard, MBE, died Tuesday in King's Daughter's Hospital at Duncan.

He was 65.

Until his retirement in 1957, Padre Gillard was Command Chaplain to the Royal Canadian Navy at Esquimalt. He served aboard the Canadian supply ship Prince David during the Second World War and landed with the Navy at Normandy on D-Day, 1944.

He was awarded the MBE for "faithful service ashore and at sea, upholding the high traditions of the church and the chaplain service."

"WONDERFUL WAY"

"He had a wonderful way with sailors," an RCN spokesman said today. "They treated him more as a friend than an officer and the friendships he made continued until his death."

After retirement Padre Gillard ministered to the United churches at Mill Bay and Shawnigan Lake where he lived. He was also an associate minister of Metropolitan United Church in Victoria.

Born at Newfoundland, Padre Gillard served with the RCN at Halifax, N.S., and in the Labrador mission field before coming to the Pacific Coast. He was for several years active in the United Church West Coast Mission.

He was a member and former commodore of the Royal Canadian Navy Sailing Association; a member of the Philae Temple Shrine, Halifax; a past-president of the Malahat district branch, Royal Canadian Legion; a member of the United Services Lodge, AF and AM, and chaplain to Victoria Shrine Club.

Padre Gillard is survived by the widow, Grace; a son, Charles, and a daughter, Marie, at Shawnigan Lake; a daughter, Elthea, in Vienna and a son, Howard, with the RCMP, Ottawa; three brothers, Baxter, Pleman and Robert at Englee, Newfoundland; four sisters, Mrs. Paul Lilley at Lewisporte, Newfoundland; Mrs. C. Simms at St. Catharines, Ont.; Mrs. A. Layton at Powel River, B.C., and Mrs. J. Luther, Toronto.

FUNERAL FRIDAY

Rev. Albert E. King, Rev. E. Laura Butler and Rev. U. Laite will conduct funeral services in Metropolitan United Church Friday at 3 p.m. Clergymen and chaplains of the Royal Canadian Navy will act as pallbearers.

Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park, with McCall Brothers in charge of arrangements.

Fawn Shooting Man Fined $35

A man who said he "accidently" shot a fawn Sept. 10 was fined $35 today when he appeared in central court.

"It could scarcely have been accidental," said Magistrate William Ostler after John Kelly, 213 Ganges Crescent, pleaded guilty to possessing game out of season.

Kelly told the court he took the deer in the Sooke area.

Ask The Times

Q. By the recent census, what are the three largest cities in Canada and how do they compare? H.M.

A. Metropolitan Montreal is still the largest city in Canada with 2,418,984 population and Toronto trails with 2,145,687. Vancouver is well behind in third place with 884,095. Figures for city proper areas are proportionately lower.

Q. I am a 61-year-old widow. Can I hope for any benefits under the Canada Pension Plan? B.M.N.

A. Survivor benefits do not begin until February, 1968, as the contributor must have paid into the plan over a minimum of three years. The plan began only last January.

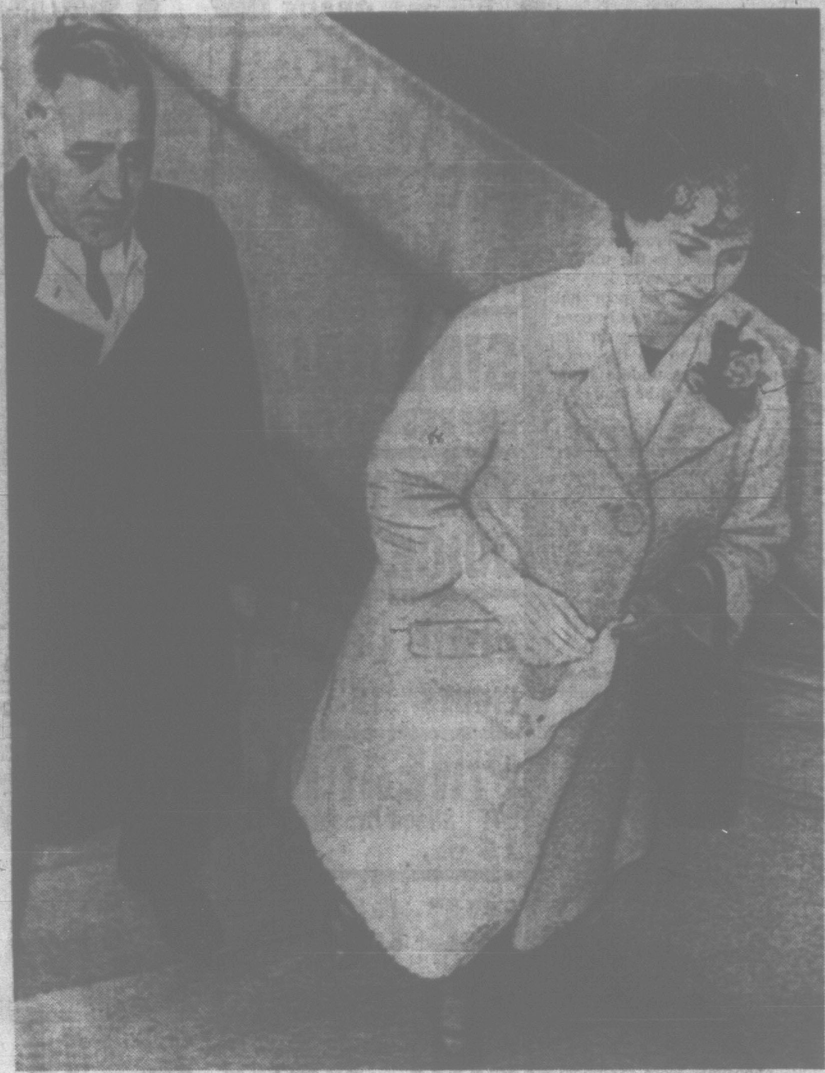
Taxes Going Up Before Year End



PARENTS of Steven Truscott, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Truscott, arrive for today's Supreme Court review in Ottawa of 1959 trial which sent their son, then 14, to life in prison for rape-murder of 12-year-old girl in Clinton, Ont. (CP Wirephoto).

DEMONSTRATION BY ANALYST

Blouse 'Strangling' Opens Truscott Case

OTTAWA (UPI)— A demonstration of how 12-year-old Lynne Harper could have been strangled with her own blouse and photographs of a shoemark near her body highlighted the first session today of a hearing into the seven-year-old Truscott case.

The nine Supreme Court of Canada judges watched as Elgin Brown, an analyst with the Ontario crime laboratory in Toronto, ripped a checkered pink and white sleeveless blouse worn by a pretty assistant and wrapped it around her neck.

The dramatic demonstration answered one question raised in the book "The Trial of Steven Truscott" — which sparked the Supreme Court hearing of the trial that found Truscott guilty of rape and murder in 1959.

Authoress Mrs. Isabel LeBourdais wrote that it was impossible for Lynne to have been strangled wih her own blouse. She bought and experimented with several blouses to see if the murder near Clinton, Ont., could have been accomplished that way.

Mrs. LeBourdais also wondered why a piece of the girl's blouse was missing and suggested that the sex killer had taken a piece of the girl's clothing as a memento.

Brown's demonstration appeared to show that the missing piece of blouse probably was lost after it had been cut away from her neck by examining authorities.

The photographs, presented by Det. Sgt. Dennis Alsop, showed that the impression of a shoe near the body was similar to a test impression made with the shoes Truscott was wearing on the day when Lynne was last seen.

Earlier, Dr. Noble Sharpe, medical director of the Ontario crime lab, said he estimated that Lynne Harper had died about an hour after eating a meal.

But he later admitted, under cross-examination by Truscott's lawyers, that no one could judge with any accuracy the time of death by the stage of digestion.

Mrs. LeBourdais, covering the Supreme Court review for the CTV television network shook her head a couple of times as the expert witnesses gave testimony.

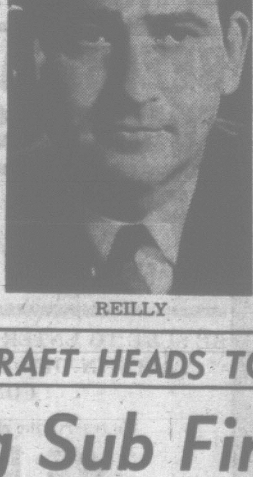
Truscott's parents, the only people who had reserved seats in the chamber, watched the proceedings impassively.

Defence lawyer G. Arthur Martin told the court he did not want Truscott in the court when the witnesses are heard. Truscott would be in the court only when he gave evidence.

James Byrne, Liberal member of Parliament for Kootenay East, was present in the public seats. He told the Commons earlier that he would be willing to stake his Commons seat on Truscott's innocence.

CTV NEWSMAN QUITS OVER TRIAL COVERAGE

TORONTO (CP) — Peter Reilly, executive producer of news and public affairs for the CTV television network for 13 weeks, resigned Tuesday. He said the resignation resulted from a clash with John Bassett who is a director of CTV, president of CFTO-TV and publisher of Toronto Telegram, and is "irrevocable."



REILLY

CTV arranged for exclusive rights to reporting by author Isobel LeBourdais from the Supreme Court of Canada rehearing of the Steven Truscott murder case.

A dispute arose, Mr. Reilly said, when he refused Mr. Bassett's request that her reporting be shared with The Telegram.

UNIDENTIFIED CRAFT HEADS TO SEA

Prowling Sub Fired on by Sweden

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Swedish marine helicopters today attacked a submerged unidentified foreign submarine which had violated Sweden's territorial waters, the Swedish marine command here reported.

The helicopters fired on and dropped a depth charge but the submarine refused to surface and headed out to sea, the command said.

The helicopters first fired explosive charges into the water to get the submarine to come to the surface. When that failed, they dropped a depth charge. But the submarine remained underwater although it changed course and headed out to the open sea, the command said.

The command said the helicopters did not fire directly at the submarine for fear it might be sunk. A depth charge was dropped about 500 yards away as a warning.

The submarine did not surface nor did it identify itself. It changed course and headed toward the open sea. A few hours later, the command received a new alarm of an unidentified submarine operating in the area around the Poelsans lighthouse near Vinga Island.

The submarine refused to identify itself and proceeded to leave Swedish territorial waters. It was not known if this was the same submarine or a second one.

It was the second such incident this week. On Sunday a foreign submarine was detected and was fired on after it refused to surface or identify itself. The submarine showed up while Swedish marine foreces were holding one of their biggest manoeuvres in years.

Goteborg is on the southwest coast near the conjunction of the Kattegat and Skagerrak which link the Baltic Sea and North Sea. Soviet vessels must pass through the Kattegat and Skagerrak to get to the Atlantic Ocean from Leningrad.

UNIONS STILL UNHAPPY

Wilson Wins Party Support On Pay Freeze

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—The Labor government today won backing for its wages-and-prices freeze at the annual Labor party conference here, despite slashing Labor union attacks on legal measures to make the freeze compulsory.

The freeze policy was endorsed by 3,836,000 votes to 1,515,000—a majority of 1,321,000.

But the party leadership was defeated by 152,000 votes on an emergency resolution, backed by Frank Cousins, leader of Britain's biggest union, expressing grave concern at the sharp growth of unemployment in Britain and urging work-sharing as an alternative to dismissal.

The vote on this resolution was 3,289,000 in favor and 3,137,000 against.

Immediately this result was announced, scores of delegates crowded around Cousins to congratulate him on his victory—won against the plan recommended by Labor Minister Ray Gunter.

MOTION LOST

Another resolution, backed by Clive Jenkins, left-wing trade union leader, and urging outright opposition to the wages and prices policy, was defeated by 4,283,000 votes to 2,085,000.

Earlier, cousins told the party conference that unionists would continue to oppose the government's pay freeze despite a cabinet decision to enforce it by law.

Cousins, former technology minister who quit the government earlier this year over plans for the pay standstill, said:

"We shall now be in conflict with the law, because if the law is unfair, trades unionists since time immemorial have opposed the law."

Although the government claimed that the wage freeze will be only temporary, there are indications it will be the first step toward destruction of the unions' traditional right to collective bargaining, Cousins declared

Chief of the 1,500,000-member Transport and General Workers Union, Cousins led the attack on Prime Minister Wilson's economic policy at the annual Labor conference in its third day at this seaside city.

Cousins said that in any case the pay-prices legislation may be unenforceable. Wilson and his cabinet decided at a meeting here Tuesday night to make mandatory the freeze which hitherto has been operated only on a voluntary basis.

U.S. Curbs Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has halted bombing in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between north and south Viet Nam, the White House said today.

The reason for the suspension is to allow the International Control Commission to investigate alleged violations of 1954 Geneva agreement, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said.

The United States halted the bombing six or seven days ago, it was reported.

The Communists have refused to permit the ICC patrols to enter portions of the demilitarized zone on grounds that U.S. air activity was going on there. The U.S. suspension was designed to remove this excuse.

Moyers revealed the suspension of bombing in response to a question.

He read from a statement: "No bombing is taking place in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone in an effort to permit the ICC to investigate alleged violations of the 1954 Geneva Treaty as it relates to the demilitarized zone."

Moyers refused to go beyond the brief statement.

He declined to describe the bombing halt as a move toward de-escalation of the war or to speculate further on whether it might be followed by further moves to demonstrate a U.S. desire to scale down the war tempo.

Record Crop

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today raised its 1966 wheat crop estimate to an unprecedented 840,449,000 bushels and said most of it already is in the bin.

The revised estimate by the federal agency is more than 40,000,000 bushels higher than its first forecast issued Sept. 2.

Cyclist, 72, Injured

A 72-year-old cyclist was rushed to hospital with undetermined injuries this afternoon from one of two traffic accidents which occurred in downtown Victoria within minutes of each other.

The cyclist, whose name was withheld, was in collision with a car at Douglas and Pandora.

In the second accident, which took place at Broad and Pandora, an Evans Coleman and Evans cement mixer truck overturned, and the driver also was taken to hospital, but the extent of injuries was not known.

JACK RUBY
. . . two to five?

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR RUBY

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)— The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed the conviction of Jack Ruby on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, and ordered a new trial.

The court said Ruby should have been granted a change of venue in his March, 1964 trial for killing the assassin of President Kennedy. And it said that the Dallas night club owner's oral admission to police that the killing was premeditated should not have been used as evidence.

Defence attorneys indicated they would try to get Ruby off on a conviction of murder without malice, which carries a penalty of two to five years. Ruby has already spent nearly three years behind bars.

PM Outlines House Goals

OTTAWA (CP) — Amendments to the Nation Housing Act will be introduced shortly in the Commons Prime Minister Pearson announced today.

There has been speculation that the legislature wi implement a long-standing Liberal promise to exten government mortgages to existing homes.

Mr. Pearson declined to give details of the amendments at a press conference, but said they will have high priority at the fall sittings of the Commons.

Mr. Pearson also said a baby budget containing an undetermined tax increase will be brought down by Finance Minister Sharp late this month or early next month.

Mr. Sharp has said the tax increase will at least cover the cost of a $225,000,000 minimum income program for persons over 75 who have no independent income.

A government informant said the housing amendments will authorize the federal government to make loans for student residences and medicals schools, technical schools and other educational institutions that do not qualify now.

The prime minister also confirmed that a major federal-provincial conference on tax-sharing and federal aid to education will open in Ottawa Oct. 24 and last three days or more. Provincial premiers and finance ministers would attend the talks, meeting separately.

DISCUSSES MANY TOPICS

The prime minister covered a wide variety of topics in his 20-minute press conference.

His comments included the following:

1. The revision of the Bank Act, providing for a floating interest rate, and medical insurance will be the first two items to be debated in the House.

2. Other priority items will be the housing amendments, unification of the three armed forces, collective bargaining for the public service and a committee inquiry into the conduct of Mr. Justice Leo Landrevi of the Ontario Supreme Court

3. Government policy rega ing the Nova Scotia coal mi ing industry will be announc this week or next. Liber promised in the 1965 election invest $25,000,000 to develop t industry.

4. A royal commission on tional security, promised Mr. Pearson at the height the Gerda Munsinger furor March, will be appoin shortly and will investigate t field for at least one year.

5. The report of the advis committee on election expen will be submitted to State S retary Judy LaMarsh Thu day.

The Montepetit royal co mission on working conditio in the post office is expect next week.

Mr. Pearson said only 22 or 23 days remain before th Christmas recess for the di cussion of government bills in the Commons. The rest of th time would be devoted to th 1966 - 1967 spending estimate and supply debates that allo the opposition to move non-co fidence motions.

Liberal MPs held a three-ho caucus Tuesday to thrash a split over Finance Minis Sharp's announced intention delay medicare a year to July 1968

Informants indicated the me ing behind closed doors settl nothing, leaving a strong gro of Liberals discontented with t delaying plan.

BOARD SAYS:

No Blanket Ban On Overtime

The Board of Industrial Relations said today there is not "a blanket ban" on overtime in B.C.

The board, which is responsible among other things for administration of the Hours of Work Act and overtime permits, met in Vancouver Tuesday.

"The board has decided, in view of the premier's statements, to give every application (for overtime) a more thorough checking than was evident in the past," said G. A. Little, board vice-chairman.

"The board is not saying it is not possible to get permits."

Mr. Little said a case of genuine emergency would have to be met, although not if it could be overcome by additional staff.

NO MOVE MADE

The board has not made any move regarding existing overtime permits, which allow employers to work employees more than eight hours in one day and 44 hours in one week.

This was a matter of policy and would await the return shortly by William Sands, board chairman and deputy labor minister, who is out of the province.

One week ago, Premier Bennett called for the elimination of overtime in B.C.

He said then: "I have asked the minister of labor to stop issuing overtime permits and to check closely permits already issued."

However, it is the Board of Industrial Relations and not the labor minister which is responsible for overtime permits.

Pedestrian Killed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pedestrian, believed in his 60s, was killed when hit by a car early today to become the city's 28th traffic fatality this year. Police withheld the man's name.

Powers Talk Disarmament While Pushing Arms Sales

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — The big powers talk of arms control and disarmament while pouring arms into the world's developing regions at an alarming rate, says a report issued Tuesday.

Big-power arms sales are estimated at more than $1,000,000,000 a year, says the report by the Institute for Strategic Studies, and the outlook is bright for expansion.

In early post-war years only Britain and the United States were in a position to grant and sell conventional arms to emerging countries. They were joined in the 1950s by the Soviet Union and France and now a dozen countries, including Canada, are eager to share in the competition.

"Although they had sold only a small share of the total major arms flow by 1965, Italy, Canada, Japan and Germany can supply a certain range of weapons and training in effective competition with the four major suppliers," says the report's authors, Geoffrey Kemp of Britain and Col. John L. Suttor of the United States

"These nations show eve sign of seeking a larger share the arms market and oft appeal to buyer-nations w prefer to stress non-alignm with the major powers."

The institute is a non-gove ment international study cen headed by Alastair Buch third son fof the late L

MARKET SUMMARIES

VSE Activity Dull

Activity was dull on the Vancouver Stock Exchange this morning as losses outnumbered gains better than two to one.

Continuing the pattern of the past several days, many issues reached new lows and only one reached a new high.

In the mining section Arctic dropped .03 to .62, Brenda was off .15 to $7.20 and Pine Point dipped .50 to $54.50, a new low for the year.

Agassiz reached a new high, climbing .06½ to .36½. Western Mines was off again, dropping .15 to $4.10. Native Mines was up .04 to .69.

In the industrials, Alcan reached a new low, dropping .87 to $7.87. Domtar also hit a new low, declining .62 to $16.37. Northwest Life dropped $1 to $7.50.

Futurity led the oils, climbing .04 to .60.

NEW YORK prices weakened considerably but recovered partially in moderate trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6,000,000 shares compared with 8,920,000 Tuesday.

After a slight gain at the start, the market slipped around midsession and moved toward its 1966 lows established Monday. Some prices came back but many sharp losers remained.

Uncertainty was produced in Wall Street by conflicting reports about the state of hostilities in Viet Nam. An Ottawa report said U.S. bombing operations in the eastern sector of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam had come to a halt, leading hope of a general pause.

Aerospace defence issues, electronics and other stocks weakened.

Down about 4 points were Xerox and American South African Investment. Off about 3 were Pan American Sulphur, Chicago and North Western and Hecla mining. Teledyne preferred dropped 4.

Among Canadian issues, Dome Mines slipped 2⅛, International Nickel 1, Hudson Bay Mining ½, Alcan ¼. Walker Gooderham was up ⅜, Canadian Pacific ¼.

IN TORONTO the market continued to drift lower in mid-afternoon trading despite a strong morning rally.

Inco paced the list lower, falling 1 to 81¼. Alcan gave up ⅜ to 27½ and Massey-Ferguson ⅛ to 21⅛.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, spurred by a government announcement that it would be able to build part of a proposed east-west pipe line through the United States, added ⅝ at 29. The stock reached 30½ before falling off in profit taking.

On Tuesday Trans-Canada jumped 1⅞ before the cabinet decision was announced.

Golds plunged 5.99 on index to 163.63 as Dome Mines dropped 3 to 43.

However, western oils showed good strength, climbing 2.10 on index to 105.01. Dome Petroleum gained 1¼ to 26 and Canadian Superior ⅞ to 23.

IN MONTREAL prices lost ground near 2 p.m. today after a small morning rally. Trading was light.

Massey Ferguson slipped ⅝ to 21¼ and Noranda Mines ¾ to 47¼.

Domtar lost ⅛ to 16¼ and MacMillan Bloedel ½ to 24¼.

Dominion Textile was off ¼ at 26 and Texaco Canada eased ⅜ to 57¼.

Among the stronger issues, Royal Bank gained 1¼ points to 64¾ and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines was up ½ at 29. Consolidated Paper was higher by ¾ at 34¾ and Bathurst ½ at 23½.

IN LONDON interest in today's market was almost entirely focussed on first dealings in the new ICI loan which made a good start. The stock established a better-than-expected premium which, after some profit-taking, recovered its initial level.

Little interest was seen elsewhere and the major equities showed only narrow and irregular price movements. Gilts were quiet and lost one or two initial improvements.

Dollar stocks were uncertain following Wall Street's cautious improvement. A few Canadian stocks were easier, led by Noranda, which fell two points; but Tran-Canada Pipeline was 3½ points better and Consolidated Mining hardened slightly. Canadian banks lost further ground, with falls usually around one-quarter point.

Home banks were occasionally dull. Insurances were idle. Steel shares eased further.

English Electric eased by a few pence after announcing fresh bid terms for Rustan and Hornsby, unchanged after some narrow fluctuation.

Increased Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Talks between leading Japanese and Canadian ministers opened here today with closer collaboration on trade and investment the keynote topics. External Affairs Minister Martin and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina, in opening speeches at a two-day conference of the Canada-Japan ministerial committee, both spoke of the increasing amount of commodity trade between the two countries and expanded Japanese investment in Canada.

TSE Suspends North American Gas Shares

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of North American Gas Ltd. were suspended by the Toronto Stock Exchange today for not providing information regarding the company's affairs.

The exchange said the company did not provide requested information regarding their audited balance sheet of June 30, 1966.

The company also failed to provide either a report on its property in the Piceance Basin gas area in Colorado or a report to shareholders disclosing all material items which had occurred in the company's affairs since new interests acquired control of the company in the spring of 1965.

The exchange said the company entered into further transactions involving the issue of securities without prior notice and approval as required by exchange regulations.

The stock closed at 31 cents Thursday.
